Ouachita Valley Fair Opens Tomorrow Night

By Bert Hatten

Ouachita Valley agriculture goes on display tomorrow night with the opening of the Ouachita Valley Fair. Fair officials confidently predict this year's fair to be the "biggest in history."

If pre-opening activities are any indication they are probably right. The fair ground was a beehive of activity yesterday as exhibitors started pouring in with entries they hope will reflect blue ribbons in the eyes of the judges. The rush will intensify today.

Displays were taking shape fast last night in the main fair building where scores of farm and home exhibits were nearly complete. Activity in the commercial exhibits building was expected to hit a peak today.

The main exhibit building, which houses a large majority of the farm and home entries, will not be open Monday night. However, all other exhibits will be open to the public Monday night.

The world famed Ricardo sway pole act, one of the featured amusement attractions at the fair this year, will begin Monday night at 9:30 and be on every night through Saturday night. The Ricardos, a man and wife team, will tease spectators from a 125-foot double sway pole in an act that is claimed only by the Ricardos.

The double sway pole act, as done by the Ricardos, is unequalled for its daring. No other sway pole stump artists have dared perform at that altitude without the insurance of nets. There will be no charge for this act.

Meanwhile, entries for the livestock show started arriving yesterday morning and John Birdsong, manager of the fair, said he expected an overflow of cattle to be at the barns by Monday. Birdsong said he was certain that more cattle would be entered this year than ever before.

Birdsong said there might be

'NO HUNTING' AFTER TODAY

District Attorney Will Enforce Latest Ruling

District Attorney Fred Fudickar reported yesterday that squirrel hunters will not be charged with hunting out of season until Monday.

This ruling was made because of the confusion created by the disagreement between the attorney general's office and wildlife Commissioner Ernest Clements, he said.

Many hunters had camped in the woods over the week end and had no means of knowing that Oct. 20 had been designated as opening day of the season, he added.

Beginning Monday, squirrel hunters will be charged with hunting out of season and fined accordingly, he said.

Because of the dry condition of the woodland, fire hazard was too great to allow the season to open then, the attorney general's office recently decided.

Clements explained in an A. P. dispatch that he made the changes because "in my opinion, a squirrel season opening as late as Oct. 20 prohibits the true sportsman, who observes all laws, from hunting before that date, but game violators will have a field day and kill many squirrels before the season opens."

Raging Forest Fires Cause Woman's Death

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 4 (AP)—Louisiana forest fires, now raging through both the pine lands and the Delta hardwood areas, claimed their first fatality today.

State forester James Mixon said the district forester at Alexandria reported an 82-year-old woman, Mrs. Catherine Janalisk of Pineville, was burned to death when a forest fire swept through her home and farm buildings.

He said today's report from forest commission observation towers throughout the state showed 198 fires burning, 115 of them in the pine areas.

Thirty-three pine fires were under control, but they have scorched nearly 3,000 acres of land, valued at $10 an acre, the forester said.

The report from the Delta hardwood section in North Louisiana was:

Tensas Parish: Four new fires. Two break-overs, or fires that have been previously controlled but have started up again. One has been on and off several times.

Madison: Four new ones, one break over.

Franklin: Two new and two old fires, or fires reported previously but not under control.

East Carroll: 25 fires.

West Carroll: 20 fires.

"The wind has died down somewhat," Mixon said, "today's fires have not damaged as many acres as yesterday's. Beauregard was the worst hit in the pine sections. Thirteen fires have burned through 1,300 acres.

"The forecast is for winds up to 25 miles an hour tomorrow . . . that's bad. I wish it would stay this way."

HARPER WARNS OF WARRANTS

Says Those Not Responding to Summons To Be Picked Up

City Judge W. M. Harper Saturday morning issued a warning to persons who have been failing to observe traffic summons and stated that future summons will be enforced with warrants issued by the court.

When it becomes necessary to issue the warrants, Judge Harper said, an additional $10 costs - of-court will be assessed. The traffic violations which are being disregarded are overparking, speeding and running red lights.

"There is a growing tendency on the part of many people to ignore these summons, which cause an extremely heavy burden on both the police department and the court. The court will commence at once to assess a $10 cost of court sentence to each and every case where it is necessary to issue an arrest warrant in order to cause the person to answer a traffic summons.

"It is with considerable displeasure that this action is to be undertaken, but the growing tendency on the part of many to ignore the summons makes it mandatory," Judge Harper said.

U. S. Protests Red Ouster Of Kennan

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 (AP)—The State Department today drafted a sharp protest to Moscow against the ouster of Ambassador George F. Kennan.

Authorities said it remains undecided whether to hit back by expelling newly-arrived Soviet Ambassador Georgi N. Zarubin. Indications were this might be left up to the new president taking office in January, along with the whole difficult question of trying to maintain relations with the Kremlin.

Included in this problem is the selection of a successor to Kennan, or a decision merely to leave the post vacant indefinitely without breaking off diplomatic relations entirely. For the time - being at least, Secretary of State Acheson has forecast there will be no replacement.

Officials meantime looked for the Communists to use the episode to make propaganda behind the Iron Curtain, playing up the Kremlin's sudden action as a slap in the face of an impotent America by an increasingly powerful Russia. The recall demand was served out he ove of the important All-Union Communist Congress in Moscow, and while an Asian "peace" conference was in progress in Peiping, China.

Jes' Ramblin'

It's "Newspaper Week," and here as everywhere in cities and towns in the nation, people pause to pay respects to the Fourth Estate.

The West Monroe Kiwanis Club heard "Lady" Stahl, a fearless and devoted disciple of this activity for it is her lifework, express alarm in the growing tendency to shut off news from the press from official channels, and she commended editors for their continued efforts to overcome these tendencies that are little short of Communism.

H. B. Murdock, for many years circulation manager of the News-Star and Morning World, at the West Monroe Lions Club, presented Billy Miller, who was named outstanding carrier - salesman of the year.

It is a fine thing to pause at least one week in the year to consider the invaluable contribution that the press makes to American

We Endorse General Eisenhower

The Monroe Morning World and The News-Star endorse General Dwight D. Eisenhower for president. We believe that Louisiana Democrats should vote for the Eisenhower ticket for their own individual welfare, for the welfare of their state, and for preservation of the United States as a free Republic.

Only through election of the Eisenhower ticket can there be a complete cleanup in Washington.

Only through a complete cleanup can there be an end to the war-breeding foreign policies, the socialistic domestic policies, and the graft and corruption that now saturate government under Washington Dealism.

Talk of party loyalty and Southern traditions offers no logic as argument for voting the national Democratic ticket in Louisiana in 1952. The basic philosophies of the National Democratic party and its Truman-Stevenson control are the opposite of basic philosophies of the Louisiana Democratic party now and for many past decades. The Eisenhower ticket and its platform support beliefs, needs and traditions of the people of this part of the nation where the Stevenson ticket and its Trumanism platform oppose them.

The Monroe World and The News-Star do not form editorial opinions from party labels or ballot emblems. But for those who are concerned with the party loyalty issue we point out that, actually, loyalty to the Louisiana Democratic party this year calls for abandonment of the practice of voting labels and emblems.

At the Chicago national Democratic convention the Louisiana Democratic delegation of 48 of this state's outstanding Democrats did not at any time vote for or endorse the nomination of Governor Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois as president.

The delegation did not at any time vote for or endorse the nomination of Senator John Sparkman as vice-president.

It specifically, in writing, rejected the Trumanism platform, written and put through the convention by Trumanites.

On its return to Louisiana, this Louisiana Democratic delegation reported its Chicago actions to the Democratic State Central Committee, the legal governing body of the Louisiana Democratic party—its 100 members elected by the Democrats of the state's 64 parishes.

The State Central Committee also specifically refused to endorse the Stevenson-Sparkman ticket. It specifically informed Louisiana Democrats that they were under no obligation to vote for that Chicago ticket.

The State Central Committee also specifically rejected the Trumanism platform on which the Stevenson ticket is running.

Following this, seven of the ten Louisiana presidential electors resigned with statements that, as traditional Louisiana Democrats, they could not support the Trumanite ticket of the national party, or the Trumanism platform adopted for it in Chicago.

So every part of the legally constituted leadership of the Louisiana Democratic party specifically has turned away from the Truman-Stevenson national party ticket and platform of 1952, and to all practical purposes has called on the Democrats of this state to follow that same course.

If there is any issue of party loyalty involved, that loyalty is to the constituted authority and leadership of the Louisiana Democratic party and not to the party of Truman, Stevenson, Acheson, and Humphrey, or to the city political machines that enable them to force their political will upon others.

On State's rights, General Eisenhower stands against federal force to compel the people of one section of the country to act as the people of another section may think. Governor Stevenson specifically stands for federal compulsion to make the people of the South do as he thinks—whether it be on FEPC,

178 Firms Qualify For 100 Per Cent Chest Honor Roll

One hundred and seventy-eight firms and organizations of the Twin Cities have qualified for the 100 per cent Honor Roll of the Red Feather campaign up to Saturday night, a statement by David C. Silverstein and C. D. McAdams, drive leaders, revealed.

To qualify for the honor roll each firm or organization must show that it has met the quota set for them by the evaluation committee of the campaign, or where firms and employees make an adequate firms gift, executive gift, and employees pledge a days pay or more.

"The 100 per cent firm and organization Honor Roll is growing daily by leaps and bounds," the two leaders said in a joint statement. "We believe this year will give us the largest honor roll group we have ever had," they said. In accounting for this great increase in honor roll firms, the leaders attributed the fact to the better understanding of the payroll deduction plan as set up by the Chest two years ago, and to a better understanding by employees of what the Red Feather stands for and what values in human relations their dollars buy for the community in which they live.

"There are several firms in our community," Mr. Silverstein stated "which deserve recognition over and beyond the Honor Roll group. These firms have increased their gifts over 115 per cent of last years' gifts, and in a minimum of time, thus saving on campaign costs and work. We are going to present these firms special oscars in gratitude for their fine work," he said.

First of this special award group to complete their assignment was the H. M. James Machine Works, with 121 per cent increase over their quota. H. M. James, upon being congratulated for his firm and employees, said, "It's easy to come in a winner if you only give the drive a little time. The first requirement is to be sold on the Chest and what it stands for in the

SIG HAAS STORE RUINED BY FIRE

Estimated Damage To Stock Set At More Than $45,000

The Sig Haas Men's store was almost completely gutted by a sudden fire about 1:30 Saturday afternoon. The cause of the fire had not been determined but firemen on the scene believed it was caused by faulty wiring in the rear of the store.

There were apparently few flames except at the outset of the fire, when Phil Saragusa, advertising manager of Sig Haas, heard a "crackling noise" and opened the door of the rear office and found it in flames.

The firemen were forced to don masks to battle the smoke which billowed from the front door and from all exits of the roof. Morris Haas declared that he believed the fire damage would amount to more than $45,000 and this only included the stock. Official estimates to the store and its fixtures have not as yet been determined. The water was estimated at a

Wife Held In Death Of U.S. Colonel In Japan

TOKYO, Sunday, Oct. 5 (AP)—Col. Aubrey D. Smith, a handsome, 45-year-old Texan, died Saturday of a knife wound which Gen. Mark Clark's headquarters said was allegedly inflicted by his attractive wife, Dorothy.

Mrs. Smith is the daughter of Gen. Walter Krueger, retired World War II commander of the U. S. Sixth Army in the Pacific campaign.

She was held for observation in the isolation ward of an Army hospital in Tokyo while the Far East Command conducted an official investigation.

Smith, decorated repeatedly for valor in World War II and the Korean War, was chief of the big plans and operations division of the Far East Command's logistics section.

He was considered an officer with brilliant prospects for advancement and his sensational death shocked high Army circles in Tokyo.

The personable, blue-eyed colonel from San Antonio was fatally stabbed about midnight at his home in Washington Heights, a residential area for U. S. officers. He died six hours later at the Tokyo Army Hospital.

The Army clammed up tightly on details, but it was reliably reported that Smith was knifed on the right side while he was in bed.

A maid was at the Smith home at the time. She said she was asleep and knew nothing about it.

A daughter, 14, and son, 16, were at a neighbor's house. Plans were being made today to return them to the United States.

Newsmen were unable to see Mrs. Smith in the isolation ward of the 8167th Station Hospital. Hospital authorities who attended her during the day said she "will not be allowed to have any visitors—either family or friends—for 48 hours."

However, hospital authorities said that while she was upset, her condition was "satisfactory."

The official announcement of Smith's death, released by the public information office at the Far East Command at 4 p.m. Saturday, said "Smith died at Tokyo Army Hospital at 6 o'clock this morning from a knife wound allegedly inflicted by his wife, Mrs. Dorothy Smith, in their Washington Heights quarters at about midnight last night. Mrs. Smith is being held for observation. . . ."

Pressed for details, the PIO office said: "An investigation is being made by military authorities. Any action resulting from the investigation, such as a possible trial, will be conducted by the military. This is provided for in the Articles of War and the administrative agreement (with Japan.)"

The office also said, "It is considered inappropriate to discuss any details of the case until the investigation has been completed."

One officer said the Army was maintaining secrecy "to avoid influencing the investigation."

A veteran of 26 years Army service, Smith came to the Far East Command in August, 1950.

Among other decorations the colonel held the Silver Star for gallantry in action, and an Oak Leaf Cluster in lieu of a second decoration for valor.

POLICE TO SELL STRAY ANIMALS

Approximately 60 horses, mules and jacks were picked up by a state police team on highways in five northeast Louisiana parishes during the past two weeks in a concentrated effort to rid the designated roads of traffic hazards. Most of the animals are still being held by the police in a special lot near West Monroe and will be sold at public auction Wednesday at 2 p. m.

Since the special enforcement team began work in the area two weeks ago approximately ten of the animals have been recovered by owners after paying a $10 impounding fee and one dollar for each day the animals were held.

Capt. Roy Byrd, head of troop F, Monroe, state police, said Saturday that the enforcing of the stock law, which prohibits the roaming at large of all horses, mules and jacks on state and federal roads, will continue. The special team, which consists of a sergeant in the state police and one Negro helper, will visit over the northern part of the state in a regular schedule, or whenever the need arises for the team to visit a certain area. Whenever the animals are picked up, a $10 fee will be charged for the recovery. In addition to this amount, the $1-per-day fee will be charged. This practice, Captain Byrd said, is being observed throughtout the state.

Stock which will be put up for auction Wednesday is from Ouachita, Union, Morehouse, Concordia, and Catahoula Parishes, the captain said.

The auction will be held at a lot outside of West Monroe, which has been prepared for the holding and sale of the animals. Persons desiring to attend the auction, Captain Byrd said, should go out Coleman Avenue to the railroad, where they can take the gravel road and continue until they reach the new warehouse, for Bancroft Paper Company. At approximately 100 feet west of the warehouse, a road turns off to the left. The lot, the captain said, was at the end of the small road.

Funeral Held For Shot O. Grove Girl

OAK GROVE, Oct. 4 (Special). Alice Seymour, 14, was buried this morning after she had been fatally shot accidentally by her 11-year old brother. She died in a local hospital Friday.

She was the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dough Seymour of Oak Grove. Funeral services were under the direction of Catron-Gay Funeral Home of Oak Grove with the Rev. Millard Neathery officiating. Interment was in the Sunflower Cemetery near Bastrop.

She is survived by her parents; two brothers, Earnest of Delhi and Perlie of Oak Grove; five sisters, Mrs. Norwell Bryant, Holly Ridge, Mrs. Harvey Bryant Memphis, Tenn., Mrs. Helen Hampton, Beaumont, Tex., Mrs. Bessie Evans, Delhi and Mrs. Gracie Calvin of Oak Grove.

ONLY 2 KILLED IN FANTASTIC FIGHT IN FOG

Surrounded Tank Crews Escape Communist Trap

EASTERN FRONT, Korea, Oct. 4 (AP)—Twelve hundred savage, burp-gunning North Koreans surrounded three American tanks for 15 hours on a fog-shrouded peak on the Eastern Front.

Two members of the tank crews were killed, but all the others reached safety in one of the most fantastic epidoes of the Korean War.

The strange night battle took place Sept. 21-22, but could be reported only today, now that next-of-kin have been notified and details verified.

Exact location was not given, but a Peiping Red radio account Saturday indicated it was two miles east of Changsong.

The Communists climbed over the tanks, firing burp guns into the muzzles of the tanks' 76-millimeter guns. Grenades and shaped charges were touched off against the tanks' armor.

Surviving tankers said the South Koreans they were supporting were taken by surprise. Those not killed by the charging Reds withdrew down the hill.

The three tanks could not turn on the narrow roads. Commanded by Lt. David Koch of Washington, D. C., the tankers began a one-sided fight. Two tanks were on a ridgeline. The other was a quarter mile away.

Koch related:

"Within 15 minutes, we were surrounded. It was so dark we couldn't see. We (the two tanks on the crest) fired our 30 calibers at each other, trying to knock the North Koreans off. . . . When a Communist flare went off, we could see bodies piled between the two tanks."

The third tank was perched on the edge of an 800-foot drop. Red mortar and artillery fire whammed at it. Sgt. Eugene J. Gregor, River Falls, Wis., the tank commander, could feel the bank giving way. He added:

"We did a lot of praying inside my tank. Occasionally I tried to crack a few jokes to keep the boys going. One of the fellows asked me why my legs were shaking. I told him it was because I was cold."

At dawn, Koch spotted a Red climbing onto a tank commanded by Sgt. Willie N. Estrada, Alamo Gordo, N. M., and manning the

PLANS DROPPED ON LEGISLATIVE SPECIAL SESSION

BATON ROUTE, La., Oct. 4 (AP)—Lack of time was given today as the reason for dropping a movement to demand a special session of the Louisiana Legislature.

Opponents of Gov. Robert Kennon's board amendments have been urging a special session to rescind the Legislature's action in submitting the amendments to popular vote on Nov. 4.

Sen. Sylvan Friedman of Natchez, La., said today after a meeting of a group of lawmakers last night:

"Time ran out on us . . . the military ballots have already been printed and the election would be over by the time any action could be taken."

Gov. Kennon has repeatedly told his press conferences that opponents to his program of placing the highway, institutions welfare and wild life and fisheries departments under constitutional staggered-term boards could not muster enough strength to call a session.

Sparkman To Speak Here October 23

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Sen. John Sparkman, Democratic vice presidential candidate, is scheduled to make three speeches in Louisiana on Oct. 23.

Frank Ellis, Democratic national committeeman, said the Alabama senator would speak here briefly after arriving by plane at 12:30 p. m. on Oct. 23. He was scheduled to make an address at Baton Rouge at 6 p. m. and at Monroe at 8:30 p. m.

Sparkman will remain in ... two overnight and leave on the 24 to fill a ... in Kentucky.

Catahoula-Franklin-Richland Will Unite Forces For Exhibit

WINNSBORO, Oct. 4.—(Special)—The Catahoula - Franklin - Richland Tri - Parish fair will swing open its gates Wednesday morning for a four-day stand here at War Memorial Park. The three - parish exposition will be devoted to the progressive development of agriculture, industry and commerce.

This is the first effort made by the three agriculturally rich areas in staging an event which has been described as "a mirror of progress showing the development and future of Catahoula, Franklin and Richland."

According to M. L. (Pat) Guice, general fair manager, exhibitors will be competing for shares in the $6,000 in premium money to be awarded in the various divisions. Three cinderblock structures, plus tent space, will house the exhibits, while two livestock barns have been built for accomodation of the prize animals.

Bundles and bales of hay, small grain, fruits, nuts and corn of all varieties are ready now. Bolls of cotton, a pound of lint, sweet potatoes, Irish potatoes, pumpkins, sugar cane, all kinds of vegetables, canned fruit, jellies, preserves and baking are included as exhibits. Dresses, sewing, handwork, handicraft, honey, bacon, sausage, lard, soap, syrup, beeswax and seeds are listed in the catalogue. Poultry, ducks, turkeys, eggs and rabbits may be found in the 1952 premium list.

Friday has been designated as "school day" and schools in the three parishes will adjourn for the day, October 10, to permit attendance at the well-planned fair. Saturday has been set aside as "colored day" at the exposition.

An additional popular attraction this year will be the Friday afternoon football battle between the Winnsboro Wildcats and the Jena Giants, both class "A" district conference leaders. Game time has been set at 2 o'clock and will be "homecoming" for Winnsboro high school graduates.

Agriculture, with a look toward industrial development and further diversified farming, will be featured at the exposition by adult and junior exhibitors, civic and commercial displays of firms and establishments.

Livestock, fast becoming a major income aid, will play a major role in the tri-parish event with prize beef and dairy animals, swine, sheep and horses on exhibit for all to see.

All exhibits must be in place by Wednesday at noon and may not be removed before 4 p.m. Saturday, October 11.

Southern Valley Shows will provide a gaily lighted midway and thrilling nightly grandstand performances.

As an added attraction, six garden clubs — two from Winnsboro, two from Wisner and two from Delhi — will stage the first flower show ever held at a fair in Winnsboro. The theme will be: "Mother Nature Visits the Tri-Parish Fair." Mrs. Rupert Scott of Wisner is the general chairman of the flower show.

Home economics clubs, 4-H club booths, F. F. A., veterans and home demonstration clubs will be competing for top awards. Booths of commercial firms, civic and service groups wil ladd further to the attraction.

Wife Held In Death Of U.S. Colonel In Japan

TOKYO, Sunday, Oct. 5 (AP)—Col. Aubrey D. Smith, a handsome, 45-year-old Texan, died Saturday of a knife wound which Gen. Mark Clark's headquarters said was allegedly inflicted by his attractive wife, Dorothy.

Mrs. Smith is the daughter of Gen. Walter Krueger, retired World War II commander of the U. S. Sixth Army in the Pacific campaign.

She was held for observation in the isolation ward of an Army hospital in Tokyo while the Far East Command conducted an official investigation.

Smith, decorated repeatedly for valor in World War II and the Korean War, was chief of the big plans and operations division of the Far East Command's logistics section.

He was considered an officer with brilliant prospects for advancement and his sensational death shocked high Army circles in Tokyo.

The personable, blue-eyed colonel from San Antonio was fatally stabbed about midnight at his home in Washington Heights, a residential area for U. S. officers. He died six hours later at the Tokyo Army Hospital.

The Army clammed up tightly on details, but it was reliably reported that Smith was knifed on the right side while he was in bed.

A maid was at the Smith home at the time. She said she was asleep and knew nothing about it.

A daughter, 14, and son, 16, were at a neighbor's house. Plans were being made today to return them to the United States.

Newsmen were unable to see Mrs. Smith in the isolation ward of the 8167th Station Hospital. Hospital authorities who attended her during the day said she "will not be allowed to have any visitors—either family or friends—for 48 hours."

However, hospital authorities said that while she was upset, her condition was "satisfactory."

The official announcement of Smith's death, released by the public information office at the Far East Command at 4 p.m. Saturday, said "Smith died at Tokyo Army Hospital at 6 o'clock this morning from a knife wound allegedly inflicted by his wife, Mrs. Dorothy Smith, in their Washington Heights quarters at about midnight last night. Mrs. Smith is being held for observation. . . ."

Pressed for details, the PIO office said: "An investigation is being made by military authorities. Any action resulting from the investigation, such as a possible trial, will be conducted by the military. This is provided for in the Articles of War and the administrative agreement (with Japan.)"

The office also said, "It is considered inappropriate to discuss any details of the case until the investigation has been completed."

One officer said the Army was maintaining secrecy "to avoid influencing the investigation."

A veteran of 26 years Army service, Smith came to the Far East Command in August, 1950.

Among other decorations the colonel held the Silver Star for gallantry in action, and an Oak Leaf Cluster in lieu of a second decoration for valor.

POLICE TO SELL STRAY ANIMALS

Approximately 60 horses, mules and jacks were picked up by a state police team on highways in five northeast Louisiana parishes during the past two weeks in a concentrated effort to rid the designated roads of traffic hazards. Most of the animals are still being held by the police in a special lot near West Monroe and will be sold at public auction Wednesday at 2 p. m.

Since the special enforcement team began work in the area two weeks ago approximately ten of the animals have been recovered by owners after paying a $10 impounding fee and one dollar for each day the animals were held.

Capt. Roy Byrd, head of troop F, Monroe, state police, said Saturday that the enforcing of the stock law, which prohibits the roaming at large of all horses, mules and jacks on state and federal roads, will continue. The special team, which consists of a sergeant in the state police and one Negro helper, will visit over the northern part of the state in a regular schedule, or whenever the need arises for the team to visit a certain area. Whenever the animals are picked up, a $10 fee will be charged for the recovery. In addition to this amount, the $1-per-day fee will be charged. This practice, Captain Byrd said, is being observed throughtout the state.

Stock which will be put up for auction Wednesday is from Ouachita, Union, Morehouse, Concordia, and Catahoula Parishes, the captain said.

The auction will be held at a lot outside of West Monroe, which has been prepared for the holding and sale of the animals. Persons desiring to attend the auction, Captain Byrd said, should go out Coleman Avenue to the railroad, where they can take the gravel road and continue until they reach the new warehouse, for Bancroft Paper Company. At approximately 100 feet west of the warehouse, a road turns off to the left. The lot, the captain said, was at the end of the small road.

ONLY 2 KILLED IN FANTASTIC FIGHT IN FOG

Surrounded Tank Crews Escape Communist Trap

EASTERN FRONT, Korea, Oct. 4 (AP)—Twelve hundred savage, burp-gunning North Koreans surrounded three American tanks for 15 hours on a fog-shrouded peak on the Eastern Front.

Two members of the tank crews were killed, but all the others reached safety in one of the most fantastic epidoes of the Korean War.

The strange night battle took place Sept. 21-22, but could be reported only today, now that next-of-kin have been notified and details verified.

Exact location was not given, but a Peiping Red radio account Saturday indicated it was two miles east of Changsong.

The Communists climbed over the tanks, firing burp guns into the muzzles of the tanks' 76-millimeter guns. Grenades and shaped charges were touched off against the tanks' armor.

Surviving tankers said the South Koreans they were supporting were taken by surprise. Those not killed by the charging Reds withdrew down the hill.

The three tanks could not turn on the narrow roads. Commanded by Lt. David Koch of Washington, D. C., the tankers began a one-sided fight. Two tanks were on a ridgeline. The other was a quarter mile away.

Koch related:

"Within 15 minutes, we were surrounded. It was so dark we couldn't see. We (the two tanks on the crest) fired our 30 calibers at each other, trying to knock the North Koreans off. . . . When a Communist flare went off, we could see bodies piled between the two tanks."

The third tank was perched on the edge of an 800-foot drop. Red mortar and artillery fire whammed at it. Sgt. Eugene J. Gregor, River Falls, Wis., the tank commander, could feel the bank giving way. He added:

"We did a lot of praying inside my tank. Occasionally I tried to crack a few jokes to keep the boys going. One of the fellows asked me why my legs were shaking. I told him it was because I was cold."

At dawn, Koch spotted a Red climbing onto a tank commanded by Sgt. Willie N. Estrada, Alamo Gordo, N. M., and manning the

PLANS DROPPED ON LEGISLATIVE SPECIAL SESSION

BATON ROUTE, La., Oct. 4 (AP)—Lack of time was given today as the reason for dropping a movement to demand a special session of the Louisiana Legislature.

Opponents of Gov. Robert Kennon's board amendments have been urging a special session to rescind the Legislature's action in submitting the amendments to popular vote on Nov. 4.

Sen. Sylvan Friedman of Natchez, La., said today after a meeting of a group of lawmakers last night:

"Time ran out on us . . . the military ballots have already been printed and the election would be over by the time any action could be taken."

Gov. Kennon has repeatedly told his press conferences that opponents to his program of placing the highway, institutions welfare and wild life and fisheries departments under constitutional staggered-term boards could not muster enough strength to call a session.

Sparkman To Speak Here October 23

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Sen. John Sparkman, Democratic vice presidential candidate, is scheduled to make three speeches in Louisiana on Oct. 23.

Frank Ellis, Democratic national committeeman, said the Alabama senator would speak here briefly after arriving by plane at 12:30 p. m. on Oct. 23. Sparkman was scheduled to make an address at Baton Rouge at 4 p. m. and at Monroe at 8:30 p. m.

Sparkman will remain in Monroe overnight and leave on Oct. 24 to fill a speaking engagement in Nebraska.

She is survived by her parents; two brothers, Earnest of Delhi and Perlie of Oak Grove; five sisters, Mrs. Norwell Bryant, Holly Ridge, Mrs. Harvey Bryant Memphis, Tenn., Mrs. Helen Hampton, Beaumont, Tex., Mrs. Bessie Evans, Delhi and Mrs. Gracie Calvin of Oak Grove.

Raging Forest Fires Cause Woman's Death

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 4 (AP)—Louisiana forest fires, now raging through both the pine lands and the Delta hardwood areas, claimed their first fatality today.

State forester James Mixon said the district forester at Alexanria reported an 82-year-old woman, Mrs. Catherine Janalisk of Pineville, was burned to death when a forest fire swept through her home and farm buildings.

He said today's report from forest commission observation towers throughout the state showed 193 fires burning, 115 of them in the pine areas.

Thirty-three pine fires were under control, but they have scorched nearly 3,000 acres of land, valued at $10 an acre, the forester said.

The report from the Delta hardwood section in North Louisiana was:

Tensas Parish: Four new fires. Two break-overs, or fires that have been previously controlled but have started up again. One has been on and off several times.

Madison: Four new ones, one break over.

Franklin: Two new and two old fires, or fires reported previously but not under control.

East Carroll: 25 fires.

West Carroll: 20 fires.

"The wind has died down somewhat," Mixon said, "today's fires have not damaged as many acres as yesterday's. Beauregard was the worst hit in the pine sections. Thirteen fires have burned through 1,300 acres.

"The forecast is for winds up to 25 miles an hour tomorrow . . . that's bad. I wish it would stay this way."

Says Those Not Responding to Summons To Be Picked Up

City Judge W. M. Harper Saturday morning issued a warning to persons who have been failing to observe traffic summons and stated that future summons will be enforced with warrants issued by the court.

When it becomes necessary to issue the warrants, Judge Harper said, an additional $10 costs - of court will be assessed. The traffic violations which are being disregarded are overparking, speeding and running red lights.

"There is a growing tendency on the part of many people to ignore these summons, which cause an extremely heavy burden on both the police department and the court. The court will commence at once to assess a $10 cost of court sentence to each and every case where it is necessary to issue an arrest warrant in order to cause the person to answer a traffic summons.

"It is with considerable displeasure that this action is to be undertaken, but the growing tendency on the part of many to ignore the summons makes it mandatory," Judge Harper said.

U. S. Protests Red Ouster Of Kennan

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 (AP)—The State Department today drafted a sharp protest to Moscow against the ouster of Ambassador George F. Kennan.

Authorities said it remains undecided whether to hit back by expelling newly-arrived Soviet Ambassador Georgi N. Zarubin. Indications were this might be left up to the new president taking office in January, along with the whole difficult question of trying to maintain relations with the Kremlin.

Included in this problem is the selection of a successor to Kennan, or a decision merely to leave the post vacant indefinitely without breaking off diplomatic relations entirely. For the time - being at least, Secretary of State Acheson has forecast there will be no replacement.

Officials meantime looked for the Communists to use the episode to make propaganda behind the Iron Curtain, playing up the Kremlin's sudden action as a slap in the face of an impotent America by an increasingly powerful Russia. The recall demand was served ont he eve of the important All-Union Communist Congress in Moscow, and while an Asian "peace" conference was in progress in Peiping, China.

Jes' Ramblin'

It's "Newspaper Week," and here as everywhere in cities and towns in the nation, people pause to pay respects to the Fourth Estate.

The West Monroe Kiwanis Club heard "Lady" Stahl, a fearless and devoted disciple of this activity for it is her lifework, express alarm in the growing tendency to shut off news from the press from official channels, and she commended editors for their continued efforts to overcome these tendencies that are little short of Communism.

H. B. Murdock, for many years circulation manager of the News-Star and Morning World, at the West Monroe Lions Club, presented Billy Miller, who was named outstanding carrier - salesman of the year.

It is a fine thing to pause at least one week in the year to consider the invaluable contribution that the press makes to American

178 Firms Qualify For 100 Per Cent Chest Honor Roll

One hundred and seventy-eight firms and organizations of the Twin Cities have qualified for the 100 per cent Honor Roll of the Red Featner campaign up to Saturday night, a statement by David C. Silverstein and C. D. McAdams, drive leaders, revealed.

To qualify for the honor roll each firm or organization must show that it has met the quota set for them by the evaluation committee of the campaign, or where firms and employees make an adequate firms gift, executive gift, and employees pledge a days pay or more.

"The 100 per cent firm and organization Honor Roll is growing daily by leaps and bounds," the two leaders said in a joint statement. "We believe this year will give us the largest honor roll group we have ever had," they said. In accounting for this great increase in honor roll firms, the leaders attributed the fact to the better understanding of the payroll deduction plan as set up by the Chest two years ago, and to a better understanding by employees of what the Red Feather stands for and what values in human relations their dollars buy for the community in which they live.

"There are several firms in our community," Mr. Silverstein stated "which deserve recognition over and beyond the Honor Roll group. These firms have increased their gifts over 115 per cent of last years' gifts, and in a minimum of time, thus saving on campaign costs and work. We are going to present these firms special oscars in gratitude for their fine work," he said.

First of this special award group to complete their assignment was the H. M. James Machine Works, with 121 per cent increase over their quota. H. M. James, upon being congratulated for his firm and employees, said, "It's easy to come in a winner if you only give the drive a little time. The first requirement is to be sold on the Chest and what it stands for in the General Eisenhower opposes the basic evils of Trumanism, where Governor Stevenson insists that the Truman administration and Washington Dealism of the past decade are sound; that only a little dusting off here and there is needed.

Governor Stevenson especially stands for the budgetary policies of the Truman administration and frankly admits that his planned continuation of them may bring higher taxes. General Eisenhower is opposed to the tax and spend and waste policies which are bankrupting the nation. He is pledged to specific reduction of federal spending by billions of dollars annually, to be followed by comparable reduction in taxes.

There are three great issues in this campaign—Corruption, Communism and Korea. Corruption, because it destroys the administration of American government; Communism, because it seeks to destroy our American form of government; Korea, because the policies that created and maintain this foreign "police action" and its 120,000 casualties to date can lead only to continuation of that bloodshed, either in Korea or in a World War III to which Korea may be a tragic forerunner.

On each of these issues the Stevenson philosophies mean continuation of a dead past into a hopeless future, while election of the Eisenhower ticket will open the way for a full return of Americanism to America.

As an American citizen born in the South, reared to manhood in the Middle West, and devoting his adult life to service to his nation, General Eisenhower does not condone corruption or look on it as something to be treated lightly.

As a five-star general who organized and led the greatest military invasion in history, he would never launch a war without trying to win it. He would not endlessly draft his nation's youth onto foreign battlefields without giving them full opportunity to fight for their own lives to the maximum of their ability.

Nor would he ever run with Alger Hiss and his breed, or tolerate Communist-coddlers in or out of government.

On the other hand, Governor Stevenson has no experience as to war, or how to avert it, or how to win it, if it becomes inevitable. He calls Washington corruption "a mess" but condones the mess in the manner of a teacher shaking a finger at a schoolboy caught filching an apple from another's desk.

He was the political and personal associate of Alger Hiss during the disgraceful decade in which Hiss and his breed were part of a Russian spy ring in the state department betraying this nation.

In the early days of World War II when he was an assistant to the secretary of navy, Stevenson issued the order which prevented naval commanders from removing known Communists from such posts of trust as handling radio dispatches in top secret codes.

According to evidence before a congressional committee, Stevenson at that time was looked on by Hiss as suitable for participation in meetings of the Institute of Pacific Relations, later proven to be a medium of Communist propaganda in this country.

In the later 1940s, Hiss and Stevenson officially were associated in drafting the UN Charter at San Francisco. They went to London together to be U. S. representatives at further UN conferences—involving relations with Communist Russia.

At the first New York UN conference, Stevenson was official Acting U. S. Delegate to the UN and Hiss was official adviser to the Acting Delegate—to Stevenson.

After all the facts on betrayal by Hiss of his nation were made public, Stevenson still testified as a character witness for the betrayer, upholding Hiss not only for honesty, and veracity, but for loyalty to his nation.

Whether it is Communism, Corruption or Korea—or issues of special interest to our own geographical section of the nation—we believe that preservation of freedom for all of us as individuals and for our nation as a Republic demands the election of the Eisenhower ticket and defeat of the Truman-backed Stevenson ticket.

Old Time Morality

This is Sunday morning and time for all of us to be preparing for church. Or are we going fishing? This is the opening of hunting season; maybe we are all going hunting. If we do, we are all going wrong. We should cancel all plans and head for church.

Whether we go to the Methodist church, the Baptist, the Episcopal, the Roman Catholic, the Synagogue, we should [illegible] all ministers here in these towns of Monroe [illegible] are fine men./We are blessed with the [illegible] ministers ever assembled in two such towns. [illegible] lost us when we say that it makes no difference [illegible] we attend, as long as we attend one.

[illegible] that church attendance is up all over the [illegible] last and one which shows that per- [illegible] to realize that without God,

[illegible] we were becoming too ultra [illegible] more straying from His [illegible] of materialistic who preached that it was better to live for today than live for tomorrow. We listened to those ultra smart people who preached and still do preach that there is no God. How wrong can a people be? We can't say that an entire people is to blame. It is not. However, there are many instances in the life of every man when he or she has questioned the good life—when he or she has put material before morals, volume before value.

Let's go back into the not too distant past when we learned that it was a privilege to work.

It was good to work, you know.

We thought that if we worked, we'd attain something beside money and a Cadillac. We knew that our sons and daughters were growing up in a wholesome atmosphere, not in one dominated by high pressure advertising, gangsterism, and a total lack of public responsibility on the part of all of us.

We are all to blame. In the old days, we were taught that our public leaders were honest, fearless and dependent upon the word of God for leadership.

Now, it is different. What do we find? In both major parties, on the part of many of our public officials, a total lack of moral responsibility to the office he holds and a belief that what he can get away with, will never be known. Who put these officials there? We did.

There are many public spirited men in our government who work hard, who believe that work is good for all of us. What reception do they get? Quite often, they get voted out. They are replaced by the man who can promise the most, and it is our fault.

Our great and beautiful land is faced with a terrible crisis. We may be fighting for our existence as a nation. Our morale is low, we don't know what to do next. We ought to be able to find a simple answer.

Let's all be "reactionary" and turn back to the ways our fathers knew—the code which made this nation what it is—a belief that a day's good hard work wan't hurt anybody. Instead of laughing at a man who works hard for what he earns, let's congratulate him. Instead of trying to make money the easy way, let's impress our children and ourselves with the idea that peace with our fellow man is better than trying to stab him in the back.

Our nation faces a fight for national existence now by a foe more ungodly than Atilla the Hun, or Ghengis Khan. The followers of these men could be made to see the kingdom of God.

We are fighting a new religion. It is called dialectical materialism and is based on fear, and the thought that there is no God. It says that the state is God. There is no individuality. We must all offer a prayer that in these, our most crucial years, our national leaders will prove to the test.

No matter who wins the next election, he and his associates will hold the balance of fate in his hands. He can lead this great nation to victory over the ungodly or he can drag us down to defeat. It is in his hands.

Let us pray that he realizes his great responsibility and trusts in God to help him out instead of relying on the advice of those who seek to destroy everything good in this nation.

Let's all own up. Let's all let our consciences, not our pocketbooks be our guides in these dark days ahead.

When we citizens of Monroe and West Monroe plan to play golf or sleep this morning, let's reconsider and go to church. We will be on the side of God and that side never loses.

George E. Sokolsky:

THESE DAYS

THE BATTLE OF THE FUNDS

Now that Adlai Stevenson has produced his secret fund, the battle of the funds projects itself into the future. We know from the record that Senator William Benton of Connecticut has a fund, although he has not issued the names of his contributors. His fund apparently is for a libel suit. That is startling in view of the fact that Benton is a man of wealth, having been a successful huckster, advertising the wares of capitalists before he became a professional liberal. He says that the fund came in voluntarily but he does not publish the names of the donors.

If candidates are to make public their contributors, whether the law demands it or not, Benton ought to publish his list. Also, just to make the whole business strictly correct, I would suggest that the McCarran Committee delve deeply into the contributors to the Hiss Defense Fund for the first and second trials. It would serve the public to compare the various lists published with the Hiss defense fund to see how often the same names reappear. It might even work out that there is a pattern of support. Although every citizen is entitled to his opinion and its free expression, it is difficult to understand the Hissites because Alger Hiss has appeared before grand juries, he has had two trials, he has lost on appeal before the Supreme Court, his lawyer came into court for a third trial and lost. These people must say that our courts are bad; that Hiss never got justice from a grand jury and two trial juries.

In this fund matter, the role of Max Ascoli would be interesting. This man was a refugee from Mussolini's Italy who married into the Rosenwald family, which got its fortune out of Sears, Roebuck. Ascoli produces a magazine called "The Reporter," a curious publication which spends considerable money on stories of an internationalist character, which, while not directly propagandistic for Communist China, do everything to fight those who oppose the Chinese Communists. It can be described as anti-anti-Communist which is a somewhat recent liberal deviation.

Ascoli lives and works in New York. Why should he contribute to a secret fund for the Governor of Illinois? "The Reporter" cooperated with the "New York Post" in building the Nixon story, which boomeranged. What was Ascoli's interest in this? Here is a man, born in 1888, who has only been in this country 21 years; became a citizen in 1939; who is throwing his weight around in a most extraordinary manner. His paper, "The Reporter," is European in tone and attitude. Has Ascoli contributed to other funds? Let's have a look a this man's activities in the United States since he took refuge in this sanctuary from Mussolini.

The battle of the funds opens an important avenue into our judgment of our public men. For it is not merely a question of who takes and why, but of who gives and why. We are too prone to think of lobbyists and crooked businessmen as the contributors to campaign funds and to the careers of public men.

But there are worse people in the United States than lobbyists and crooked businessmen—much worse people. They are the debauchers of the American mind, the corrupters of our youth, the poisoners of the wells of the education of our children. These men are money honest but that is all that is honest about them. Some of them serve Soviet Russia; others are traditionally and culturally so disposed that they hate America, while living here and enjoying the fruits and freedoms of American life. Some are doctrinaire internationalists who would sacrifice America to their private opinions; others are so absorbed in European concepts that they would suck America dry to rebuild their own dying world.

Many of these persons, alien or American born, devote their lives to our destruction and we need to know about them. Many are rich or have access to other people's money or to the Foundations. They build themselves into publicly acceptable personalities and then work to achieve our undoing as a nation.

An investigation into the funds of public men will bring out the pattern. The American people are entitled to know what is happening here. From that standpoint, the battle of the funds is extremely important.

Constitutional Amendments

AMENDMENT NO. 6
ACT NO. 54 OF 1952

This is one of the series of Acts referred to in the first paragraph of remarks relative to Amendment No. 5 (Act No. 48). As was said there:

It will be remembered that the Governor recommended in his message that the larger state institutions were operating under a system of almost complete executive control. In order, therefore, to remove this control, these House Bills were submitted to the Legislature and each of them followed a somewhat similar formula. Boards for each were created consisting of some 7 to 9 members; the first board to be named by the Governor; vacancies thereafter to be filled from panels filed with the Secretary of State containing names submitted by civic or non-profit organizations, or in some instances by interested citizens. If such vacancies occur the remaining board members will submit 7 names from this panel from which the Governor may select one; or if he so desires, the Governor can select any name from the panel.

Gov. Kennon, in his address to a joint session of the House of Representatives and the Senate on May 19, 1952, in relation to these new Boards (highways, Amendment No. 6; Institutions, Amendment No. 5; Public Welfare, Amendment No. 8; and Wild Life and Fisheries, Amendment No. 9), said:

The operation of Louisiana's Department of Highways, Department of Welfare, and the larger state institutions involves an expenditure running into hundreds of millions of dollars. Louisiana still has a system of almost complete executive control of these departments which existed when the annual state expenditures were less than $10,000.00. The almost exclusive control of the expenditures of these huge sums has had a tendency to destroy the desirable balance between the executive and legislative departments of our state government. I have the feeling that no one man—even though he be the elected chief executive—can efficiently and economically control the detailed spending of such huge sums. This state, more than ten years ago, tried out a system by placing the control of a large state agency in the hands of a constitutional board of civic-minded citizens. An attack was made upon this system in 1948, but the people of the state as a whole voted down a constitutional amendment that would have returned the state Dock Board to direct executive control. We are proposing legislation to create state wide boards for the administration of the highway, welfare and institutions departments. I have asked that these boards be created by both simple legislative acts and constitutional amendments. These constitutional amendments will, of course, supersede the statutes when formally adopted. The purpose of the creation of these boards is to remove from politics the large spending agencies of our state government and to make them

IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, October 5—Don't talk too much. I have never had any compliment for anything that had a long run. I think as I search my memory on the elusive business of toastmastering, that about fifteen minutes is ghe best that I have ever been good at anything—such as playing pool.

I know so well just how much sincerity there is in testimonial dinners and just what is so much tinsel.

For example, my oldest friend and almost my nearest kin. Eddie Cantor - who has a dinner in his honor about twice a month - and should a month go by without any, before he comes home to eat, Ida puts a sign on the door - "The Ida Cantor Tennis and Tzimmis Club proudly welcomes Eddie Cantor."

I believe one occasion was a dinner in Eddie's honor, either the opening of a new television show, his birthday, or his ascendancy to the chair of the president of Welch's Grapejuice. He was quite overcome with emotion and his heart seemed broken over the fact that there were four or five people who could not be there, since they had long since gone down the road to their fathers. Three of these people hate his guts and the other two were Benjamin Disraeli and Ty Cobb, whom he never met in his life.

At the last dinner given in honor of Jack Benny, in New York, the thing that brought a lump in his throat and tears in his eyes was that some old vaudeville friends happened to be there at hs side. These particular friends, I happen to know, have been very near him for the last thirty years. They live in his garage. They have written letter upon letter to him. These he never answered but on a night at the Waldorf - Astoria, when everybody is hollering hooray for him, he is so touched that these people are there, and so surprised. When he brought them from Los Angeles, he evidently thought they were going to Loew's State instead of his dinner.

Most guests of honor usually say, "I would not be what I am if it were not for the little woman who has been with me all through the years." At that point, the lady takes a bow. I thought of that - but to bring so many people here it would cost a fortune!

A toastmaster should talk about things that are fun - like girls. It's even pleasant just to think about them. I remember a few months ago when I was flying back to Los Angeles after the San Francisco premiere of "Golden Girl," starring Mitzi Gaynor, who will next be seen in George Jessel's "The I Don't Care Girl," the pilot told us we had a jammed landing gear and might crash.

We circled around for two hours while he tried to get the wheels down, and finally he made a belly landing, and nobody was hurt. A reporter came running up and asked me what I had been thinking about during those two hours. "About all the girls I have known," I admitted, "and I had just arrived at the high school girls when we landed."

Thank you, George, for your discussion of toastmastering. You know your subject probably as few others know it, and I take off my hat to you and your many activities outside the realm of show business. Now I'm going to tell the readers of this column a few things about George Jessel.

It is estimated by those closest to him that during his career, he has been instrumental in bringing untold millions of dollars to fine causes in the United States and elsewhere. Some estimate the figure at $150,000,000.

George Jessel has just returned from a five - weeks' trip to Israel, where he has been investigating conditions there. He is already making appearances in the United States in the interest of the United Jewish Welfare Fund to be used in aiding Israel, and he will have 30 engagements in all.

George is organizing, I understand, his own television show, and he hopes that, sooner or later, he may produce the Jessel story in pictures, with Danny Thomas playing the Jessel role. As he has indicated, he is a close friend of Eddie Cantor, and he knew the late Al Jolson intimately and well.

George was born in New York City and knows the Metropolis as well as the late George M. Cohan, or any other writer of songs and plays. Jessel has produced any number of successful pictures, many in which he has starred.

If any of you toastmasters want a few tips on how to toastmaster, just ask George Jessel.

BASCOM TIMMONS IN WASHINGTON

The presidential campaign now has reached the stage where the candidates and Pres. Harry S. Truman, sounding like a biased narrator in a Greek tragedy, are giving their versions of the Korean war episode. They remind many in the national audience of an old cartoon of three men, each pointing to the other and shouting "he did it".

The national audience has been waiting for this stage, wondering what President Truman and General Eisenhower, who have intimate first hand knowledge of the events leading up to the tragedy, and Governor Stevenson, as an old state department hand, would have to say about Korea.

So far it is a Mexican standoff, annoying to most people whose first interest is in seeing the Korean war brought to a close. The president, the general and the governor are in agreement that the United States could not have avoided what started out as "the police action" in Korea. The general, however, says that we are in the war because the Truman administration "grossly underestimated the actual threat".

He also says that the administration allowed America to become weak at a time when strength was needed. But his record, like that of the president and the Democratic nominee, seems to be full of contradiction. For example in 1949, when a congressional joint committee was investigating the recommendations of Secretary of defense Louis Johnson for huge cuts in armament costs, General Eisenhower, speaking as a former chief of the joint chiefs of staff, told the committee that he agreed in principle with Johnson.

While his recommendations on that occasion were not too emphatic, reporters who covered the hearing agreed that in the main, he endorsed the administration program for reduced armament costs. One result was that air force appropriations were cut by $782,000,000, which the Truman administration hailed as a great step toward economy. The invasion of north Korea came in June of the following year.

The president on his western tour has made much of a statement by General Eisenhower in 1945 to another congressional committee that nothing guided the policy of Russia at that time more than to keep friendship with the United States. But in the same year, President Truman said in a speech in Tennessee that the Russians were just "as anxious to get along with us as we are with them."

It must be remembered that those were hopeful times, when the United States, emerging victorious from a tremendous war hoped above everything else that the Communists would play ball. Its leaders, including the general and the president naturally expressed that hope in their public utterances.

In 1945, too, Adlai E. Stevenson, then in London as senior advisor to the head of the United States delegation to the committee on preliminary discussions of the United Nations, expressed high hope of collaboration between the United States and Russia and indicated that he had slight fear of Russia's veto power, which has since hog tied much of U. N.'s potential usefulness.

Together, these recollections prove again President Truman's generality that "hindsight is better than foresight," but they demonstrate more specifically that our national leaders having no knowledge of Communist intentions, were agreed in 1945, and up until Korea, that we should do everything we could to get along with the Kremlin.

General Eisenhower in his attack on the administration Korean policy did omit from his quotation of Secretary of State Dean Acheson's National Press Club speech in January 1950 the secretary's statement that an attack on an area where the United National had commitments (which included Korea) "the initial reliance must be on the people attacked to resist it and then upon the commitments of the entire civilized world under the Charter of the United Nations".

Those were high sounding phrases, particularly in view of the concurrence of the joint chiefs of staff, with Eisenhower as a member, in decisions that U. S. troops be withdrawn from Korea and a training cadre left to develop a defense force in South Korea.

All this confuses the average person, who cannot be blamed for an impression that everybody is talking out of the side of his mouth. Eisenhower seems to have changed his position most specifically, for in his Philadelphia peace speech, he charged the administration with a failure to build up adequate strength in Korea's own defense forces and with announcing "to the world that it had written off most of the far east as beyond our direct concern." Perhaps it would be best to admit we all were wrong, and talk about the future in more specific terms.

IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON —(NEA)— Complete overhauling of the present secrecy rules on senators' office expenses is due in the next session of Congress, according to Senate Secretary Leslie L. Biffle. Disclosure of Sen. Richard M. Nixon's $18,000 e x t r.a expense account brings the issue to a head and makes revision of Senate accounting practices necessary, says Mr. Biffle.

One of the tightest censorships in Washington is that clamped down on records of the Senate disbursing office. This is the financial branch of Secretary Biffle's office. It was presided over for some years by Oco Thompson, but he has now retired and been succeeded by his brother, George F. Thompson.

Though estimable gentlemen in every other respect, the Thompson brothers both have had all their wiring for sound completely removed as far as talking to newspapermen is concerned. This is on orders of the Senate, Mr. Biffle, and a tradition so old nobody knows when it began.

At the beginning of each session of Congress, Biffle's office makes a report to the Senate on disbursements of the previous year. The last such report, sent to the Senate by Mr. Biffle on Jan. 8, covered the fiscal year July 1, 1950, to June 30, 1951.

Up-To-Date Data Lacking

It was 902 printed pages of itemized expenses in small type. It covered the costs of running all Senate offices and investigations. It included such fascinating details as payment of $15 to Nationwide Food Services for 12 dinners furnished laborers detained at the Senate Jan. 15, 1951, because of night session.

But when reporters started digging into Senator Nixon's expenses, they found this report covered only the first six months of his Senate term. Mr. Thompson's office had its strict orders to give out no later information. And the next report, covering senatorial expenses of the last session, won't be available till next January.

By that time all the present stir will probably be forgotten. That is apparently one of the main reasons for keeping all this data behind a news blackout curtain, even though it involves the expenditure of public funds about which the taxpayers have a right to know.

Mr. Biffle says that he probably could give the order to open up these records for public examination. But he also says he wouldn't do it without first consulting the Senate and getting its approval.

There is no law requiring that records of Senate finances be kept confidential for so long a time. The Senate rules say nothing on the subject. It is just a custom which seems to go back farther than Mr. Biffle can remember.

One of the principal objections which senators s e e m to have against opening up the books is that it would force them to disclose how much was paid each employe on their office payrolls. They say this might cause hard feelings in other senators' offices.

Only Total Payroll is Reported

At the present time only the list of each senator's employes and the total of the office payroll for each quarter year are reported. Thus Senator Nixon listed 14 employes with a quarterly payroll total of nearly $16,000. This would be at the rate of $64,000 a year. But there was no breakdown on what each got.

During the Republican 80th Congress—1946-48—not even this much information was given. Senators' office expenses were completely deleted from the report, by order of the GOP majority. The Democrats reinstituted partial accounting in 1949.

Even this partial accounting is complicated by a lot of outmoded Senate rules. These rules specify that the maximum salary a senator may pay his administrative assistant is $8400 a year. But cost-of-living and other increases make this $11,646.

The fixed allowances for airmail and special delivery postage, long-distance telephone and telegrams have been similarly increased. This makes accounting more difficult.

These are but a few of the complications which will have to be straightened out by the new Congress, says Mr. Biffle. How they will be handled he, of course, does not know.

There have been many proposals that congressional expense allowances be further increased above the present $2500 tax-free amount. But this has created much public criticism.

The other principal suggestion has been to raise congressional salaries from the present $12,500 to, say, $25,000 and then let each senator and representative work out his own arrangement for meeting extra expenses.

on tidelands, on the right of states to adjust their own labor-employer relations, or to preserve their public schools from federal intrusion, or in the planting and harvesting of crops. General Eisenhower opposes socialized or federalized medicine, where Governor Stevenson endorses steps in that direction.

General Eisenhower opposes the basic evils of Trumanism, where Governor Stevenson insists that the Truman administration and Washington Dealism of the past decade are sound; that only a little dusting off here and there is needed.

Governor Stevenson especially stands for the budgetary policies of the Truman administration and frankly admits that his planned continuation of them may bring higher taxes. General Eisenhower is opposed to the tax and spend and waste policies which are bankrupting the nation. He is pledged to specific reduction of federal spending by billions of dollars annually, to be followed by comparable reduction in taxes.

There are three great issues in this campaign—Corruption, Communism and Korea. Corruption, because it destroys the administration of American government; Communism, because it seeks to destroy our American form of government; Korea, because the policies that created and maintain this foreign "police action" and its 120,000 casualties to date can lead only to continuation of that bloodshed, either in Korea or in a World War III to which Korea may be a tragic forerunner.

On each of these issues the Stevenson philosophies mean continuation of a dead past into a hopeless future, while election of the Eisenhower ticket will open the way for a full return of Americanism to America.

As an American citizen born in the South, reared to manhood in the Middle West, and devoting his adult life to service to his nation, General Eisenhower does not condone corruption or look on it as something to be treated lightly.

As a five-star general who organized and led the greatest military invasion in history, he would never launch a war without trying to win it. He would not endlessly draft his nation's youth onto foreign battlefields without giving them full opportunity to fight for their own lives to the maximum of their ability.

Nor would he ever run with Alger Hiss and his breed, or tolerate Communist-coddlers in or out of government.

On the other hand, Governor Stevenson has no experience as to war, or how to avert it, or how to win it, if it becomes inevitable. He calls Washington corruption "a mess" but condones the mess in the manner of a teacher shaking a finger at a schoolboy caught filching an apple from another's desk.

He was the political and personal associate of Alger Hiss during the disgraceful decade in which Hiss and his breed were part of a Russian spy ring in the state department betraying this nation.

In the early days of World War II when he was an assistant to the secretary of navy, Stevenson issued the order which prevented naval commanders from removing known Communists from such posts of trust as handling radio dispatches in top secret codes.

According to evidence before a congressional committee, Stevenson at that time was looked on by Hiss as suitable for participation in meetings of the Institute of Pacific Relations, later proven to be a medium of Communist propaganda in this country.

In the later 1940s, Hiss and Stevenson officially were associated in drafting the UN Charter at San Francisco. They went to London together to be U. S. representatives at further UN conferences—involving relations with Communist Russia.

At the first New York UN conference, Stevenson was official Acting U. S. Delegate to the UN and Hiss was official adviser to the Acting Delegate—to Stevenson.

After all the facts on betrayal by Hiss of his nation were made public, Stevenson still testified as a character witness for the betrayer, upholding Hiss not only for honesty, and veracity, but for loyalty to his nation.

Whether it is Communism, Corruption or Korea—or issues of special interest to our own geographical section of the nation—we believe that preservation of freedom for all of us as individuals and for our nation as a Republic demands the election of the Eisenhower ticket and defeat of the Truman-backed Stevenson ticket.

Records show that church attendance is up all over the nation. This is a happy fact and one which shows that perhaps our land is beginning to realize that without God, we cannot go on.

For a long tragic while, we were becoming too ultra sophisticated to realize that we were straying from His path. This is easy. We listened to the gospels of materialists who preached that it was better to live for today than live for tomorrow. Let's all be "reactionary" and turn back to the ways our fathers knew—the code which made this nation what it is—a belief that a day's good hard work wan't hurt anybody. Instead of laughing at a man who works hard for what he earns, let's congratulate him. Instead of trying to make money the easy way, let's impress our children and ourselves with the idea that peace with our fellow man is better than trying to stab him in the back.

Our nation faces a fight for national existence now by a foe more ungodly than Atilla the Hun, or Ghengis Khan. The followers of these men could be made to see the kingdom of God.

We are fighting a new religion. It is called dialectical materialism and is based on fear, and the thought that there is no God. It says that the state is God. There is no individuality. We must all offer a prayer that in these, our most crucial years, our national leaders will prove to the test.

No matter who wins the next election, he and his associates will hold the balance of fate in his hands. He can lead this great nation to victory over the ungodly or he can drag us down to defeat. It is in his hands.

Let us pray that he realizes his great responsibility and trusts in God to help him out instead of relying on the advice of those who seek to destroy everything good in this nation.

Let's all own up. Let's all let our consciences, not our pocketbooks be our guides in these dark days ahead.

When we citizens of Monroe and West Monroe plan to play golf or sleep this morning, let's reconsider and go to church. We will be on the side of God and that side never loses.

George E. Sokolsky:

THESE DAYS

THE BATTLE OF THE FUNDS

Now that Adlai Stevenson has produced his secret fund, the battle of the funds projects itself into the future. We know from the record that Senator William Benton of Connecticut has a fund, although he has not issued the names of his contributors. His fund apparently is for a libel suit. That is startling in view of the fact that Benton is a man of wealth, having been a successful huckster, advertising the wares of capitalists before he became a professional liberal. He says that the fund came in voluntarily but he does not publish the names of the donors.

If candidates are to make public their contributors, whether the law demands it or not, Benton ought to publish his list. Also, just to make the whole business strictly correct, I would suggest that the McCarran Committee delve deeply into the contributors to the Hiss Defense Fund for the first and second trials. It would serve the public to compare the various lists published with the Hiss defense fund to see how often the same names reappear. It might even work out that there is a pattern of support. Although every citizen is entitled to his opinion and its free expression, it is difficult to understand the Hissites because Alger Hiss has appeared before grand juries, he has had two trials, he has lost on appeal before the Supreme Court, his lawyer came into court for a third trial and lost. These people must say that our courts are bad; that Hiss never got justice from a grand jury and two trial juries.

In this fund matter, the role of Max Ascoli would be interesting. This man was a refugee from Mussolini's Italy who married into the Rosenwald family, which got its fortune out of Sears, Roebuck. Ascoil produces a magazine called "The Reporter," a curious publication which spends considerable money on stories of an internationalist character, which, while not directly propagandistic for Communist China, do everything to fight those who oppose the Chinese Communists. It can be described as anti-anti-Communist which is a somewhat recent liberal deviation.

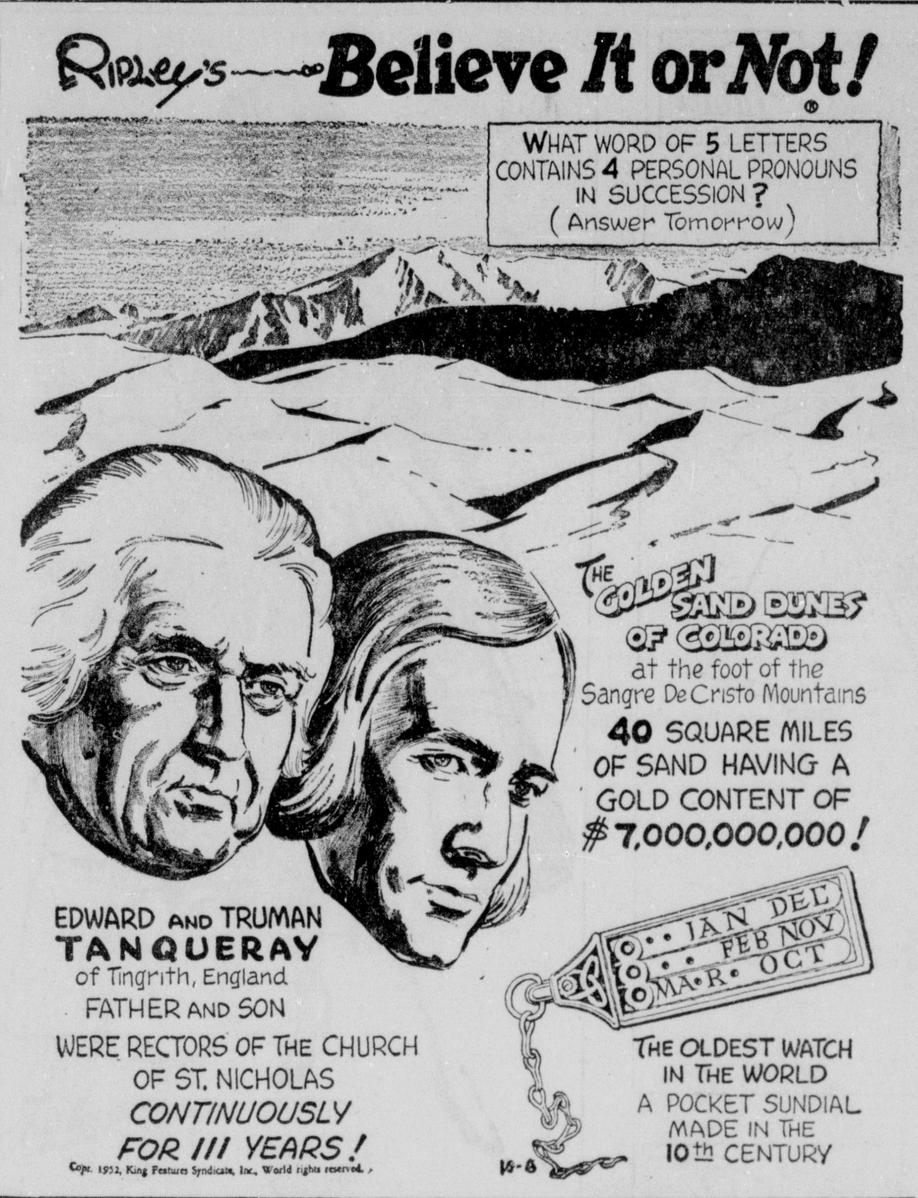
Ascoli lives and works in New York. Why should he contribute to a secret fund for the Governor of Illinois? "The Reporter" cooperated with the "New York Post" in building the Nixon story, which boomeranged. What was Ascoli's interest in this? Here is a man, born in 1888, who has only been in this country 21 years; became a citizen in 1939; who is throwing his weight around in a most extraordinary manner. His paper, "The Reporter," is European in tone and attitude. Has Ascoli contributed to other funds? Let's have a look a this man's activities in the United States since he took refuge in this sanctuary from Mussolini.

The battle of the funds opens an important avenue into our judgment of our public men. For it is not merely a question of who takes and why, but of who gives and why. We are too prone to think of lobbyists and crooked businessmen as the contributors to campaign funds and to the careers of public men.

But there are worse people in the United States than lobbyists and crooked businessmen—much worse people. They are the debauchers of the American mind, the corrupters of our youth, the poisoners of the wells of the education of our children. These men are money honest but that is all that is honest about them. Some of them serve Soviet Russia; others are traditionally and culturally so disposed that they hate America, while living here and enjoying the fruits and freedoms of American life. Some are doctrinaire internationalists who would sacrifice America to their private opinions; others are so absorbed in European concepts that they would suck America dry to rebuild their own dying world.

Many of these persons, alien or American born, devote their lives to our destruction and we need to know about them. Many are rich or have access to other people's money or to the Foundations. They build themselves into publicly acceptable personalities and then work to achieve our undoing as a nation.

An investigation into the funds of public men will bring out the pattern. The American people are entitled to know what is happening here. From that standpoint, the battle of the funds is extremely important.



Constitutional Amendments

ACT NO. 54 OF 1952

This is one of the series of Acts referred to in the first paragraph of remarks relative to Amendment No. 5 (Act No. 48). As was said there:

It will be remembered that the Governor recommended in his message that the larger state institutions were operating under a system of almost complete executive control. In order, therefore, to remove this control, these House Bills were submitted to the Legislature and each of them followed a somewhat similar formula. Boards for each were created consisting of some 7 to 9 members; the first board to be named by the Governor; vacancies thereafter to be filled from panels filed with the Secretary of State containing names submitted by civic or non-profit organizations, or in some instances by interested citizens. If such vacancies occur the remaining board members will submit 7 names from this panel from which the Governor may select one; or if he so desires, the Governor can select any name from the panel.

Gov. Kennon, in his address to a joint session of the House of Representatives and the Senate on May 19, 1952, in relation to these new Boards (highways, Amendment No. 6; Institutions, Amendment No. 5; Public Welfare, Amendment No. 8; and Wild Life and Fisheries, Amendment No. 9), said:

The operation of Louisiana's Department of Highways, Department of Welfare, and the larger state institutions involves an expenditure running into hundreds of millions of dollars. Louisiana still has a system of almost complete executive control of these departments which existed when the annual state expenditures were less than $10,000.00. The almost exclusive control of the expenditures of these huge sums has had a tendency to destroy the desirable balance between the executive and legislative departments of our state government. I have the feeling that no one man—even though he be the elected chief executive—can efficiently and economically control the detailed spending of such huge sums. This state, more than ten years ago, tried out a system by placing the control of a large state agency in the hands of a constitutional board of civic-minded citizens. An attack was made upon this system in 1948, but the people of the state as a whole voted down a constitutional amendment that would have returned the state Dock Board to direct executive control. We are proposing legislation to create state wide boards for the administration of the highway, welfare and institutions departments. I have asked that these boards be created by both simple legislative acts and constitutional amendments. These constitutional amendments will, of course, supersede the statutes when fromally adopted. The purpose of the creation of these boards is to remove from politics the large spending agencies of our state government and to make them

IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, October 5—Don't talk too much. I have never had any compliment for anything that had a long run. I think as I search my memory on the elusive business of toastmastering, that about fifteen minutes is ghe best that I have ever been good at anything—such as playing pool.

I know so well just how much sincerity there is in testimonial dinners and just what is so much tinsel.

For example, my oldest friend and almost my nearest kin. Eddie Cantor - who has a dinner in his honor about twice a month - and should a month go by without any, before he comes home to eat, Ida puts a sign on the door - "The Ida Cantor Tennis and Tzimmis Club proudly welcomes Eddie Cantor."

I believe one occasion was a dinner in Eddie's honor, either the opening of a new television show, his birthday, or his ascendancy to the chair of the president of Welch's Grapejuice. He was quite overcome with emotion and his heart seemed broken over the fact that there were four or five people who could not be there, since they had long since gone down the road to their fathers. Three of these people hate his guts and the other two were Benjamin Disraeli and Ty Cobb, whom he never met in his life.

At the last dinner given in honor of Jack Benny, in New York, the thing that brought a lump in his throat and tears in his eyes was that some old vaudeville friends happened to be there at hs side. These particular friends, I happen to know, have been very near him for the last thirty years. They live in his garage. They have written letter upon letter to him. These he never answered but on a night at the Waldorf - Astoria, when everybody is hollering hooray for him, he is so touched that these people are there. and so surprised. When he brought them from Los Angeles, he evidently thought they were going to Loew's State instead of his dinner.

Most guests of honor usually say, "I would not be what I am if it were not for the little woman who has been with me all through the years." At that point, the lady takes a bow. I thought of that - but to bring so many people here-it would cost a fortune!

A toastmaster should talk about things that are fun - like girls. It's even pleasant just to think about them. I remember a few months ago when I was flying back to Los Angeles after the San Francisco premiere of "Golden Girl," starring Mitzi Gaynor, who will next be seen in George Jessel's "The I Don't Care Girl," the pilot told us we had a jammed landing gear and might crash.

We circled around for two hours while he tried to get the wheels down, and finally he made a belly landing, and nobody was hurt. A reporter came running up and asked me what I had been thinking about during those two hours. "About all the girls I have known," I admitted, "and I had just arrived at the high school girls when we landed."

Thank you, George, for your discussion of toastmastering. You know your subject probably as few others know it, and I take off my hat to you and your many activities outside the realm of show business. Now I'm going to tell the readers of this column a few things about George Jessel.

It is estimated by those closest to him that during his career, he has been instrumental in bringing untold millions of dollars to fine causes in the United States and elsewhere. Some estimate the figure at $150,000,000.

George Jessel has just returned from a five - weeks' trip to Israel, where he has been investigating conditions there. He is already making appearances in the United States in the interest of the United Jewish Welfare Fund to be used in aiding Israel, and he will have 30 engagements in all.

George is organizing, I understand, his own television show, and he hopes that, sooner or later, he may produce the Jessel story in pictures, with Danny Thomas playing the Jessel role. As he has indicated, he is a close friend of Eddie Cantor, and he knew the late Al Jolson intimately and well.

George was born in New York City and knows the Metropolis as well as the late George M. Cohan, or any other writer of songs and plays. Jessel has produced any number of successful pictures, many in which he has starred.

If any of you toastmasters want a few tips on how to toastmaster, just ask George Jessel.

BASCOM TIMMONS IN WASHINGTON

The presidential campaign now has reached the stage where the candidates and Pres. Harry S. Truman, sounding like a biased narrator in a Greek tragedy, are giving their versions of the Korean war episode. They remind many in the national audience of an old cartoon of three men, each pointing to the other and shouting "he did it".

The national audience has been wiating for this stage, wondering what President Truman and General Eisenhower, who have intimate first hand knowledge of the events leading up to the tragedy, and Governor Stevenson, as an old state department hand, would have to say about Korea.

So far it is a Mexican standoff, annoying to most people whose first interest is in seeing the Korean war brought to a close. The president, the general and the governor are in agreement that the United States could not have avoided what started out as "the police action" in Korea. The general, however, says that we are in the war because the Truman administration "grossly underestimated the actual threat".

He also says that the administration allowed America to become weak at a time when strength was needed. But his record, like that of the president and the Democratic nominee, seems to be full of contradiction. For example in 1949, when a congressional joint committee was investigating the recommendations of Secretary of defense Louis Johnson for huge cuts in armament costs, General Eisenhower, speaking as a former chief of the joint chiefs of staff, told the committee that he agreed in principle with Johnson.

While his recommendations on that occasion were not too emphatic, reporters who covered the hearing agreed that in the main, he endorsed the administration program for reduced armament costs. One result was that air force appropriations were cut by $782,000,000, which the Truman administration hailed as a great step toward economy. The invasion of north Korea came in June of the following year.

The president on his western tour has made much of a statement by General Eisenhower in 1945 to another congressional committee that nothing guided the policy of Russia at that time more than to keep friendship with the United States. But in the same year, President Truman said in a speech in Tennessee that the Russians were just "as anxious to get along with us as we are with them."

It must be remembered that those were hopeful times, when the United States, emerging victorious from a tremendous war hoped above everything else that the Communists would play ball. Its leaders, including the general and the president naturally expressed that hope in their public utterances.

In 1945, too, Adlai E. Stevenson, then in London as senior advisor to the head of the United States delegation to the committee on preliminary discussions of the United Nations, expressed high hope of collaboration between the United States and Russia and indicated that he had slight fear of Russia's veto power, which has since hog tied much of U. N.'s potential usefulness.

Together, these recollections prove again President Truman's generality that "hindsight is better than foresight," but they demonstrate more specifically that our national leaders having no knowledge of Communist intentions, were agreed in 1945, and up until Korea, that we should do everything we could to get along with the Kremlin.

General Eisenhower in his attack on the administration Korean policy did omit from his quotation of Secretary of State Dean Acheson's National Press Club speech in January 1950 the secretary's statement that an attack on an area where the United National had commitments (which included Korea) "the initial reliance must be on the people attacked to resist it and then upon the commitments of the entire civilized world under the Charter of the United Nations".

Those were high sounding phrases, particularly in view of the concurrence of the joint chiefs of staff, with Eisenhower as a member, in decisions that U. S. troops be withdrawn from Korea and a training cadre left to develop a defense force in South Korea.

All this confuses the average person, who cannot be blamed for an impression that everybody is talking out of the side of his mouth. Eisenhower seems to have changed his position most specifically, for in his Philadelphia peace speech, he charged the administration with a failure to build up adequate strength in Korea's own defense forces and with announcing "to the world that it had written off most of the far east as beyond our direct concern." Perhaps it would be best to admit we all were wrong, and talk about the future in more specific terms.

IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON —(NEA)— Complete overhauling of the present secrecy rules on senators' office expenses is due in the next session of Congress, according to Senate Secretary Leslie L. Biffle. Disclosure of Sen. Richard M. Nixon's $18,000 extra expense account brings the issue to a head and makes revision of Senate accounting practices necessary, says Mr. Biffle.

One of the tightest censorships in Washington is that clamped down on records of the Senate disbursing office. This is the financial branch of Secretary Biffle's office. It was presided over for some years by Oco Thompson, but he has now retired and been succeeded by his brother, George F. Thompson.

Though estimable gentlemen in every other respect, the Thompson brothers both have had all their wiring for sound completely removed as far as talking to newspapermen is concerned. This is on orders of the Senate, Mr. Biffle, and a tradition so old nobody knows when it began.

At the beginning of each session of Congress, Biffle's office makes a report to the Senate on disbursements of the previous year. The last such report, sent to the Senate by Mr. Biffle on Jan. 8, covered the fiscal year July 1, 1950, to June 30, 1951.

Up-To-Date Data Lacking

It was 902 printed pages of itemized expenses in small type. It covered the costs of running all Senate offices and investigations. It included such fascinating details as payment of $15 to Nationwide Food Services for 12 dinners furnished laborers detained at the Senate Jan. 15, 1951, because of night session.

But when reporters started digging into Senator Nixon's expenses, they found this report covered only the first six months of his Senate term. Mr. Thompson's office had its strict orders to give out no later information. And the next report, covering senatorial expenses of the last session, won't be available till next January.

By that time all the present stir will probably be forgotten. That is apparently one of the main reasons for keeping all this data behind a news blackout curtain, even though it involves the expenditure of public funds about which the taxpayers have a right to know.

Mr. Biffle says that he probably could give the order to open up these records for public examination. But he also says he wouldn't do it without first consulting the Senate and getting its approval.

There is no law requiring that records of Senate finances be kept confidential for so long a time. The Senate rules say nothing on the subject. It is just a custom which seems to go back farther than Mr. Biffle can remember.

One of the principal objections which senators seem to have against opening up the books is that it would force them to disclose how much was paid each employe on their office payrolls. They say this might cause hard feelings in other senators' offices.

Only Total Payroll is Reported

At the present time only the list of each senator's employes and the total of the office payroll for each quarter year are reported. Thus Senator Nixon listed 14 employes with a quarterly payroll total of nearly $16,000. This would be at the rate of $64,000 a year. But there was no breakdown on what each got.

During the Republican 80th Congress—1946-48—not even this much information was given. Senators' office expenses were completely deleted from the report, by order of the GOP majority. The Democrats reinstituted partial accounting in 1949.

Even this partial accounting is complicated by a lot of outmoded Senate rules. These rules specify that the maximum salary a senator may pay his administrative assistant is $8400 a year. But cost-of-living and other increases make this $11,646.

The fixed allowances for airmail and special delivery postage, long-distance telephone and telegrams have been similarly increased. This makes accounting more difficult.

These are but a few of the complications which will have to be straightened out by the new Congress, says Mr. Biffle. How they will be handled he, of course, does not know.

There have been many proposals that congressional expense allowances be further increased above the present $2500 tax-free amount. But this has created much public criticism.

The other principal suggestion has been to raise congressional salaries from the present $12,500 to, say, $25,000 and then let each senator and representative work out his own arrangement for meeting extra expenses.

I wish to say at this time that the only new board that is being created is the Wild Life and Fisheries Commission. In the other departments, boards already exist; for instance, in the Highway Department, you now have a board comprised of nine members drawing $6,000.00 a year each. The Commissions to replace these boards will be composed of individuals who will draw no salary, but only a per diem. We are placing in the law provisions to the effect that these commissions must have public hearings. This will offer to any interested citizens a forum to make known views and complaints relative to the law or the enforcement thereof. I feel that the Legislature, as well as your Chief Executive, have a mandate from the people to support the creation of these non-political Commissions. In every section of this State, I publicly pledged the people that I would do my best to see that legislation was enacted to put these commissions into being. I also pledged that I would do my utmost to see that these commissions were given constitutional status. On these pledges we won an overwhelming victory. I am going to keep faith; I am going to do my utmost to see that my platform is carried out. I ask each and every one of you to join with me in a joint endeavor to place this program into effect. I have heard some people object to putting this legislation into the constitution. I want to remind you once again that this was a specific campaign promise by me to the people. I want to say to each of you that in my opinion, you should certainly vote to submit this matter to the people for a vote in November.

If Amendment No. 6 is adopted by the voters the Board of Highways will become the actual operator of the department of Highways, with an executive director to carry out its instructions and attend to the actual details of operation. All of the functions of the present Highway Department are transferred to the Board of Highways by Amendment No. 6.

Amendment No. 6 (act No. 54 of 1952) proposes an amendment to the Constitution to add a new section 29.1 to Article VI to create and establish the Board of Highways.

This board is to consist of the Governor and 8 other members appointed by him, one from each congressional district.

Two of the members shall serve for terms of four years coinciding with the term of the governor and the remaining six members shall each serve for terms of six years, the terms of office being staggered so that one new member is appointed each year.

The first board shall be appointed by the governor and he shall appoint one member to serve for a term ending June 1, 1953; one member to serve for a term ending June 1, 1954; one member to serve for a term ending June 1, 1955; one member to serve for a term ending June 1, 1956; and one member to serve for a term ending June 1, 1957; one member to serve for a term ending June 1, 1958; and two members for the four-year terms to coincide with his own.

Thereafter any vacancy is to be filled by appointment by the Governor of a person whose name is on a panel filed in the Secretary of State's office, consisting of names of persons recommended for appointment to vacancies on the Board by the non-profit organizations in the state having either a constitution and by-laws or a charter recorded with the Secretary of State, or by any interested individual. The names of 7 persons (residents of the same congressional district as to which the vacancy occurs) recommended by the remaining members of the Board of Highways for each vacany are to be taken from the panel and submitted to the Governor, and from those the Governor makes the appointment.

No member is eligible for reappointment after 4 years or more of service as a member of the board.

No member except the Governor may be a member of the legislature or hold any salaried public office or employment for compensation (other than per diem) under the laws of the United States the State or any municipality or subdivision thereof.

The members are to receive no compensation other than $25.00 for each day of meeting and his actual traveling expenses in going to and from and attendance at meetings of the board and to his duties away from his domicile under assignment by the board.

The board is required to hold an open meeting at least once each month, and may hold other meetings on call of its chairman.

The board shall have general control, management supervision and direction of the department of highways. It shall have authority to establish, construct, extend, improve, maintain, and regulate the use of the State highways and bridges. It may make such studies and investigations as it thinks necessary. It shall formulate the policies and may determine the wisdom and efficiency of the policies, plans and procedures of the department and execution of the scope of its functions.

The director of highways is the executive officer of the department. He shall be appointed by the board of highways. He shall serve at the pleasure of the board. His salary shall be fixed by the board of highways. He shall serve on a full-time basis.

The above provisions relative to the Board of Highways are also contained in Act No. 81 (H.B. 5) of 1952 (which will be R. S. 48:51, 52, 71-75) and the Board is now functioning under Act 81. However, if Amendment No. 6 is adopted by the voters, the provisions of Act 5 of 1952 will be repealed and superseded and a new Board will be appointed in the place of one organized under Act No. 5.

UNITED STATES POLL

By Princeton Research Service
Kenneth Fink, Director

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 4.—A United States Poll survey just completed by Princeton Research Service indicates that active campaigning by President Truman during the next 30 days may hurt more than help Adlai Stevenson's chances of being elected.

Among voters with opinions on the subject, those who think than an active Truman campaign will hurt Stevenson outnumber those who think it will help by a margin of about 5 to 4.

Princeton Research Service's United States Poll staff reporters put the following question to a representative cross-section of the nation's voters — Democratic, Republican, Independent: "Do you think active campaigning by President Truman for Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic candidate for president, will help or hurt Stevenson's chances of being elected?" The tally:

Nationwide

Help Stevenson's chances, 37 per cent.

Hurt Stevenson's chances, 46 per cent.

No opinion, 17 per cent.

Analysis of the results of the poll reveal considerable variation in opinion on the matter among various population segments.

For example, regular Democratic voters who believe that an active campaign by the president will help Stevenson, outnumber by a margin of 5 to 3 who think it will hurt him. But among rank and file Independents, who may be the decisive factors in the election, these proportions are exactly reversed. Those Independents who believe that an active campaign by the president will hurt Stevenson's chances outnumber by a margin of 5 to 3 those who think it would help. Here's how Independents responded to the question:

Independent Voters, Nationwide

Would hurt Stevenson's chances, 53 per cent.

Would help Stevenson's chances, 30 per cent.

No opinion, 17 per cent.

In today's survey Democrats were polled as follows: "Would help Stevenson, 50 per cent; would hurt Stevenson, 30 per cent; No opinion, 20 per cent. And here's the way Republicans were polled: Would hurt Stevenson's chances, 61 per cent; Would help, 26 per cent; No opinion, 13 per cent.

The larger the community, the more inclined are the people living there to feel that Stevenson's chances will be helped if President Truman makes an active campaign. The poll by size of community:

NATIONWIDE

Help Stevenson 29 per cent in Rural Areas, 39 per cent in Towns and Cities of 2500-99,999, 40 per cent in Cities of 100,000 and up.

Hurt Stevenson 55 per cent in Rural Areas, 45 per cent in Towns and Cities of 2500-99,999, 42 per cent in Cities of 100,000 and up.

No Opinion 16 per cent in Rural Areas, 16 per cent in Towns and Cities of 2500-99,999, 18 per cent in Cities of 100,000 and up.

Cities of 100,000 and Up: Latest U. S. Poll figures show Stevenson leading Eisenhower in these big cities by a margin of 5 to 4. (Stevenson, 55 per cent; Eisenhower, 45 per cent).

Today's survey findings also show that in every section of the country, the number who believe that the president's active campaigning will hurt Stevenson outnumber those who think it will help him. Here's the poll in the various sections of the country:

New England and Middle-Atlantic States

(Me., N. H., Vt., Mass., R. I., Conn., N. Y., N. J., Penna., Del., Md., W. Va.)

Would help Stevenson, 39 per cent

East and West Central States

(Ohio, Ill., Ind., Mich., Wis., Minn., Iowa, Mo., N. D., S. D., Neb., Kan.)

OVER 1 MILLION HAVE REGISTERED

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 4 (AP)—Louisiana should have well over one million registered voters this presidential election year if the other parishes follow Orleans Parish's estimated increase.

Marcel Brunet, chief deputy registrar for Orleans Parish, estimated the 1952 total registration for Orleans Parish at 234,000. During the last presidential election year, 1948, he said, the total registration for the parish was 208,436.

Louisiana's registered voters in 1948 amounted to 908,211. Of these, 413,336 cast their ballots in the presidential election.

But the 1952 registration for the state should run around 1,021,000 if other parishes increase their registrations in proportion to the anticipated increase for Orleans Parish. The exact figures for the latter have not been computed.

Registration is now closed throughout the state.

Brunet said in four or five days the exact figures for Orleans Parish would be available, and they would be broken down as to party affiliation, sexes, etc.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. No conclusive answer can be given for all men and all women. St. Louis psychologist, H. Meltzer, concluded from experiments that men tend more to fight when angry, while women tend to cry, scream, jump or swear! A Detroit psychologist found that when men and women are equally afraid, women tend more to carry on. Certainly the pioneer women and the Wacs, Waves and Spars, indicate women are as brave as men. Any differences are probably more due to environment and training.

2. Nobody knows, but Dr. Roger Williams has opened up a new approach in his remarkable book, "Nutrition and Alcoholism." After proving that some alcoholics can be cured by diet, he says that inborn deficiencies in body nutrition and chemistry are important roots of all mental disease, and that when these deficiencies are supplied in diet or otherwise, many cases of mental disease (including alcoholism) can be cured that now fail to yield to any known treatment.

3. Yes. In a radio experiment in Denmark it was announced that musical selections would be "popular" although they were all "Classical." The public has the idea that anything labeled "classical" must be "highbrow" and only for supers. If this were true, it would never have lived through the gen-

I wish to say at this time that the only new board that is being created is the Wild Life and Fisheries Commission. In the other departments, boards already exist; for instance, in the Highway Department, you now have a board comprised of nine members drawing $6,000.00 a year each. The Commissions to replace these boards will be composed of individuals who will draw no salary, but only a per diem. We are placing in the law provisions to the effect that these commissions must have public hearings. This will offer to any interested citizens a forum to make known views and complaints relative to the law or the enforcement thereof. I feel that the Legislature, as well as your Chief Executive, have a mandate from the people to support the creation of these non-political Commissions. In every section of this State, I publicly pledged the people that I would do my best to see that legislation was enacted to put these commissions into being. I also pledged that I would do my utmost to see that these commissions were given constitutional status. On these pledges we won an overwhelming victory. I am going to keep faith; I am going to do my utmost to see that my platform is carried out. I ask each and every one of you to join with me in a joint endeavor to place this program into effect. I have heard some people object to putting this legislation into the constitution. I want to remind you once again that this was a specific campaign promise by me to the people. I want to say to each of you that in my opinion, you should certainly vote to submit this matter to the people for a vote in November.

If Amendment No. 6 is adopted by the voters the Board of Highways will become the actual operator of the department of Highways, with an executive director to carry out its instructions and attend to the actual details of operation. All of the functions of the present Highway Department are transferred to the Board of Highways by Amendment No. 6.

Amendment No. 6 (act No. 54 of 1952) proposes an amendment to the Constitution to add a new section 29.1 to Article VI to create and establish the Board of Highways.

This board is to consist of the Governor and 8 other members appointed by him, one from each congressional district.

Two of the members shall serve for terms of four years coinciding with the term of the governor and the remaining six members shall each serve for terms of six years, the terms of office being staggered so that one new member is appointed each year.

The first board shall be appointed by the governor and he shall appoint one member to serve for a term ending June 1, 1953; one member to serve for a term ending June 1, 1954; one member to serve for a term ending June 1, 1955; one member to serve for a term ending June 1, 1956; and one member to serve for a term ending June 1, 1957; one member to serve for a term ending June 1, 1958; and two members for the four-year terms to coincide with his own.

Thereafter any vacancy is to be filled by appointment by the Governor of a person whose name is on a panel filed in the Secretary of State's office, consisting of names of persons recommended for appointment to vacancies on the Board by the non-profit organizations in the state having either a constitution and by-laws or a charter recorded with the Secretary of State, or by any interested individual. The names of 7 persons (residents of the same congressional district as to which the vacancy occurs) recommended by the remaining members of the Board of Highways for each vacany are to be taken from the panel and submitted to the Governor, and from those the Governor makes the appointment.

No member is eligible for reappointment after 4 years or more of service as a member of the board.

No member except the Governor may be a member of the legislature or hold any salaried public office or employment for compensation (other than per diem) under the laws of the United States the State or any municipality or subdivision thereof.

The members are to receive no compensation other than $25.00 for each day of meeting and his actual traveling expenses in going to and from and attendance at meetings of the board and to his duties away from his domicile under assignment by the board.

The board is required to hold an open meeting at least once each month, and may hold other meetings on call of its chairman.

The board shall have general control, management supervision and direction of the department of highways. It shall have authority to establish, construct, extend, improve, maintain, and regulate the use of the State highways and bridges. It may make such studies and investigations as it thinks necessary. It shall formulate the policies and may determine the wisdom and efficiency of the policies, plans and procedures of the department and execution of the scope of its functions.

The director of highways is the executive officer of the department. He shall be appointed by the board of highways. He shall serve at the pleasure of the board. His salary shall be fixed by the board of highways. He shall serve on a full-time basis.

The above provisions relative to the Board of Highways are also contained in Act No. 81 (H.B. 5) of 1952 (which will be R. S. 48:51, 52, 71-75) and the Board is now functioning under Act 81. However, if Amendment No. 6 is adopted by the voters, the provisions of Act 5 of 1952 will be repealed and superseded and a new Board will be appointed in the place of one organized under Act No. 5.

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — The Laugh Parade: A movie writer who had been plagued for years by movie cycles is the pet hero of Will Gould, who just sold a prizefight yarn, "Counterpunch," to Producer Harry Sherman. All his life, it seemed, the writer had been hearing producers scream about "too many mystery films," "too many psychological films," and "too many" others.

"This fido," the writer told a producer, "makes a horse's neck outa Lassie on accounta he can converse in 10 different languages, pitch left-handed and sing like Ezio Pinza."

"Great," said the producer. "We'll make millions. This dog sounds sensational. What kind of a hound is he?"

"A boxer," said the writer.

UNITED STATES POLL

By Princeton Research Service
Kenneth Fink, Director

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 4.—A United States Poll survey just completed by Princeton Research Service indicates that active campaigning by President Truman during the next 30 days may hurt more than help Adlai Stevenson's chances of being elected.

Among voters with opinions on the subject, those who think than an active Truman campaign will hurt Stevenson outnumber those who think it will help by a margin of about 5 to 4.

Princeton Research Service's United States Poll staff reporters put the following question to a representative cross-section of the nation's voters — Democratic, Republican, Independent: "Do you think active campaigning by President Truman for Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic candidate for president, will help or hurt Stevenson's chances of being elected?" The tally:

Nationwide

Help Stevenson's chances, 37 per cent.

No opinion, 17 per cent.

Analysis of the results of the poll reveal considerable variation in opinion on the matter among various population segments.

For example, regular Democratic voters who believe that an active campaign by the president will help Stevenson, outnumber by a margin of 5 to 3 who think it will hurt him. But among rank and file Independents, who may be the decisive factors in the election, these proportions are exactly reversed. Those Independents who believe that an active campaign by the president will hurt Stevenson's chances outnumber by a margin of 5 to 3 those who think it would help. Here's how Independents responded to the question:

Independent Voters, Nationwide

Would hurt Stevenson's chances, 53 per cent.

Would help Stevenson's chances, 30 per cent.

No opinion, 17 per cent.

In today's survey Democrats were polled as follows: "Would help Stevenson, 50 per cent; would hurt Stevenson, 30 per cent; No opinion, 20 per cent. And here's the way Republicans were polled: Would hurt Stevenson's chances, 61 per cent; Would help, 26 per cent; No opinion, 13 per cent.

The larger the community, the more inclined are the people living there to feel that Stevenson's chances will be helped if President Truman makes an active campaign. The poll by size of community:

NATIONWIDE

Help Stevenson 29 per cent in Rural Areas, 39 per cent in Towns and Cities of 2500-99,999, 40 per cent in Cities of 100,000 and up.

Hurt Stevenson 55 per cent in Rural Areas, 45 per cent in Towns and Cities of 2500-99,999, 42 per cent in Cities of 100,000 and up.

No Opinion 16 per cent in Rural Areas, 16 per cent in Towns and Cities of 2500-99,999, 18 per cent in Cities of 100,000 and up.

Cities of 100,000 and Up: Latest U. S. Poll figures show Stevenson leading Eisenhower in these big cities by a margin of 5 to 4. (Stevenson, 55 per cent; Eisenhower, 45 per cent).

Today's survey findings also show that in every section of the country, the number who believe that the president's active campaigning will hurt Stevenson outnumber those who think it will help him. Here's the poll in the various sections of the country:

New England and Middle-Atlantic States

(Ohio, Ill., Ind., Mich., Wis., Minn., Iowa, Mo., N. D., S. D., Neb., Kan.)

Would help Stevenson, 36 per cent
Would hurt Stevenson, 43 per cent
No opinion, 21 per cent

Rocky Mountain and Pacific States

(Mont., Idaho, Colo., Utah, N. Mex., Nev., Ariz., Wyo., Calif., Ore Wash.)

Would help Stevenson, 39 per cent
Would hurt Stevenson, 48 per cent
No opinion, 13 per cent

South

Would help Stevenson, 35 per cent
Would hurt Stevenson, 48 per cent
No opinion, 17 per cent.

(Va., Ga., N. C., S. C., Fla., Miss., Ala., La., Tenn., Ark., Ky., Tex., Okla.)

Would help Stevenson, 35 per cent
Would hurt Stevenson, 49 per cent
No opinion, 16 per cent

OVER 1 MILLION HAVE REGISTERED

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 4 (AP)—Louisiana should have well over one million registered voters this presidential election year if the other parishes follow Orleans Parish's estimated increase.

Marcel Brunet, chief deputy registrar for Orleans Parish, estimated the 1952 total registration for Orleans Parish at 234,000. During the last presidential election year, 1948, he said, the total registration for the parish was 208,436.

Louisiana's registered voters in 1948 amounted to 908,211. Of these, 413,336 cast their ballots in the presidential election.

But the 1952 registration for the state should run around 1,021,000 if other parishes increase their registrations in proportion to the anticipated increase for Orleans Parish. The exact figures for the latter have not been computed.

Registration is now closed throughout the state.

Brunet said in four or five days the exact figures for Orleans Parish would be available, and they would be broken down as to party affiliation, sexes, etc.

DR. MARY MIMS GIVEN AWARD

Noted Educational Leader Honored At Louisiana College

Dr. Mims is the first woman to receive this award. The ceremony commemorating the founding of the college was begun in 1947 when Charles Dunbar of New Orleans was the recipient. Frank A. Godchaux of Abbeville received the award in 1948, Lowrey Eastland, Baton Rouge, 1949, and Morgan W. Walker, Alexandria, 1951.

The invocation was pronounced by Rev. Nathan Brooks, pastor of Emmanuel Baptist Church, Alexandria. Ralph Brooks, music major at La. College sang the "Lord's Prayer". Dr. G. Earl Guinn, president of the college, presented Professor J. E. Caldwell, head of the education department of La. college and chairman of the nominating committee for Distinguished Service award, who read the citation.

Such awards are given upon recommendation of the committee and approval of faculty and board of trustees of the college. It was pointed out in the citation that Dr. Mims had made great contributions in the field of social science. She is distinguished as teacher, lecturer, administrator and promoter of education that leads itself toward the moral and social growth and development of Louisiana and the United States.

Dr. Mims began as a school room teacher and was the first woman to become a high school principal in Louisiana. She had always taken a keen interest in the educational and social conditions around her. She has been a crusader for better communities. She has traveled and studied in England, Denmark, Norway, France, Austria, Italy and Germany. At present she is a rural sociologist with L. S. U.

Dr. Mims in her characteristic informal lecture method held the faculty, student body and friends spellbound as she discussed issues of the day.

She urged the listeners to become a part of the community in which they live. You must become a part of your community. You must make it a part of your life. You live in an age of achievement, you must become a part of its growth - a part of the national community. No longer are you not a part of the world community.

"You will be challenged and I want you to remember that no challenge comes from behind - they face you. What are you going to do with these challenges?

"You must make your home the center of your living. Autos and fur coats will not substitute for better homes and better community living.

"In our individual, agricultural, social and scientific life we must cement our living with our Heavenly Father. Remember he that doeth the will of God abideth forever."

"My young friends, if we had made advance in social science in keeping with our individual, agricultural and medical advances, we would have no more wars."

"I am ashamed of the investigations of many of our men in high office. You must obey the laws of your land and our officers should deserve our respect."

"Yo people have no security better than the soil - your land and my land. Reforestation is a challenge to you - we must conserve our forests, pastures, cattle, products of the good earth, a gift of God. In all of your living be sure to cement your life with Christianity."

Church, who will discuss the topic, "We Can, If We Will."

KIWANIS OUT TO AID ELECTION

Local Group Will Work With Boy Scouts In Getting Out Votes

The Monroe Kiwanis club, in conjunction with Kiwanis International's "Ballot Battalion," will help get out the vote in Monroe and West Monroe by working with the Boy Scouts of America. On November 3rd, the day before the Presidential election, Boy Scouts all over America will hang reminders in the shape of a liberty bell on every house in the nation, reminding the occupants that it is not only their patriotic duty to vote, but their privilege as American citizens.

The board of directors and the entire membership of the club voted unanimously to assist the Boy Scouts in this very admirable and worthy undertaking. Each Kiwanian will take a car-load of boys to designated areas so that they can place these reminders on the doors, Claude B. Hellman, 1951-52 president of Kiwanis International said, "We are a service organization and we think it is high time for service club members to get into politics. Services clubs in general have been shy of the word "politics" for much too long. Americans are kidding themselves if they think they are living under a representative government, when less than 50% of the eligible voters go to the polls. Bad officials are elected by good citizens who do not vote. We can and will do something about it."

It has been proven when such efforts are made to get more people to vote, the percentage of people voting has increased. The Monroe Kiwanis club is proud to take part in this undertaking and along with the Boy Scouts of America it is earnestly hoped by the entire membership that the people of Monroe and West Monroe will turn out to vote by the largest percentage ever.

DR. MARY MIMS GIVEN AWARD

Noted Educational Leader Honored At Louisiana College

Dr. Mims is the first woman to receive this award. The ceremony commemorating the founding of the college was begun in 1947 when Charles Dunbar of New Orleans was the recipient. Frank A. Godchaux of Abbeville received the award in 1948, Lowrey Eastland, Baton Rouge, 1949, and Morgan W. Walker, Alexandria, 1951.

The invocation was pronounced by Rev. Nathan Brooks, pastor of Emmanuel Baptist Church, Alexandria. Ralph Brooks, music major at La. College sang the "Lord's Prayer". Dr. G. Earl Guinn, president of the college, presented Professor J. E. Caldwell, head of the education department of La. college and chairman of the nominating committee for Distinguished Service award, who read the citation.

Such awards are given upon recommendation of the committee and approval of faculty and board of trustees of the college. It was pointed out in the citation that Dr. Mims had made great contributions in the field of social science. She is distinguished as teacher, lecturer, administrator and promoter of education that leads itself toward the moral and social growth and development of Louisiana and the United States.

Dr. Mims began as a school room teacher and was the first woman to become a high school principal in Louisiana. She had always taken a keen interest in the educational and social conditions around her. She has been a crusader for better communities. She has traveled and studied in England, Denmark, Norway, France, Austria, Italy and Germany. At present she is a rural sociologist with L. S. U.

Dr. Mims in her characteristic informal lecture method held the faculty, student body and friends spellbound as she discussed issues of the day.

She urged the listeners to become a part of the community in which they live. You must become a part of your community. You must make it a part of your life. You live in an age of achievement, you must become a part of its growth - a part of the national community. No longer are you not a part of the world community.

"You will be challenged and I want you to remember that no challenge comes from behind - they face you. What are you going to do with these challenges?

"You must make your home the center of your living. Autos and fur coats will not substitute for better homes and better community living.

"In our individual, agricultural, social and scientific life we must cement our living with our Heavenly Father. Remember he that doeth the will of God abideth forever."

"My young friends, if we had made advance in social science in keeping with our individual, agricultural and medical advances, we would have no more wars."

"I am ashamed of the investigations of many of our men in high office. You must obey the laws of your land and our officers should deserve our respect."

"Yo people have no security better than the soil - your land and my land. Reforestation is a challenge to you - we must conserve our forests, pastures, cattle, products of the good earth, a gift of God. In all of your living be sure to cement your life with Christianity."

BIBLE COMMENT

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

It was an ancient saying, "All roads lead to Rome."

In the world of religion and the Bible all roads lead to and from the Four Gospels of Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John.

In the Gospel story of the coming and teaching of Jesus is the climax of Old Testament hope, prophecy, and teaching. The emphasis upon righteousness and social justice, the conception of God's mercy, the vision of a world-wide religion in which, through Israel as a chosen and responsive nation, all nations were to be blessed. All these passages and many more tell of the life and teaching of the One who said that He had not come to destroy, but to fulfil.

What Jesus did in the fulfilment of that religious heritage, which as a Jew was His own, was emphasized in His parables. Religious truth had never found such clear, simple, and keen illustration and interpretation. And a remarkable thing is the universality of those storied exemplifications of truth. Though in their original Jewish setting, the Parables are independent of truth, place, and climate, and are everywhere applicable as much as when they were first uttered to the common people who "heard Him gladly."

Saint Paul, like his Master, was an inheritor of all the truth and glory of Israel in the Law and the Prophets. A devout Jew trained at the feet of Gamaliel, he remained a Jew though also he became a Christian glorying in the advantage of the Jew to whom, he said, had been committed the oracles of God (Romans 3:1-2).

Yet, though he had lived in all good conscience in his pre-Christian zeal and devotion, the Gospels and the knowledge of Jesus Christ brought into Paul's life and religion, something that had not been there before. The Thirteenth of First Corinthians, the chapter of love except for parts of the Sermon on the Mount, and some of the Parables of Jesus, seems to me the greatest sermon ever written.

The life of Tolstoy, already world famous as a novelist, was transformed into a new glory as he discovered the Gospels and gave them emphasis in such beautiful stories as, "Where Love Is, there God Is," and such penetrative applications as in such stories as, "If You Neglect the Little Fire, You Cannot Put Out the Great One." The Gospels would transform every life of those who would concentrate on "the greatest story ever told" of "the greatest life ever lived."

community, yourself. If you are sold, it's easy to sell the people who work with you, if they are loyal, good citizens, interested in the community, and that's the only kind of employees I have."

Col. Cud Baird of the Louisiana state division of employment was the second to place on the special awards group with a 239 per cent increase over last year. Not only did Colonel Baird place his own group in this special bracket, but brought in several 100 per cent firms which had been assigned to him to work, thus putting him on the Chests' cherished worker list.

Ford, Bacon and Davis, last year recognized for their phenomenal increase in contribution, have outdone themselves again and come up with an outstanding increase. Johnny Baugh gets the credit for having done such an outstanding job for this firm.

Walter Reed Refrigeration Company, the third largest percenter increase in contribution in this years' drive, makes the special award group with a 300 per cent increase.

United Gas Pipeline and Union Producing Company, always doing a job that keeps them on the honor list, this year places on the special awards group with a very substantial increase.

In making special recognition of these firms, Silverstein and McAdams said there were others to be added to this special group as the drive progresses. "We would like for the community to know that these are the folks who are growing with our community, and helping to keep it the best place to live," McAdams concluded.

more entries than the main cattle exhibit building would hold but that "arrangements will be made to accommodate everyone."

Among the familiar herds represented in the early arrivals were Jim Gilfoil's Herefords from Tallulah, Inglewood Plantation's Aberdeen Angus from Alexandria, Oscar McDonald's milking short horns and Stockland Plantation's Herefords from Sondeheimer.

A string of Aberdeen - Angus from Blue Grass Farms in Danville, Ky. was in the barn yesterday. The Blue Grass Farms was not represented here last year but promises to be one of the strong blue ribbon contenders this year.

Birdsong said that all entries in the adult cattle show may not arrive until Monday and possibly Tuesday morning. However, early arrivals yesterday represented nearly half of the entries expected, Birdsong said.

Among those expected tomorrow is a string of milking shorthorns from L. S. U. which will offer competition for McDonald's entry. McDonald's milking short - horns met no competition last year.

Judging of adult cattle will begin Wednesday morning. All other judging will be completed Tuesday.

Dr. D. T. Milam has confirmed that he and Ben Burnside would exhibit their Charbray and Charloise breed again this year. Relatively new breeds in this section of the country, the Milam-Burnside cattle drew considerable comment last year. The Charbray is a breed originated in France.

"We shot him off with our 30-caliber," Koch added.

At daybreak, Gregor ordered his tank to make a run for it down the hill. The driver, Pvt. Leonard P. Shurke of Deloit, Ia., ran over three Reds who were firing automatic weapons.

Thirty yards down the hill, Reds attacked with bazookas, but the tanks escaped and reached safety.

Koch saw it go and tried to signal Estrade to follow, but the radio was dead. Koch's tank then took off, with its machine gun spraying the road in front.

Two direct Red bazooka hits halted the tank and set it afire. Koch and five crewmen jumped out. He described their flight this way:

"The North Koreans were firing small arms all around us. One went between our legs and on both sides of us, but nobody was hit."

community, yourself. If you are sold, it's easy to sell the people who work with you, if they are loyal, good citizens, interested in the community, and that's the only kind of employees I have."

Col. Cud Baird of the Louisiana state division of employment was the second to place on the special awards group with a 239 per cent increase over last year. Not only did Colonel Baird place his own group in this special bracket, but brought in several 100 per cent firms which had been assigned to him to work, thus putting him on the Chests' cherished worker list.

Ford, Bacon and Davis, last year recognized for their phenomenal increase in contribution, have outdone themselves again and come up with an outstanding increase. Johnny Baugh gets the credit for having done such an outstanding job for this firm.

Walter Reed Refrigeration Company, the third largest percenter increase in contribution in this years' drive, makes the special award group with a 300 per cent increase.

United Gas Pipeline and Union Producing Company, always doing a job that keeps them on the honor list, this year places on the special awards group with a very substantial increase.

In making special recognition of these firms, Silverstein and McAdams said there were others to be added to this special group as the drive progresses. "We would like for the community to know that these are the folks who are growing with our community, and helping to keep it the best place to live," McAdams concluded.

more entries than the main cattle exhibit building would hold but that "arrangements will be made to accommodate everyone."

Among the familiar herds represented in the early arrivals were Jim Gilfoil's Herefords from Tallulah, Inglewood Plantation's Aberdeen Angus from Alexandria, Oscar McDonald's milking short horns and Stockland Plantation's Herefords from Sondehimer.

A string of Aberdeen - Angus from Blue Grass Farms in Danville, Ky. was in the barn yesterday. The Blue Grass Farms was not represented here last year but promises to be one of the strong blue ribbon contenders this year.

Birdsong said that all entries in the adult cattle show may not arrive until Monday and possibly Tuesday morning. However, early arrivals yesterday represented nearly half of the entries expected, Birdsong said.

Among those expected tomorrow is a string of milking shorthorns from L. S. U. which will offer competition for McDonald's entry. McDonald's milking short - horns met no competition last year.

Judging of adult cattle will begin Wednesday morning. All other judging will be completed Tuesday.

Dr. D. T. Milam has confirmed that he and Ben Burnside would exhibit their Charbray and Charloise breed again this year. Relatively new breeds in this section of the country, the Milam-Burnside cattle drew considerable comment last year. The Charbray is a breed originated in France.

"We shot him off with our 30-caliber," Koch added.

At daybreak, Gregor ordered his tank to make a run for it down the hill. The driver, Pvt. Leonard P. Shurke of Deloit, Ia., ran over three Reds who were firing automatic weapons.

Thirty yards down the hill, Reds attacked with bazookas, but the tanks escaped and reached safety.

Koch saw it go and tried to signal Estrade to follow, but the radio was dead. Koch's tank then took off, with its machine gun spraying the road in front.

Two direct Red bazooka hits halted the tank and set it afire. Koch and five crewmen jumped out. He described their flight this way:

"The North Koreans were firing small arms all around us. One went between our legs and on both sides of us, but nobody was hit."

L. A. Hunnicutt, a volunteer fireman, was overcome by smoke and was taken to St. Francis Hospital by a Mulhearn ambulance. It was reported that his gas mask slipped and he was overcome by the fumes. His condition is not reported as serious.

The fire caught during the regular Saturday afternoon rush hour and attracted many spectators. Traffic was tied up for several blocks in each direction for about twenty minutes but the Monroe police department succeeded in rerouting it and avoided a major jam.

Engine companies 101, 102, 103, 107 and Ladder No. 1 Monroe Fire Department answered the call which came at 1:21 p.m. and by 3 p.m., had the fire under control except for the smoke, which continued to come from the gutted store.

Frank Cerniglia Enjoys Independence Of Carrier

Young Future Physician Among Newspaper Boys Being Honored

"I like a feeling of independence," said outstanding carrier-salesman of the year Frank Cerniglia, son of Dr. and Mrs. F. P. Cerniglia who reside at 706 Auburn, when asked why he became a newspaper carrier boy.

Six years ago Frank started his career with the two newspapers, which eventually led to his placing third among all of the city carrier-salesmen for the title "Carrier Boy of the Year 1952."

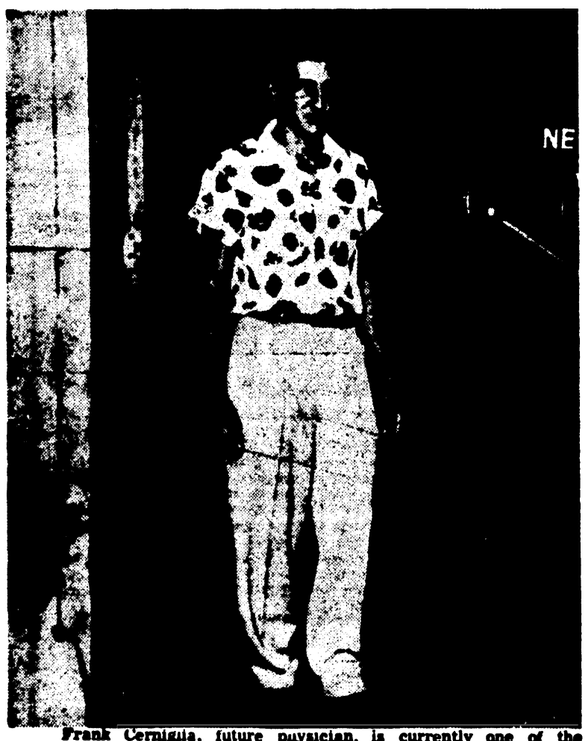
A tall, quiet, handsome youth of 19, Frank is a graduate of Neville High School and is currently in his second year at Northeastern State College where he is a pre-med student. He plans to attend L. S. U. and Tulane medical schools for his doctors degree.

While attending Neville High School, he was a member of the science club and the Thespians. His dramatic experience includes the demanding role of a gangster in the Neville production of "The Night of January 16th" and a prominent part in his senior play "Men Are Like Street Cars." He was also a member of Delta Sigma high school fraternity. Frank went out for football and basketball during his freshman year but since he is now a serious medical student, he prefers to enjoy these sports from the fans bench.

Frank has a 16-foot run - about boat and spends much of his spare time skiing on the Ouachita. He likes duck hunting in season, and enjoys all kinds of sports, but most especially, as he says, swimming and skiing.

Although Frank's father is a prominent Monroe dentist and owner of radio station KLIC, a factor which might have deterred many boys from using their leisure time to operate a business of their own as exacting as that of delivering the morning and evening news, he has met his daily duties rain or shine with the devotion of a true newspaperboy. He serves two hundred and sixty - three Monroe families residing in the vicinity of Park Avenue, Milton, Civic, Emerson, Spencer and Forsythe.

FUTURE PHYSICIAN NEWSPAPER CARRIER



Frank Cerniglia, future physician, is currently one of the most outstanding members of the News-Star—World carrier staff. Frank, son of Dr. and Mrs. F. P. Cerniglia, 706 Auburn, is being honored this week along with a half million other youths who serve their community and their democracy by placing the daily news in the homes of the American public.

INSECT MENACE STUDIED

NEW YORK (AP)—The hordes of mosquitoes and black flies, chief deterrents to human settlement in Artic regions, will eventually be conquered, says a City College professor who recently returned from a three-month study of the pests in the Canadian Artic.

Prof. Alexander B. Klots brought back over 30,000 specimens of insect material gathered in the Arctic. He says it is the insect menace rather than the climate that makes human habitation extremely difficult.

Members Are Urged By William Green To Give Financial Support

Monroe members of the American Federation of Labor have been strongly urged by AFL President William Green to give their financial support to the United Defense Fund.

The full support of the AFL, which includes several million members in thousands of local unions throughout the nation, was placed behind the UDF in a letter from Mr. Green to UDF President E. A. Roberts, in New York City.

Cecil Morgan of Baton Rouge, state chairman for the UDF, has received a copy of this letter which endorses the aims and purposes of this appeal which is being met through Community Chest and other campaigns this fall.

Mr. Green cited three reasons for his endorsement of the UDF: The splendid work of the USO for men and women in uniform; the funds devoted to relieving the hardships and suffering of the Korean people; and the services of the voluntary health and welfare agencies seeking to improve living conditions within the defense impacted communities of America.

"Not only to the members of the American Federation of Labor as their president do I recommend generous contributions to the United Defense Fund, but also to all men and women of our country who work and pray for peace and security throughout the world," wrote Mr. Green.

It takes 13 bushels of corn and 40 pounds of supplement a year to keep a sow.

One set of twins may cause consternation uproar at times in a school room; two sets of twins are potentially possible to cause a still greater upset; a third set of twins added to two sets, can cause much excitement, but when a school teacher has to deal with four sets of twins in her room, well [illegible] can best be told by [illegible], teacher of the [illegible] at Ouachita Grammar [illegible] has four sets of twins in the [illegible] little extra work for her and she is proud of the opportunity of starting off the public school education of so many twins.

These youngsters are as follows:

Jan and Jim Mitchell, son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cason Mitchell, 312 North Third Street, Monroe, born Jan. 11, 1946.

Elaine and Duane, son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Wilson, Columbia Road, born July 13, 1946.

Rayford and Alford Miller, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller, South Grand Street, born Jan. 17, 1946.

Janice and Joan Pogue, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Pogue, 301 Farrington Road, born July 11, 1946.

It will be seen that the sexes are well balanced for there are two groups of son and daughter each and the others, comprised of sons and daughters.

There are two sets of identical twins. They are Janice and Joan Pogue and Rayford and Alford Miller.

These winsome little people are quite the cynosure of all eyes, both of fellow students and of all who chance to visit Miss Gunby's room. They are well mannered, well trained and give promise of proving good students.

Their teacher is already fond of them for who could be otherwise when such interesting little folks are concerned?

There is a similarity in that all that she forgets when they make a were born in the year 1946, and half of them were born in January and at a date that in each case was right around the middle of the month, while the others were born in July and again close to the middle of the month.

That anything so unusual as to have four sets of twins in one school room was not generally known until Prin. Joseph F. Craig phoned the Morning World and stated that there was something unusual in one room at his school and asked if the fact that four sets of twins in a single schoolroom would prove sufficiently newsworthy for a picture and story.

He was informed that he had something that would attract a Ripley in his famed search for unusual things and situations.

HOBBIES

My idea of a hobby is some sort of work that one does not have to do but which one enjoys doing. That is a way to peace and happiness open to us all. The simplest kind of a job will do, as long as it brings pleasure in the doing.

In this day of the assembly line, tomorrow promises more of the same—everybody needs something to which he turns for the release of his mind and body. Work of one's own selection done under one's own power and will comes as a tonic to the mind deadened by routine and the body stiffened by the set motions of daily work.

Hospitals have introduced work as a road to health. In many cases work that a hobby demanded would have kept the patient out of the hospital in the first place. That is where the schools should come in. By teaching children skills to which they can turn in their hours of leisure, they offer them a way of preventing boredom and ill health, or the indulgence in bad habits for relief.

Parents who respect their children's hobbies, who encourage their interest in fields other than their lessons cover, are doing something that is going to make life happier and more successful for their children in years to come. It is not too easy in houses of our day to make room for the children's hobbies, but it ought to be done. Collecting stamps, skeletons of animals, live animals, making airplanes, building wagons, learning to cook, painting, modelling, carving, using water colors, and embroidery needles, all these and many more interests of children can be cultivated to the great enrichment of mind and character.

Should a child show no marked interest in anything, try to stimulate one. Take him on trips with you—shopping, visiting the Zoo, the Botanical Gardens, museums, factories, places of historical interest, to widen his experiences. No intelligent child can long resist such exciting experiences without saying, "I'm going to make one, too."

Encourage any such idea. Be a good audience and a good press agent for any such effort. Show Grandpa, Aunt Ellen and the next-door neighbor your child's latest achievement. By cultivating a hobby one insures his old age, his days of illness, days of sorrow, ordinarily empty hours, against despair and loneliness. A hobby looks trifling in the beginning, but it can become a very bulwark of the spirit.

Starting while children are young is the secret of devloping the correct routines for successful adulthood. Dr. Patri gives more advice in his leaflet P-14, "Helpful Habits." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to him, c-o this paper, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

These are the important foods for the reducing diet.

You Can Eat Your Way Back To Better Health

So much is written today about nutrition that it seems everyone would be conscious of its great importance. We have always known that one must eat to live but during more recent years the food we eat has assumed a new importance. Not only do we eat today for life but for a more youthful and vital life.

Fatigue and chronic disease have been correlated with vitamin deficiencies and the diet needs of middle age have become more specific. Today if we take advantage of scientific diet we have a chance to greatly prolong th youthful part of life.

Easy On Carbohydrates

The carbohydrates (starches and sugars) should be cut low in the reducing diet and from middle-age on. The proteins (meat, fish, fowl, eggs, milk and cheese) are important foods especially from middle-life on and in the reducing diet. Fats should be cut low in the reducing diet and from middle-age on. Vegetables and fruits are wonderful youth and health giving and vitamin content. They are essential in reducing and at every age.

Most folks become iron poor as they grow older. This should be watched carefully. The citrus fruits are our most reliable source of vitamin C because this vitamin is only lightly present in other foods, with perhaps the exception of cabbage. Surveys have shown that the general public is more apt to be deficient in vitamins C and the B family.

Overweight has for some time now been known as a shortener of life expectancy. Life insurance companies have been so aware of this that they charge higher rates for the overweight person.

Emotions Affect Health

Great strides have also been made in another exciting field. This is called psychosomatic medicine. It deals with the effect of emotions and thoughts on health. Startling correlations have been made between emotions and thougnts and physical illness.

Today we have a much greater chance to remain youthful than our forebears did. Why not take advantage of what is known about nutrition, overweight, and the effects of our mental and emotional outlook?

One set of twins may cause considerable uproar at times in a school room; two sets of twins are potentially possible to cause a still greater upset; a third set of twins added to two sets, can cause much more excitement, but when a school teacher has to deal with four sets of twins in her room, well what happens can best be told by Miss Olive Gunby, teacher of the first grade at Ouachita Grammar School for she has a lively room this fall with eight children in the group of four sets of twins.

It is quite probable that this room furnishes material for Ripley's "Believe It or Not." Miss Gunby has taught for many years but never has she had such a group of "doubles," but they are so winsome little extra work for her and she is proud of the opportunity of starting off the public school education of so many twins.

These youngsters are as follows:

Jan and Jim Mitchell, son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cason Mitchell, 312 North Third Street, Monroe, born Jan. 11, 1946.

Elaine and Duane, son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Wilson, Columbia Road, born July 13, 1946.

Janice and Joan Rogue, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Pogue, Old Sterlington Road, born July 11, 1946.

It will be seen that the sexes are well balanced for there are two groups of son and daughter each and the others, comprised of sons and daughters.

There are two sets of identical twins. They are Janice and Joan Pogue and Rayford and Alford Miller.

These winsome little people are quite the cynosure of all eyes, both of fellow students and of all who chance to visit Miss Gunby's room. They are well mannered, well trained and give promise of proving good students.

Their teacher is already fond of them for who could be otherwise when such interesting little folks are concerned?

There is a similarity in that all that she forgets when they make a were born in the year 1946, and half of them were born in January and at a date that in each case was right around the middle of the month, while the others were born in July and again close to the middle of the month.

That anything so unusual as to have four sets of twins in one school room was not generally known until Prin. Joseph F. Criag phoned the Morning World and stated that there was something unusual in one room at his school and asked if the fact that four sets of twins in a single schoolroom would prove sufficiently newsworthy for a picture and story.

He was informed that he had something that would attract a Ripley in his famed search for unusual things and situations.

HOBBIES

My idea of a hobby is some sort of work that one does not have to do but which one enjoys doing. That is a way to peace and happiness open to us all. The simplest kind of a job will do, as long as it brings pleasure in the doing.

In this day of the assembly line, tomorrow promises more of the same—everybody needs something to which he turns for the release of his mind and body. Work of one's own selection done under one's own power and will comes as a tonic to the mind deadened by routine and the body stiffened by the set motions of daily work.

Hospitals have introduced work as a road to health. In many cases work that a hobby demanded would have kept the patient out of the hospital in the first place. That is where the schools should come in. By teaching children skills to which they can turn in their hours of leisure, they offer them a way of preventing boredom and ill health, or the indulgence in bad habits for relief.

Parents who respect their children's hobbies, who encourage their interest in fields other than their lessons cover, are doing something that is going to make life happier and more successful for their children in years to come It is not too easy in houses of our day to make room for the children's hobbies, but it ought to be done. Collecting stamps, skeletons of animals, live animals, making airplanes, building wagons, learning to cook, painting, modelling, carving, using water colors, and embroidery needles, all these and many more interests of children can be cultivated to the great enrichment of mind and character.

Should a child show no marked interest in anything, try to stimulate one. Take him on trips with you—shopping, visiting the Zoo, the Botanical Gardens, museums, factories, places of historical interest, to widen his experiences. No intelligent child can long resist such exciting experiences without saying, "I'm going to make one, too."

Encourage any such idea. Be a good audience and a good press agent for any such effort. Show Grandpa, Aunt Ellen and the next-door neighbor your child's latest achievement. By cultivating a hobby one insures his old age, his days of illness, days of sorrow, ordinarily empty hours, against despair and loneliness. A hobby looks trifling in the beginning, but it can become a very bulwark of the spirit.

Starting while children are young is the secret of devloping the correct routines for successful adulthood. Dr. Patri gives more advice in his leaflet P-14, "Helpful Habits." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to him, c-o this paper, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

These are the important foods for the reducing diet.

You Can Eat Your Way Back To Better Health

So much is written today about nutrition that it seems everyone would be conscious of its great importance. We have always known that one must eat to live but during more recent years the food we eat has assumed a new importance. Not only do we eat today for life but for a more youthful and vital life.

Fatigue and chronic disease have been correlated with vitamin deficiencies and the diet needs of middle age have become more specific. Today if we take advantage of scientific diet we have a chance to greatly prolong th youthful part of life.

Easy On Carbohydrates

The carbohydrates (starches and sugars) should be cut low in the reducing diet and from middle-age on. The proteins (meat, fish, fowl, eggs, milk and cheese) are important foods especially from middle-life on and in the reducing diet.

Fats should be cut low in the reducing diet and from middle-age on. Vegetables and fruits are wonderful youth and health giving and vitamin content. They are essential in reducing and at every age.

Most folks become iron poor as they grow older. This should be watched carefully. The citrus fruits are our most reliable source of vitamin C because this vitamin is only lightly present in other foods, with perhaps the exception of cabbage. Surveys have shown that the general public is more apt to be deficient in vitamins C and the B family.

Overweight has for some time now been known as a shortener of life expectancy. Life insurance companies have been so aware of this that they charge higher rates for the overweight person.

Emotions Affect Health

Great strides have also been made in another exciting field. This is called psychosomatic medicine. It deals with the effect of emotions and thoughts on health. Startling correlations have been made between emotions and thougnts and physical illness.

Today we have a much greater chance to remain youthful than our forebears did. Why not take advantage of what is known about nutrition, overweight, and the effects of our mental and emotional outlook?

NORTHEAST TRAMPLES LIVINGSTON, 41 TO 7

REDSKINS EASILY MASTER TIGERS IN RUGGED SCRAP

Pat Mayo's Pass Interceptions Spike Bengal Aerials

The Northeast Louisiana Indians powered, passed, and capitalized on aerial interceptions to roll over the Alabama State Teachers of Livingston, 41 to 7, here last night in a game that became a bitter struggle in the last half as tempers became frayed and several players on both sides were ejected from the game.

Passes were Livingston's best weapon, but Pat Mayo, Redskin back, spiked all but one such threat with three interceptions, two of which were run back for touchdowns. Mayo gathered in one at midfield and the other on his 40 and scampered to paydirt.

Cam DeTore, Tommy Wilson, Lloyd Ray, and Press Berry each got a touchdown for the Indians. Wilson, a lineman, set the pattern for Mayo with an interception and 30-yard run-back to paydirt. DeTore cracked off tackle 13 yards, Ray made a one-yard plunge, and Berry went over from the one.

Bob Gunter downed George McCall's opening kickoff on the Northeast 40, and the Redskins mixed runs by Cam De Tore, Billy Milstead, and "Red" Nix and an 18-yard pass, Lloyd Ray to Bob Gunter to carry the ball to the Tiger 13 from where Detore smashed off right tackle to score. Boatright kicked the point.

Livingston had run only three plays when Wilson intercepted a pass by Bobby Coley on the Tiger 30 and ran it back the needed distance for the second TD. Boatright missed the conversion kick.

Four incomplete Livingston passes gave Northeast the ball on the Tiger 24. DeTore and Nix carried to the 19. Ray passed to Bob Gunter to the six. A penalty put the ball on the Bengal one, and Ray cracked the middle to score. Boatright kicked the point.

Another Livingston pass backfired late in the second period, this time Mayo getting in front of a Coley pitch in the flat at midfield and going all the way. Boatright's kick for the point again was good.

Livingston bagged a touchdown with 15 seconds left in the half when Coley finally hit Bradford with a rifle throw from his own 30. Bradford went all the way, and Aubey kicked the point that made in 27-7 at the half.

Mays duplicated his second quarter interception early in the third period, gathering in a Coley toss on the Indian 40 and going 60 yards to score. Because of Tiger offsides, Boatright got three chances to make the conversion kick good.

Northeast had a 42-yard touchdown pass, Ray to Jack Brown erased by a penalty in the third quarter, but the Tribe set up a touchdown for Berry early in the fourth when Boatright passed to Berry for a 56-yard gain to the Alabama one. Berry plunged for the TD, and Boatright kicked the point.

Several ladies played practice rounds over the beautiful course Saturday afternoon in the warm sunshine and turned in creditable scores.

Low score for the day was posted by Miss Mary Ann Villegas, who playing the course for the first time scored a 3-over-par 73.

Miss Villegas turned the outgoing nine in one over standard figures with a 36. She got a birdie 3 on the dog-leg first hole by sinking a 9-footer for a 3. Parred the second hole, then ran into a bit of difficulty on the dog-leg third hole driving into the woods behind a tree and winding up with a big 6. However, unperturbed, she was trapped on number 4, a short par 3 hole, but chipped out into the cup for a 2.

Hitting a beautiful hook drive on number 5 and a beautiful seven iron shot 5 feet to the left of the pin Miss Villegas got down in 1 putt for another birdie putting her 1 under par for 5 holes, with 3 birdies and a double bogie.

She was trapped on her third shot on the long number 6, par 5, missed a shot in the trap, failing to get out, but managed to sink a nice 12-footer for a six.

Hitting a nice 230-yard drive on number 7 and a good approach shot that fell 20 feet short, she chipped up and got in a 9-footer for a par 4.

Miss Villegas hit the 178-yard par three eighth green 6 feet short of the pin and two putter for a par 3.

On number nine she was in the rough to the right of the fairway with a 210-yard drive, 50 yards short of the green with her second shot and approached 20 feet short of the cup, getting down in two putts for a bogie 5 and a one-over-par 36.

On the back side she played well but missed the fairway on a couple of holes and wound up with a creditable 37 to give her the low practice round of the day.

Miss Villegas' score:

Villegas out	346	236	435	—36
Par in	445	353	553	—37-37—74
Villegas in	444	364	453	—37-36—73

Miss Villegas' 73 is three over men's par and 1 under ladies' par for the course.

Playing in the foursome with Miss Villegas was the defending champion Mrs. George Miller, who scored a 40-38—78. Mrs. Miller played well but had but few putts to fall, one being a 3-footer for a birdie 2 on number eight.

Rounding out the threesome was Mrs. Henry Seidel, who posted an 87 for her practice round.

Miss Betty Rushing, playing the course for the first time, fired a creditable 77, and is fully capable of giving a better account of herself in today's play.

Mrs. Gordon Perrin had a 87 in her warm-up round preceeding today's play.

Ga. Tech Rolls Over SMU, 20-7

DALLAS, Oct. 4 (AP)—Those twin running terrors of the south—Leon Hardeman and Bill Teas — shattered Southern Methodist's ramparts for a 20-7 Georgia Tech victory tonight.

They slashed and tore the Methodis line for more than 100 yards apiece in carrying the Yellow Jackets — unbeaten now in 17 straight games—to a decisive triumph as a crowd of 41,000 watched.

The game is slated for 3:00 o'clock this afternoon and if a third game is necessary to decide the winner, it will also be played at the Danville diamond.

Down-Trodden Bengals Steal Owls Own Show To Win

HOUSTON, Tex., Oct. 4 (AP) — Down-trodden Louisiana State University tonight stole Rice's rock 'em sock 'emt hunder and added its own special brand of lightning to rack up a one-sided, 27-7 victory.

Forty-five thousand persons sat almost in awe as the Tigers won their first football game this season with a defense that was almost as good as their offense in setting up touchdowns.

Not until LSU had scored once in each of the four periods did Rice really threaten, roling 70 yards in the waning minutes to notch its only tally.

The pin point passing of Norman Stevens moved LSU into scoring position for its first touchdown and Willard Rachal cracked over from the one. That was the only true offense LSU mounted until Sal Nicolo twisted and squirmed 94 yards for a touchdown in the third period, but in between the Tigers bolstered their lead. A blocked punt set up this second period tally, just like another blocked kick did their final one. Al Dogget bulled three yards for the second score and Jerry Marchand went five for the final one.

Leroy Grantham passed to Dick Moegle on a play that covered 67 yards to set up Rice's lone touchdown and Bob Garbrecht went the final yard to put it on the scoreboard after Dickie Bob Haddox ground out two yards.

Rochester Wins

ROCHESTER, N. Y.—The Rochester Red Wings of the International League won the Little World Series tonight by beating Kansas City of the American Association for the third straight time, 6 to 4. The Wings thus took the best - of - seven series.

DUKE DUSTS OFF TENNESSEE, 7-0

Volunteer Offense Finds Blue Devil Defense Potent

DURHAM, N. C., Oct. 4 (AP) — Duke, holding Tennessee to two first downs and 25 yards gained rushing, uncorked a vicious ground game today to defeat the Vols, 7-0, before a crowd of 35,000.

The Blue Devils ground game was powered by Fullback Jack Kistler and Halfbacks Lloyd Caudle and Red Smith. For about three-fourths of the game the Blue Devils, tenth ranked in the nation in the Associated Press poll, controlled the ball.

Eleventh ranked Tennessee was without the services of fullback Andy Kozar for two and one-half periods. He and Duke Tackle Ed Meadows were tossed out of the game in the second period for unnecessary roughness.

The victory was Duke's first over Tennessee since 1940's 21-7 decision. The Blue Devils are now undefeated int hree starts.

After being repulsed on Tennessee's six in the first period, Duke scored mid-way the second quarter. Tennessee tailback Pat Shires fumbled and Duke linebacker Johnny Palmer recovered on the Vols' 27. Six plays went to the three from where Kistler plunged over on fourth down. End Bill Keziah converted.

Score by quarters:

REDSKINS EASILY MASTER TIGERS IN RUGGED SCRAP

Pat Mayo's Pass Interceptions Spike Bengal Aerials

The Northeast Louisiana Indians powered, passed, and capitalized on aerial interceptions to roll over the Alabama State Teachers of Livingston, 41 to 7, here last night in a game that became a bitter struggle in the last half as tempers became frayed and several players on both sides were ejected from the game.

Passes were Livingston's best weapon, but Pat Mayo, Redskin back, spiked all but one such threat with three interceptions, two of which were run back for touchdowns. Mayo gathered in one at midfield and the other on his 40 and scampered to paydirt.

Cam DeTore, Tommy Wilson, Lloyd Ray, and Press Berry each got a touchdown for the Indians. Wilson, a lineman, set the pattern for Mayo with an interception and 30-yard run-back to paydirt. DeTore cracked off tackle 13 yards, Ray made a one-yard plunge, and Berry went over from the one.

Bob Gunter downed George McCall's opening kickoff on the Northeast 40, and the Redskins mixed runs by Cam De Tore, Billy Milstead, and "Red" Nix and an 18-yard pass, Lloyd Ray to Bob Gunter to carry the ball to the Tiger 13 from where Detore smashed off right tackle to score. Boatright kicked the point.

Livingston had run only three plays when Wilson intercepted a pass by Bobby Coley on the Tiger 30 and ran it back the needed distance for the second TD. Boatright missed the conversion kick.

Four incomplete Livingston passes gave Northeast the ball on the Tiger 24. DeTore and Nix carried to the 19. Ray passed to Bob Gunter to the six. A penalty put the ball on the Bengal one, and Ray cracked the middle to score. Boatright kicked the point.

Another Livingston pass backfired late in the second period, this time Mayo getting in front of a Coley pitch in the flat at midfield and going all the way. Boatright's kick for the point again was good.

Livingston bagged a touchdown with 15 seconds left in the half when Coley finally hit Bradford with a rifle throw from his own 30. Bradford went all the way, and Aubey kicked the point that made in 27-7 at the half.

Mays duplicated his second quarter interception early in the third period, gathering in a Coley toss on the Indian 40 and going 60 yards to score. Because of Tiger offsides, Boatright got three chances to make the conversion kick good.

Northeast had a 42-yard touchdown pass, Ray to Jack Brown erased by a penalty in the third quarter, but the Tribe set up a touchdown for Berry early in the fourth when Boatright passed to Berry for a 56-yard gain to the Alabama one. Berry plunged for the TD, and Boatright kicked the point.

Several ladies played practice rounds over the beautiful course Saturday afternoon in the warm sunshine and turned in creditable scores.

Low score for the day was posted by Miss Mary Ann Villegas, who playing the course for the first time scored a 3-over-par 73.

Miss Villegas turned the outgoing nine in one over standard figures with a 36. She got a birdie 3 on the dog-leg first hole by sinking a 9-footer for a 3. Parred the second hole, then ran into a bit of difficulty on the dog-leg third hole driving into the woods behind a tree and winding up with a big 6. However, unperturbed, she was trapped on number 4, a short par 3 hole, but chipped out into the cup for a 2.

Hitting a beautiful hook drive on number 5 and a beautiful seven iron shot 5 feet to the left of the pin Miss Villegas got down in 1 putt for another birdie putting her 1 under par for 5 holes, with 3 birdies and a double bogie.

She was trapped on her third shot on the long number 6, par 5, missed a shot in the trap, failing to get out, but managed to sink a nice 12-footer for a six.

Hitting a nice 230-yard drive on number 7 and a good approach shot that fell 20 feet short, she chipped up and got in a 9-footer for a par 4.

Miss Villegas hit the 178-yard par three eighth green 6 feet short of the pin and two putter for a par 3.

On number nine she was in the rough to the right of the fairway with a 210-yard drive, 50 yards short of the green with her second shot and approached 20 feet short of the cup, getting down in two putts for a bogie 5 and a one-over-par 36.

On the back side she played well but missed the fairway on a couple of holes and wound up with a creditable 37 to give her the low practice round of the day.

Miss Villegas' score:

Villegas out	346	236	435	—36
Par in	445	353	553	—37-37—74

Miss Villegas' 73 is three over men's par and 1 under ladies' par for the course.

Playing in the foursome with Miss Villegas was the defending champion Mrs. George Miller, who scored a 40-38—78. Mrs. Miller played well but had but few putts to fall, one being a 3-footer for a birdie 2 on number eight.

Miss Betty Rushing, playing the course for the first time, fired a creditable 77, and is fully capable of giving a better account of herself in today's play.

Mrs. Gordon Perrin had a 87 in her warm-up round preceeding today's play.

HOUSTON, Tex., Oct. 4 (AP) — Down-trodden Louisiana State University tonight stole Rice's rock 'em sock 'emt hunder and added its own special brand of lightning to rack up a one-sided, 27-7 victory.

Forty-five thousand persons sat almost in awe as the Tigers won their first football game this season with a defense that was almost as good as their offense in setting up touchdowns.

Not until LSU had scored once in each of the four periods did Rice really threaten, roling 70 yards in the waning minutes to notch its only tally.

The pin point passing of Norman Stevens moved LSU into scoring position for its first touchdown and Willard Rachal cracked over from the one. That was the only true offense LSU mounted until Sal Nicolo twisted and squirmed 94 yards for a touchdown in the third period, but in between the Tigers bolstered their lead. A blocked punt set up this second period tally, just like another blocked kick did their final one. Al Dogget bulled three yards for the second score and Jerry Marchand went five for the final one.

Leroy Grantham passed to Dick Moegle on a play that covered 67 yards to set up Rice's lone touchdown and Bob Garbrecht went the final yard to put it on the scoreboard after Dickie Bob Haddox ground out two yards.

Rochester Wins

ROCHESTER, N. Y.—The Rochester Red Wings of the International League won the Little World Series tonight by beating Kansas City of the American Association for the third straight time, 6 to 4. The Wings thus took the best - of - seven series.

DUKE DUSTS OFF TENNESSEE, 7-0

Volunteer Offense Finds Blue Devil Defense Potent

DURHAM, N. C., Oct. 4 (AP) — Duke, holding Tennessee to two first downs and 25 yards gained rushing, uncorked a vicious ground game today to defeat the Vols, 7-0, before a crowd of 35,000.

The Blue Devils ground game was powered by Fullback Jack Kistler and Halfbacks Lloyd Caudle and Red Smith. For about three-fourths of the game the Blue Devils, tenth ranked in the nation in the Associated Press poll, controlled the ball.

Eleventh ranked Tennessee was without the services of fullback Andy Kozar for two and one-half periods. He and Duke Tackle Ed Meadows were tossed out of the game in the second period for unnecessary roughness.

The victory was Duke's first over Tennessee since 1949's 21-7 decision. The Blue Devils are now undefeated int hree starts.

After being repulsed on Tennessee's six in the first period, Duke scored mid-way the second quarter. Tennessee tailback Pat Shires fumbled and Duke linebacker Johnny Palmer recovered on the Vols' 27. Six plays went to the three from where Kistler plunged over on fourth down. End Bill Keziah converted.

OUACHITA MUST NIP HAYNESVILLE TO STAY IN RACE

'AA' Conference Game Billed Here For Friday Night

The Ouachita Parish High School Lions, on the verge of being knocked out of contention for the north Louisiana district Class AA title, return home for their second conference battle of the season Friday night when they engage the Haynesville Golden Tornado at Brown Field.

While Ouachita's offense was falling apart at Bastrop last Friday night to hand the Rams a 12-7 victory, Haynesville was falling an upset victim of the Neville Tigers, 14-6, here. However, the Haynesville loss doesn't count in the Tornado's title chase, but the game with the Lions will.

Another loss would just about eliminate Ouachita, a pre-season choice as the team most likely to dethrone Fair Park of Sherveport, from championship aspirations. The Lions are put on the spot of having to win just about all their conference games with Haynesville, Fair Park, Byrd, and Bossier City while hoping Bastrop gets knocked off by remaining foes.

The Lion defense gave the Rams a good battle, but fumbles on offensive play made the Rams a gift of one touchdown and spolied other Lion opportunities.

Haynesville is a traditional foe of the Lions in rivalry dating back to 1931. Twenty halves have been played in the long series with the Golden Tornado holding the edge with ten wins against nine defeats. One game resulted in a 6-6 tie in 1933. The Tornado and Lions met twice in district title playoff games, evening the honors. The Lions won in 1948, 20-6, and lost in 1938, 13 to 7.

The light heavyweight championship belt is at stake Tuesday night at Gus Kallio's Arena when the colorful, belligerent champion, Henry Harrell, defends his crown against ever-popular Rex Mobley in a grudge battle with a capital GR.

The feud between the two grapplers began two weeks ago last Tuesday when Mobley, teamed with Mighty Scott, wrestled Harrell and "Sockeye" McDonald in a tag match. Mobley, peeved at his team's defeat and Harrell's tactics, asked for a crack at Henry the following week and in a non-title match, beat Henry the best of three falls.

Last Tuesday night, Mobley had to climb in the ring in his street clothes to cool down the roaring champ, who had repeatedly thrown young John Henning and referee Bill Barney out of the ring, and was stomping around with his face cut and bleeding, challenging one and all to face him. Mobley did, as the crowd shouted it's approval, and Harrell agreed to meet him this Tuesday in the feature attraction for the championship.

This will be the first time Harrell has defended his crown in Monroe since winning it in Shreveport from Mighty Scott, and the fans who witnessed the thriller between the champ and Henning sense the coming title bout will even exceed that excitement.

According to Gus Kallio, a police escort will be accorded Henry Harrell to and from the dressing room and the ring to avoid a repetition of last week's melee when Harrell and a ringsider got into an impromptu match.

"Wild Bill" Steddum, of Waco, Tex. will meet "Sockeye" McDonald in the semi-final Tuesday night scheduled for 8 o'clock. "Wild Bill," who has not appeared in Monroe for over a year, has been requested by many fans week after week, but hasn't been scheduled because of his own promoting duties in Waco. Gus Kallio states he thinks "Wild Bill" will make a very good opponent for "Sockeye", as from his previous appearances here, he can sock too, so there will be two "sockeyes" in the ring Tuesday in the semi-final.

Nittany Lions Muster Rally To Nip W. And M.

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Oct. 4 (AP)—A hard driving Penn State football team today thwarted what seemed like inevitable defeat for the third straight week as the Nittany Lions took advantage of a blocked kick and a fumble to outscore William and Mary, 35 to 23.

Penn State came from behind three times before subduing the dangerous William and Mary team that got off to a fast start but faded in the second half. Just as they did in defeating Temple and deadlocking Purdue, State spotted the opposition an early lead and then rallied to pull the game out of the fire.

ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 4 (AP)—Eager beavers of North Carolina State who swapped little Davidson College for big Georgia in an unusual mid-season schedule upheaval, learned with sudden horror today a mistake had been made as Georgia smashed them 49 - 0.

The unbeaten Bulldogs of reviving Georgia poured on three first quarter touchdowns, two more in the second, one in the third and one in the final quarter.

Georgia belted State with all the offensive weapons a good football team should have—a stable of runners, not just one or two; fine passing which can produce yardage either in short of long quantities; speed; a good charge line, and great quantities of vigor and spirit.

Only on defense, and then just for brief flashes, did Georgia look mediocre. Georgia's running game was directed by Quarterback Zeke Bratkowski who called on Charley Madison, Bobby Dellinger, Charles Earnest, Fred Bilyeu and Bob Clemens for the largest gains. Bratkowski and 17-year old sub quarterback Jimmy Harper did the throwing and did it well. Art Decarlo, Gene White and all the backs did the catching.

State never came close to a touchdown in this game which the University of North Carolina was supposed to play. The university, a traditional Georgia opponent, had to cancel its game 48 hours ago when four cases of polio struck on the Chapel Hill campus.

Tulane's third touchdown came early in the third period on a 34-yard toss from Clement to End W. C. McElhannonl Clement was removed from the game after being shaken up. But in the final period his successor, Fred Dempsey, passed 32 yards to McGee who bulled his way the final yards to score.

Late in the game Jim Partridge punched over from the four for Tulane's fifth and last touchdown. Clement converted four times and McGee once.

Farmerville Also Undefeated In Conference Play

The Neville High School Tigers get down to Class A championship play in earnest this week when they invade Farmerville for the first of three consecutive "A" battles that will decide the Bengals' title aspirations for 1952.

Both the Tigers and Farmers will enter the game undefeated in a conference play with Farmerville showing three conquests over "A" rivals while Neville has stopped two.

Neville's 14-6 upset of double-A Haynesville here last Friday night, the first time in 20 years the Tigers have been able to beat the Tornado, shot Coach Bill Ruple's stock soaring, but Coach Jim Tinsley's Farmers have been showing one of their best seasons in years and may be "laying in the gap" waiting for the Bengal invasion.

Right on the heels of the Farmerville game come dates with Ruston, defending district and state "A" champs, and Tallulah, newest entry in Class A ranks. The Farmerville, Ruston, Tallulah dates will wind up Neville's conference slate. Sandwiched between Ruston and Tallulah will be a battle with another "AA" foe, the Fair Park Indians of Shreveport.

JOHNNY MIZE'S BOOMING MACE RAMRODS YANKS

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, Oct. 4 (AP) — Once again big John Mize came back to haunt the National League with a crushing home run today as Allie Reynolds rammed a four-hit shutout down Brooklyn throats to square the World Series with a 2-0 New York Yankee victory in the fourth game.

Mize, nearing his 40th birthday in the gloaming of a glamorous career, jerked the 71,787 Yankee Stadium mob to its feet with a towering blast into the lower right field seats in the fourth inning.

Bouncing back from his opening day loss to rookie Joe Black, Reynolds fired his singing fast ball and dancing curve past the bewildered Dodgers to claim 10 strikeout victims, only three short of Howard Ehmke's great record in 1929.

With this tremendous pitching job, Reynolds earned his fifth World Series triumph, more than any active major leaguer. All Dodger hits were singles and never did more than one come in the same inning.

Cutting through the heart of the Brooklyn batting order with the skill and cunning of a proven ace, the 34-year-old Reynolds fanned Jackie Robinson three times and Roy Campanella and Andy Pafko twice each.

From the very first inning when he pulled himself out of trouble by blazing a called third strike past Robinson and whiffing Campanella, Reynolds was superb. In fact he started the game by whiffing Cox but Peewee Reese's single and Billy Martin's wild throw put him in a jam. He didn't need any help to get out.

Great as was Reynolds' strong-hearted pitching job, that man Mize captured the hearts of the crowd this crisp, sunshiny afternoon.

Manager Casey Stengel dragged Mize off the bench to deliver a pinch homer yesterday in a lost cause. So today he benched Joe Collins, who had gone hitless in 11 attempts and started the hulking tobacco-chawin' vet.

With Reynolds and Black knotted in another terrific struggle, Mize came up to bat as lead-off man in the fourth. With the count one ball and two strikes, he stroked one some 10 or 15 rows back in the lower right stands.

Mize, the leading active major leaguer in home runs with 355 in regular season play, bounced a double into the right field seats for his 1,999th hit. That includes his series, All-Star game and regular season base hits since he first hit the majors in 1936.

When the big fellow from Demorest, Ga., finally retired for a pinch runner in the eighth, a mighty cheer rattled windows in passing elevated trains.

It mattered little that the Yanks blasted home an "extra" run in the eighth on Mickey Mantle's 450-foot triple off relief man Johnny Rutherford and Reese's wild peg on a relay throw.

Mize did it and Reynolds locked the door. That was the story of this fourth game. With the series even at 2-2, the clubs now will return to Ebbets Field Monday for a sixth game following tomorrow's Yankee Stadium finale. If they need a seventh, it also will be played in Brooklyn. Tomorrow's game will start at 2:05 p.m. EST.

After Reynolds' fine victory with only two days of rest, Stengel named Ewell Blackwell, the ex-Cincinnati whip, to do the honors Sunday. Blackwell was 1-0 with the Yanks, working only 16 innings after he was waived out of the National League Aug. 28.

Black, also trying to come back with only two days rest after his brilliant opening win, was not as sharp as he was Wednesday. Still he allowed only three hits — a homer and two doubles—in his seven inning stay. He walked five and had men on base in every inning except the seventh.

A sensational one-handed stab of Yogi Berra's long drive by Duke Snider near the auxiliary scoreboard in right field saved Black from further trouble in the fourth. Berra, still smarting from yesterday's two-run passed ball "boner," was the next batter after Mize hit his homer. He actually hit the ball farther than big Jawn but the 400-foot poke was caught by the agile Snider.

U. Of Cal. Drubs Minnesota, 49-13

It was the Gopher's second straight loss of the season to a Pacific Coast team, and it came before a record opening game crowd, 56,708.

This play came just 43 seconds after Minnesota had opened the scoring on a 44-yard run by Paul Giel, the Big Ten all-offense record holder. Tom Keough kicked the first of his six straight conversions to give the Bears a 7-6 lead with only three minutes of the game gone.

MAROONS THUMP ARKANSAS STATE

STATE COLLEGE, Miss., Oct. 4. (AP)—Mississippi State's brawny Full back Joe Fortunato and Quarterback Jack Parker alternated touchdowns on power and speed to defeat Arkansas State's outclassed football team 41 to 14 here today.

Fortunato, a 222-pound ground grinder, gave Mississippi State's Maroons an offensive lift whenever it was needed, and personally scored two of State's six touchdowns.

Parker, fast and deceptive in his slot under the center, scored the other four touchdowns for State and kicked five extra points.

On the Arkansas side of the ledger were two outstanding backs whose performances showed brighter because of the difference in lines fielded by the two teams. Richard Wolt and Ralph Gebert engineered the Arkansas State offensive and set up the 14 points that was as much as a good Tennessee team scored against the Maroons last Saturday.

OLE MISS REBS SCOTCH AUBURN

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 4 (AP)—Mississippi coupled the running of three swift backs with little Jimmy Lear's tossing to beat Scrappy Auburn 20-7 today in the Southeastern Conference's only game.

Ole Miss scored first on a break with the game barely three minutes old, saw Auburn tie it up early in the second period, and then came back with a 70-yard sustained march to score and go out in front to stay. The Rebels punched over the game - clinching TD in the middle of the final quarter.

Auburn's ace quarterback, Vince Dooley, was injured early in the first quarter and had to leave the game but his substitute, Dudley Spence, did a terrific jot of filling in. His booming punts and passing were a constant headache to the Rebels.

Safety Enables Istrouma To Keep Slaate Clean, Upsets Top 'AA' Card

Bastrop, Bolton Hand Ouachita, Jennings Surprises

By The Associated Press

Line backer Ronnie Riley's alert play kept Istrouma of Baton Rouge on the dwindling list of unbeaten double-A football teams and gave the state's top ranking teams its 15th straight victory—a 2-0 verdict over Fair Park of Shreveport.

Riley's fine defensive play brought the defending state champions a safety in the fourth quarter last night against the team Istrouma has beaten in the state playoff finals for two straight years.

Fair Park was Louisiana's fourth -ranked team.

Big Lou Deutschmann of Holy Cross was the other big star. Deutschmann powered the New Orleans team to a 26-0 victory over Bogalusa in another interdistrict game. He scored one touchdown on his 126 yards rushing.

The two district games last night ended in upsets. Bastrop surprised Ouachita of Monroe 12-7 and Bolton of Alexandria jumped Jennings 16-6.

Fortier of New Orleans played its third straight tie game, deadlocking 6-6 with favored Baton Rouge in the only other game matching double-A teams. It was — with the Fair Park-Istrouma and Holy Cross -Bogalusa contests—an interdistrict game that won't count toward the state championship.

Five other double-A teams saw action, against smaller or out-of-state opponents. New Iberia fell 12-0 before class A Eunice. Lake Charles whipped class A LaGrange 19-7 in an intra-city contest, Nicholls of New Orleans edged Mc - Comb, Miss., 6-0, class A Crowley beat Lafayette 28-21 and class A Neville of Monroe defeated Haynesville 14-6.

Two games—Byrd of Shreveport —Bossier City and Catholic of Baton Rouge-Warren Easton — were being played Saturday night.

Istrouma's victory over Fair Park was the fifth in three years—with two of them in the state playoff finals. The game-winning safety came after Fair Park had halted an Istrouma drive on the Shreveporters' one. On the first play after his team took over on downs, Davis went back into his end zone to punt, elected to run and was tackled. The loss knocked Fair Park from the unbeaten ranks. Istrouma outgained the losers 198 to 89 yards.

Deutschmann, who has been the Holy Cross offense this year, pushed his rushing yardage total for three games to a staggering 674 yards. He scored one touchdown on a 19-yard run. Quarterback Ken Schulte threw two scoring passes—72 yards to Charley French and six to Dalton Truax. Joe Delaney got the other touchdown on a one-yard end run.

Bolton overcame a 6-3 halftime deficit with two touchdowns in the third period. Dedy Hickman ran 14 yards for one and took a 34-yard pass from quarterback Charlie Scott for the other. Scott, who had kicked a 12-yard field goal in the opening period, also converted once. Denny Marshall ran 12 yards for the Jennings touchdown.

Bastrop upset Ouachita with a fourth-quarter scoring pass, a heave from Jerry Henderson to Bobby Smith covering 40 yards. J. W. Broadnax got the first Bastrop score by recovering a fumble by Ouachita's Norman Goza in the Ouachita end zone. Frank Mobley scored for the losers on a 49-yard run and kicked the point.

Fortier's touchdown against Baton Rouge came on a 10-yard end run by Kenneth Nebel in the opening quarter. But Baton Rouge struck back with a 68-yard scoring pass from Jimmy Taylor to Ernest Kelly in the third period to deadlock the game.

Lake Charles had little trouble with LaGrange. Quarterback Jerry Lewis scored twice on one - yard quarterback sneaks. The other touchdown came in the second period on Glenn Hathaway's smash that capped a 90-yard drive. Louis Tomme got the LaGrange tally on an 18-yard end run after two minutes of the opening quarter.

Neville downed Haynesville with a 10-yard scoring run by Jimmy Dennis and a five-yard scoring plunge by Jerry Williams. The Haynesville marker came in the opening period on a 47-yard run by Tony Hartsell.

Nicholls got its game-winning touchdown against McComb in the third period. It came on a 35-yard run by Al Gabriel. Neither team showed the final punch necessary to turn the offense-heavy contest into a scoring derby.

New Iberia lost to Eunice in the opening quarter, when Bruce Broussard passed 33 yards to Richard Dischler for one touchdown. The insurance score came in the final period on Nolan Fontenot's one-yard buck.

Jimmy McCoy led Crowley over Lafayette, with touchdowns on runs of one, one and 13 yards. Charles Carlin got the other marker. Lafayette touchdowns were made by Tom Dailey on a 12-yard pass from Robert McKnight, McKnight on an eight-yard run and Carroll Baudoin on a 43-yard McKnight pass.

OKLAHOMA OVER PITT U., 49-20

Okies Overcome Fumblitis, Score In Every Period

NORMAN, Okla., Oct. 4 (AP)—Oklahoma, plagued by fumbles in its opener a week ago, regained composure and a measure of its reputation today by walloping Pittsburgh, 49-20.

Tied by Colorado 21-21 last week when they found it hard to hold on to the ball, the Big Seven Conference champions struck with authority in every period and completely overwhelmed a hard-running Pitt eleven.

Buddy Leake led the Oklahoma scoring by smashing for two touchdowns, passing for a third and kicking by smashing for two touchdowns, passing for a third and kicking six extra points. But it was battering Buck McPhail who kept the Sooners on the move by ripping the Panther defense to shreds.

McPhail, senior fullback whose rushing average led the nation last year, covered 158 yards in 20 carries today for an average of 7.0. He outdistanced the entire Pittsburgh team, which gained a net of only 128 yards on the ground, and accounted for nearly half of his team's ground gaining total of 338 yards.

PURDUE BEATS OHIO ST., 21-14

Boilermakers Dominate Play Throughout Loose Game

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 4 (AP)—Purdue's bristling Boilermakers punt and an intercepted pass into touchdowns today to defeat Ohio State's Bucks, 21-14, in a loosely played Western Conference grid game.

Ohio scored in the closing seconds of the second and last periods by cashing in on a pair of Purdue fumbles deep in Boilermaker territory.

A crowd of 75,417 saw big John Hlay, Ohio fullback, fumble on his own 26 on the third play of the game and from that spot the Boilermakers moved to a touchdown on five plays. Max Schmaling, Purdue's 205-pound fullback made the touchdown from four yards out.

From then on, except when Ohio broke loose for its two touchdowns in the winning seconds of each half, it was all Purdue.

Purdue made it 14-0 in the first minute of the second period when sophomore John Kerr blocked Bill Petersen's punt and Tom Bettis raced the ball into the end zone for a touchdown.

Score by quarters;

Purdue	7 7 7 0—21
Ohio tate	0 7 0 7—14

Ohio State Scoring: touchdowns, Borton 2. Conversions—Wood 2. bled some 25 yards for the second score. Both extra point tries failed.

Coach Stampley's fighting Vidalia Vikings came back strong in the third period, took the kickoff and marched straight down field on nice running plays, for what appeared to be a certain score. A fumble, however, deep in JMC territory by the nervous first year boys halted the threat.

It didn't halt the fight, though, and forced the Tigers to punt.

Lions Are Hard Pressed To Defeat Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 4 (AP)—The Los Angeles Rams last a vital game to the powerful Detroit Lions last night, 17 to 14, but redeemed themselves in the eyes of their legions of fans.

The defending world champions, supposedly torn by dissension over a shift in coaches, battled the highly favored Lions from start to finish before a crowd of 42,743, and served notice to the rest of the National Football League that they can still be a factor in the title race.

Yankees Series Favorites Now

NEW YORK, Oct. 4 (AP)—After beating Brooklyn 3-0 today to make it two games each, the New York Yankees were made 10-17 favorites to win the World Series.

The Yankees are 9-5 choices to take the fifth game tomorrow when they send Ewell Blackwell against the Dodgers' Carl Erskine.

SMITH-PARDON IN SEMI-FINAL

Promoter Gus Kallio and his matchmakers, Larche and Ray Campbell of Bastrop, have announced the semi-final match in the initial boxing program scheduled for the Arena Monday week, Oct. 13.

The six-round semi will be a bout between featherweights Ray "Jitterbug" Smith of New Orleans, and Earl Pardon of Oak Grove. The Monroe matchmakers feel very fortunate in securing Smith's services, as he is a real crowd-pleaser, continually on the move throwing leather, having fought the best featherweights in the country. Pardon, Louisiana state champ in '49, won the Memphis Golden Gloves in '51 and '52. Since relinquishing his amateur status, he has fought three pro fights, winning them all, including a decision over tough Johnny Navarro of New Orleans.

The main go features the Bastrop battering ram, Norris Ray, against Charley "Bad Boy" Brackey of Memphis, Tenn., in a middleweight attraction scheduled for ten rounds, though Ray's previous fights have never quite reached the scheduled distance due to his habit of K. O.'ing opponents regularly. In Brackey, though, he will be facing a tough customer, since he has lost only three of 18 pro fights, scoring wins over Jim Fondren, former Mid - south lightweight champ, Jackie Reddish, Sonny Harris, and Johnny Bozzano. A very tough and ready middleweight, he will be sure to make things hot for Ray.

There will be two four-rounders on the card to be announced later in the week, one of which will be a Negro heavyweight tussle. In the other, the Campbell boys are trying to get formidable middleweight Joe Sultan of Monroe signed.

Winnfield Thumps Many Tigers, 33-0

MANY, La., Oct. 4 (Special)—Tommy Straughan led the Winnfield Tigers to a 33 to 0 trouncing of the Many Tigers, last night in a class "A" nonconference tilt.

Early in the first period, Straughan plunged over from five yards out and Conrad Swilley converted to put Winnfield out in front. Later in the period, Straughan cracked the Many line for 25 yards and a touchdown. The try for the extra point was no good.

In the second quarter, Bobby Gates galloped 70 yards to paydirt and substitute back, Jimmy Richardson converted the score. A few plays later, Swilley intercepted a Many pass and scampered 60 yards for a touchdown.

In the opening moments of the third quarter, Straughan picked up his third tally of the night as he intercepted a Many pass and went 40 yards for the score and Swilley converted.

Many couldn't get their offense rolling and the deepest penetration they made all night was to the Winnfield 25, where they were stopped cold.

Wisconsin Visions Rose Bowl Trip With 20-6 Decision

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 4 (AP)—Wisconsin's Rose Bowl-minded Badgers struck with terrific power, generated by an atomic backfield, to crush 20-6, favored Illinois defending Big Ten champion and No. 2 team in the nation.

Rookie Quarterback Jim Haluska passed to one touchdown and directed slashing Fullback Alan (The Horse) Ameche and fleet Halfback Harland Carl to two others in a complete humiliation of the Illini before a record 52,071 crowd.

The opening conference triumph probably will stamp the Badgers not only as the league's favorite to land a Rose Bowl bid, but also to nail the Big Ten title.

The Illini left the field out - rushed by a whopping 334 yards to 60. The Badgers tried only 14 passes in timely spots for six completions and 100 yards against Illinois's 22 aerials which hit eight times for 67 yards.

Score by quarters:

Illinois	0 0 0 6—6

VANDERBILT TIES NORTHWESTERN

Freshman Krietemeyer Of Commodores Steals Show

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 4 (AP)—The arm, heart and feet of a hulking Vanderbilt freshman quarterback bewildered a big Northwestern defense today and forced the favored Big Ten Wildcats to settle for a 20-20 tie in an intersectional football battle.

A crowd of 35,000 saw 18-year-old Bill Krietemeyer again and again rally his Commodore teammates about him for scoring drives after slashing Northwestern thrusts apparently had wilted the Southeastern Conference team.

The teams traded touchdowns evenly, but Northwestern always scored first and it was always Vandy—sparked by the 195-pound Krietemeyer—that had to come from behind.

Northwestern muffed numerous scoring opportunities. But, in the second half the Vandy offense, which barely had a chance to operate the first two quarters, got its chance and more than matched the Wildcat attack.

Krietemeyer stole the show with a one-man assault that included 11 completions of 14 passes attempted, several brilliant dashes—one good for 40 yards—on optional pass-run plays, and a personal touchdown on a sneak.

The outcome probably was decided in the first half when, of six excellent scoring opportunities, Northwestern was able to cash in only one—and that came only two minutes before the end of the second period. Dick Thomas sneaked over after his passes had advanced the ball to the Vandy four.

Score by quarters:

Northwestern	0 8 7 7—20
Vanderbilt	0 0 7 13—20

Dartmouth Holds Penn To 7-0 Win

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 4 (AP)—Flashing one great scoring play yield plenty of touchdowns, Pennsylvania's highly regarded football team had to settle today for a 7-0 win over Dartmouth before 35,000 in sunlit Franklin Field.

That one play was the ball game. Quarterback Walt Hynoski fired a pass to Billy Deuber all alone on the Dartmouth 30, and the last defender, Deuber sprinted all the way to complete a 56-yard scoring play. Carl Sempier booted the extra point, and that was the scoring for the day.

JOHNNY MIZE'S BOOMING MACE RAMRODS YANKS

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, Oct. 4 (AP) — Once again big John Mize came back to haunt the National League with a crushing home run today as Allie Reynolds rammed a four-hit shutout down Brooklyn throats to square the World Series with a 2-0 New York Yankee victory in the fourth game.

Mize, nearing his 40th birthday in the gloaming of a glamorous career, jerked the 71,787 Yankee Stadium mob to its feet with a towering blast into the lower right field seats in the fourth inning.

Bouncing back from his opening day loss to rookie Joe Black, Reynolds fired his singing fast ball and dancing curve past the bewildered Dodgers to claim 10 strikeout victims, only three short of Howard Ehmke's great record in 1929.

With this tremendous pitching job, Reynolds earned his fifth World Series triumph, more than any active major leaguer. All Dodger hits were singles and never did more than one come in the same inning.

Cutting through the heart of the Brooklyn batting order with the skill and cunning of a proven ace, the 34-year-old Reynolds fanned Jackie Robinson three times and Roy Campanella and Andy Pafko twice each.

From the very first inning when he pulled himself out of trouble by blazing a called third strike past Robinson and whiffing Campanella, Reynolds was superb. In fact he started the game by whiffing Cox but Peewee Reese's single and Billy Martin's wild throw put him in a jam. He didn't need any help to get out.

Great as was Reynolds' stronghearted pitching job, that man Mize captured the hearts of the crowd this crisp, sunshiny afternoon.

Manager Casey Stengel dragged Mize off the bench to deliver a pinch homer yesterday in a lost cause. So today he benched Joe Collins, who had gone hitless in 11 attempts and started the hulking tobacco-chawin' vet.

With Reynolds and Black knotted in another terrific struggle, Mize came up to bat as lead-off man in the fourth. With the count one ball and two strikes, he stroked one some 10 or 15 rows back in the lower right stands.

Mize, the leading active major leaguer in home runs with 355 in regular season play, bounced a double into the right field seats for his 1,999th hit. That includes his series, All-Star game and regular season base hits since he first hit the majors in 1936.

When the big fellow from Demorest, Ga., finally retired for a pinch runner in the eighth, a mighty cheer rattled windows in passing elevated trains.

It mattered little that the Yanks blasted home an "extra" run in the eighth on Mickey Mantle's 450-foot triple off relief man Johnny Rutherford and Reese's wild peg on a relay throw.

Mize did it and Reynolds locked the door. That was the story of this fourth game. With the series even at 2-2, the clubs now will return to Ebbets Field Monday for a sixth game following tomorrow's Yankee Stadium finale. If they need a seventh, it also will be played in Brooklyn. Tomorrow's game will start at 2:05 p.m. EST.

After Reynolds' fine victory with only two days of rest, Stengel named Ewell Blackwell, the ex-Cincinnati whip, to do the honors Sunday. Blackwell was 1-0 with the Yanks, working only 16 innings after he was waived out of the National League Aug. 28.

Black, also trying to come back with only two days rest after his brilliant opening win, was not as sharp as he was Wednesday. Still he allowed only three hits — a homer and two doubles—in his seven inning stay. He walked five and had men on base in every inning except the seventh.

A sensational one-handed stab of Yogi Berra's long drive by Duke Snider near the auxiliary scoreboard in right field saved Black from further trouble in the fourth. Berra, still smarting from yesterday's two-run passed ball "boner," was the next batter after Mize hit his homer. He actually hit the ball farther than big Jawn but the 400-foot poke was caught by the agile Snider.

U. Of Cal. Drubs Minnesota, 49-13

It was the Gopher's second straight loss of the season to a Pacific Coast team, and it came before a record opening game crowd, 56,708.

This play came just 43 seconds after Minnesota had opened the scoring on a 44-yard run by Paul Giel, the Big Ten all-offense record holder. Tom Keough kicked the first of his six straight conversions to give the Bears a 7-6 lead with only three minutes of the game gone.

STATE COLLEGE, Miss., Oct. 4. (AP)—Mississippi State's brawny Full back Joe Fortunato and Quarterback Jack Parker alternated touch downs on power and speed to defeat Arkansas State's outclassed football team 41 to 14 here today.

Fortunato, a 222-pound ground grinder, gave Mississippi State's Maroons an offensive lift whenever it was needed, and personally scored two of State's six touchdowns.

Parker, fast and deceptive in his slot under the center, scored the other four touchdowns for State and kicked five extra points.

On the Arkansas side of the ledger were two outstanding backs whose performances showed brighter because of the difference in lines fielded by the two teams. Richard Wolt and Ralph Gebert engineered the Arkansas State offensive and set up the 14 points that was as much as a good Tennessee team scored against the Maroons last Saturday.

OLE MISS REBS SCOTCH AUBURN

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 4 (AP)—Mississippi coupled the running of three swift backs with little Jimmy Lear's tossing to beat Scrappy Auburn 20-7 today in the Southeastern Conference's only game.

Ole Miss scored first on a break with the game barely three minutes old, saw Auburn tie it up early in the second period, and then came back with a 70-yard sustained march to score and go out in front to stay. The Rebels punched over the game - clinching TD in the middle of the final quarter.

Auburn's ace quarterback, Vince Dooley, was injured early in the first quarter and had to leave the game but his substitute, Dudley Spence, did a terrific jot of filling in. His booming punts and passing were a constant headache to the Rebels.

Safety Enables Istrouma To Keep Slaate Clean, Upsets Top 'AA' Card

By The Associated Press

Line backer Ronnie Riley's alert play kept Istrouma of Baton Rouge on the dwindling list of unbeaten double-A football teams and gave the state's top ranking teams its 15th straight victory—a 2-0 verdict over Fair Park of Shreveport.

Riley's fine defensive play brought the defending state champions a safety in the fourth quarter last night against the team Istrouma has beaten in the state playoff finals for two straight years.

Fair Park was Louisiana's fourth -ranked team.

Big Lou Deutschmann of Holy Cross was the other big star. Deutschmann powered the New Orleans team to a 26-0 victory over Bogalusa in another interdistrict game. He scored one touchdown on his 126 yards rushing.

The two district games last night ended in upsets. Bastrop surprised Ouachita of Monroe 12-7 and Bolton of Alexandria jumped Jennings 16-6.

Fortier of New Orleans played its third straight tie game, deadlocking 6-6 with favored Baton Rouge in the only other game matching double-A teams. It was — with the Fair Park-Istrouma and Holy Cross -Bogalusa contests—an interdistrict game that won't count toward the state championship.

Five other double-A teams saw action, against smaller or out-of-state opponents. New Iberia fell 12-0 before class A Eunice, Lake Charles whipped class A LaGrange 19-7 in an intra-city contest, Nicholls of New Orleans edged Mc - Comb, Miss., 6-0, class A Crowley beat Lafayette 28-21 and class A Neville of Monroe defeated Haynesville 14-6.

Two games—Byrd of Shreveport —Bossier City and Catholic of Baton Rouge-Warren Easton — were being played Saturday night.

Istrouma's victory over Fair Park was the fifth in three years—with two of them in the state playoff finals. The game-winning safety came after Fair Park had halted an Istrouma drive on the Shreveporters' one. On the first play after his team took over on downs, Davis went back into his end zone to punt, elected to run and was tackled. The loss knocked Fair Park from the unbeaten ranks. Istrouma outgained the losers 198 to 89 yards.

Deutschmann, who has been the Holy Cross offense this year, pushed his rushing yardage total for three games to a staggering 674 yards. He scored one touchdown on a 19-yard run. Quarterback Ken Schulte threw two scoring passes—72 yards to Charley French and six to Dalton Truax. Joe Delaney got the other touchdown on a one-yard end run.

Bolton overcame a 6-3 halftime deficit with two touchdowns in the third period. Dedy Hickman ran 14 yards for one and took a 34-yard pass from quarterback Charlie Scott for the other. Scott, who had kicked a 12-yard field goal in the opening period, also converted once. Denny Marshall ran 12 yards for the Jennings touchdown.

Bastrop upset Ouachita with a fourth-quarter scoring pass, a heave from Jerry Henderson to Bobby Smith covering 40 yards. J. W. Broadnax got the first Bastrop score by recovering a fumble by Ouachita's Norman Goza in the Ouachita end zone. Frank Mobley scored for the losers on a 49-yard run and kicked the point.

Fortier's touchdown against Baton Rouge came on a 10-yard end run by Kenneth Nebel in the opening quarter. But Baton Rouge struck back with a 68-yard scoring pass from Jimmy Taylor to Ernest Kelly in the third period to deadlock the game.

Lake Charles had little trouble with LaGrange. Quarterback Jerry Lewis scored twice on one - yard quarterback sneaks. The other touchdown came in the second period on Glenn Hathaway's smash that capped a 90-yard drive. Louis Tomme got the LaGrange tally on an 18-yard end run after two minutes of the opening quarter.

Neville downed Haynesville with a 10-yard scoring run by Jimmy Dennis and a five-yard scoring plunge by Jerry Williams. The Haynesville marker came in the opening period on a 47-yard run by Tony Hartsell.

Nicholls got its game-winning touchdown against McComb in the third period. It came on a 35-yard run by Al Gabriel. Neither team showed the final punch necessary to turn the offense-heavy contest into a scoring derby.

New Iberia lost to Eunice in the opening quarter, when Bruce Broussard passed 33 yards to Richard Dischler for one touchdown. The insurance score came in the final period on Nolan Fontenot's one-yard buck.

Jimmy McCoy led Crowley over Lafayette, with touchdowns on runs of one, one and 13 yards. Charles Carlin got the other marker. Lafayette touchdowns were made by Tom Dailey on a 12-yard pass from Robert McKnight, McKnight on an eight-yard run and Carroll Baudoin on a 43-yard McKnight pass.

Boilermakers Dominate Play Throughout Loose Game

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 4 (AP)—Purdue's bristling Boilermakers punt and an intercepted pass into touchdowns today to defeat Ohio State's Bucks, 21-14, in a loosely played Western Conference grid game.

Ohio scored in the closing seconds of the second and last periods by cashing in on a pair of Purdue fumbles deep in Boilermaker territory.

A crowd of 75,417 saw big John Hlay, Ohio fullback, fumble on his own 26 on the third play of the game and from that spot the Boilermakers moved to a touchdown on five plays. Max Schmaling, Purdue's 205-pound fullback made the touchdown from four yards out.

From then on, except when Ohio broke loose for its two touchdowns in the winning seconds of each half, it was all Purdue.

Purdue made it 14-0 in the first minute of the second period when sophomore John Kerr blocked Bill Petersen's punt and Tom Bettis raced the ball into the end zone for a touchdown.

Score by quarters;

Purdue	7 7 7 0—21
Ohio tate	0 7 0 7—14

Ohio State Scoring: touchdowns, Borton 2. Conversions—Weed 2. bled some 25 yards for the second score. Both extra point tries failed.

Coach Stampley's fighting Vidalia Vikings came back strong in the third period, took the kickoff and marched straight down field on nice running plays, for what appeared to be a certain score. A fumble, however, deep in JMC territory by the nervous first year boys halted the threat.

It didn't halt the fight, though, and forced the Tigers to punt.

Okies Overcome Fumblitis, Score In Every Period

NORMAN, Okla., Oct. 4 (AP)—Oklahoma, plagued by fumbles in its opener a week ago, regained composure and a measure of its reputation today by walloping Pittsburgh. 49-20.

Tied by Colorado 21-21 last week when they found it hard to hold on to the ball, the Big Seven Conference champions struck with authority in every period and completely overwhelmed a hard-running Pitt eleven.

Buddy Leake led the Oklahoma scoring by smashing for two touchdowns, passing for a third and kicking by smashing for two touchdowns, passing for a third and kicking six extra points. But it was battering Buck McPhail who kept the Sooners on the move by ripping the Panther defense to shreds.

McPhail, senior fullback whose rushing average led the nation last year, covered 158 yards in 20 carries today for an average of 7.0. He outdistanced the entire Pittsburgh team, which gained a net of only 128 yards on the ground, and accounted for nearly half of his team's ground gaining total of 328 yards.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 4 (AP)—The Los Angeles Rams lost a vital game to the powerful Detroit Lions last night, 17 to 14, but redeemed themselves in the eyes of their legions of fans.

The defending world champions, supposedly torn by dissension over a shift in coaches, battled the highly favored Lions from start to finish before a crowd of 42,743, and served notice to the rest of the National Football League that they can still be a factor in the title race.

Yankees Series Favorites Now

NEW YORK, Oct. 4 (AP)—After beating Brooklyn 2-0 today to make it two games each, the New York Yankees were made 10-17 favorites to win the World Series.

The Yankees are 8-9 choices to take the fifth game tomorrow when they send Ewell Blackwell against the Dodgers' Carl Erskine.

SMITH-PARDON IN SEMI-FINAL

Promoter Gus Kallio and his matchmakers, Larche and Ray Campbell of Bastrop, have announced the semi-final match in the initial boxing program scheduled for the Arena Monday week, Oct. 13.

The six-round semi will be a bout between featherweights Ray "Jitterbug" Smith of New Orleans, and Earl Pardon of Oak Grove. The Monroe matchmakers feel very fortunate in securing Smith's services, as he is a real crowd-pleaser, continually on the move throwing leather, having fought the best featherweights in the country. Pardon, Louisiana state champ in '49, won the Memphis Golden Gloves in '51 and '52. Since relinquishing his amateur status, he has fought three pro fights, winning them all, including a decision over tough Johnny Navarro of New Orleans.

The main go features the Bastrop battering ram, Norris Ray, against Charley "Bad Boy" Brackey of Memphis, Tenn., in a middleweight attraction scheduled for ten rounds, though Ray's previous fights have never quite reached the scheduled distance due to his habit of K. O.'ing opponents regularly. In Brackey, though, he will be facing a tough customer, since he has lost only three of 18 pro fights, scoring wins over Jim Fondren, former Mid - south lightweight champ, Jackie Redish, Sonny Harris, and Johnny Bozzano. A very tough and ready middleweight, he will be sure to make things hot for Ray.

There will be two four-rounders on the card to be announced later in the week, one of which will be a Negro heavyweight tussle. In the other, the Campbell boys are trying to get formidable middleweight Joe Sultan of Monroe signed.

MANY, La., Oct. 4 (Special)—Tommy Straughan led the Winnfield Tigers to a 33 to 0 trouncing of the Many Tigers, last night in a class "A" nonconference tilt.

Early in the first period, Straughan plunged over from five yards out and Conrad Swilley converted to put Winnfield out in front. Later in the period, Straughan cracked the Many line for 25 yards and a touchdown. The try for the extra point was no good.

In the second quarter, Bobby Gates galloped 70 yards to paydirt and substitute back, Jimmy Richardson converted the score. A few plays later, Swilley intercepted a Many pass and scampered 60 yards for a touchdown.

In the opening moments of the third quarter, Straughan picked up his third tally of the night as he intercepted a Many pass and went 40 yards for the score and Swilley converted.

Many couldn't get their offense rolling and the deepest penetration they made all night was to the Winnfield 25, where they were stopped cold.

Wisconsin Visions Rose Bowl Trip With 20-6 Decision

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 4 (AP)—Wisconsin's Rose Bowl-minded Badgers struck with terrific power, generated by an atomic backfield, to crush 20-6, favored Illinois defending Big Ten champion and No. 2 team in the nation.

Rookie Quarterback Jim Haluska passed to one touchdown and directed slashing Fullback Alan (The Horse) Ameche and fleet Halfback Harland Carl to two others in a complete humiliation of the Illini before a record 52,071 crowd.

The opening conference triumph probably will stamp the Badgers not only as the league's favorite to land a Rose Bowl bid, but also to nail the Big Ten title.

The Illini left the field out - rushed by a whopping 334 yards to 60. The Badgers tried only 14 passes in timely spots for six completions and 100 yards against Illinois's 22 aerials which hit eight times for 67 yards.

Score by quarters:

Illinois	0 0 0 6— 6

VANDERBILT TIES NORTHWESTERN

Freshman Krietemeyer Of Commodores Steals Show

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 4 (AP)—The arm, heart and feet of a hulking Vanderbilt freshman quarterback bewildered a big Northwestern defense today and forced the favored Big Ten Wildcats to settle for a 20-20 tie in an intersectional football battle.

A crowd of 35,000 saw 18-year-old Bill Krietemeyer again and again rally his Commodore teammates about him for scoring drives after slashing Northwestern thrusts apparently had wilted the Southeastern Conference team.

The teams traded touchdowns evenly, but Northwestern always scored first and it was always Vandy—sparked by the 195-pound Krietemeyer—that had to come from behind.

Northwestern muffed numerous scoring opportunities. But, in the second half the Vandy offense, which barely had a chance to operate the first two quarters, got its chance and more than matched the Wildcat attack.

Krietemeyer stole the show with a one-man assault that included 11 completions of 14 passes attempted, several brilliant dashes—one good for 40 yards—on optional pass-run plays, and a personal touchdown on a sneak.

The outcome probably was decided in the first half when, of six excellent scoring opportunities, Northwestern was able to cash in only one—and that came only two minutes before the end of the second period. Dick Thomas sneaked over after his passes had advanced the ball to the Vandy four.

Score by quarters:

Vanderbilt	0 0 7 13—20

Dartmouth Holds Penn To 7-0 Win

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 4 (AP)—Flashing one great scoring play yield plenty of touchdowns, Pennsylvania's highly regarded football team had to settle today for a 7-0 win over Dartmouth before 35,000 in sunlit Franklin Field.

That one play was the ball game. Quarterback Walt Hynoski fired a pass to Billy Deuber all alone on the Dartmouth 30, and the last defender, Deuber sprinted all the way to complete a 56-yard scoring play. Carl Sempier booted the extra point, and that was the scoring for the day.

Condemned Killer Ends Week Of Hunger Strike

COLUMBIA, Miss., Oct. 4 (AP) — Luther Musselwhite, condemned to die in the electric chair three weeks hence, finished the first week of a hunger strike today—and Marion County jail attendants said doctors reported the prisoner "seemed to be unconscious."

Musselwhite, 32-year-old former GI training student, has refused water and food since a week ago today.

He wqs convicted of the 1950 slaying of a Marion County lumberman, Virgil Price. He was sent to an institution for observation, was declared sane, and the Mississippi Supreme Court recently affirmed the conviction and death penalty.

After he was found sane, Musselwhite was transferred first to the Hinds County jail at Jackson, then to the Marion County jail here.

Marion County Jailor Ephram Pittman said he did not know whether Musselwhite was "possumming" or not, but the jailor believed the prisoner had made up his mind to "cheat the chair."

Jail attendants said today that Musselwhite apparently has not moved for days from his mattress on the floor of his cell. The mattress was placed there several days ago when the prisoner kept tumbling out of the bunk.

Little Theatre Curtain Call

By SUE SHARMAN

Don't know whether I've been confusing but one more time I am going to try and unscramble the question on membership — It was brought to our attention this week that a great number of last years members who signed up at the last play of the season, are under the impression they will be billed for this season's membership.

In order to clarify this misunderstanding let us again explain that our organization of the membership campaign does not permit the needed time in which to prepare address and mail several hundred bills. To all Little Theatreites who may have been awaiting these bills in their mail, let us suggest that you merely send your check for membership to the Little Theatre of Monroe, P. O. Box 868. Or if you prefer call on some of the Little Theatre faithfuls like "Curtain Call". Ed or Mary Ellison, Julius Cahn, Russ Kettenring, Georgia Summer, Nancy Weaks, Carol Layton, Fred Millsaps, Ted Landhy, Clark Boardman, Dr. Fred Marx, Lallage Feazel, Frances McHenry, Joyce Kellogg, Fleta Latham or Paul Hewitt.

Remember the membership list closes when the 1000 mark is reached and we are much to close to that goal right now. The first play is only ten days away — yes sire, "Room Service" pulls its first curtain to the first nighter crowd Wednesday evening October 15.

Random Notes — Speaking of First Nighters, Gertrude Sandrock is lamenting the fact that she breaks her tradition this year. She won't be able to see "Room Service" until the second night. . .Mrs. Prentiss Cox, better known as Babs visited here recently as the guest of her aunt Mrs. Tom Adams. She joined her parents in Shreveport for a short stay before returning to Denver. She and Prentiss plan to be there for another year while he works on his Ph. D. degree. Prentiss received his Master of Theology this past spring. . .Found out Thursday why we have been missing Charlie Mims' friendly face about town. He has been in Houston for the past four or five weeks where he is credit manager for International Harvester. . . Little Theatre critic Lady Stahl made a swell, elegant talk before the West Monroe Kiwanis Club last Thursday when she addressed them on the subject of freedom of the press and its place in democracy. A very fitting subject for National Newspaper week. Five bels, Lady, for a good speech that we are not likely to forget soon.

Little Theatre Sketch

Henry Haas, Jr. — Who will be treading the boards of Little Theatre soon in his first major production, needs little introduction to most of the theatre goers. He is a native Monroyan and attended the Monroe City High School before going to Tulane where he received his B. S. in chemistry and biology.

Henry returned to his home city to be associated with the Flower Shoppe on North Third Street before entering service in December 1941. The Coast Guards kept him busy for the following four years as a chief pharmacist mate and he was stationed in New York, Charleston S. C., and New Orleans. It was during his stay in New York that he met Roz who later became Mrs. Haas, and whom we all remember for her grand performance in last season's opener "Abies Irish Rose."

The Little Theatre and its members are grateful to Henry for his helping hand all these years and no production for the past four years has escaped without the floral touch of Flower Shoppe Haas. He is a member of the Exchange Club and Temple N'nai Israel. He loves hunting and fishing but his work seldom permits him these pleasures.

Henry, a former board member of Little Theatre, thinks that he is being typed. In "Uncle Harry" for Kay Crandell Causey, "Outward Bound" for Blanche Oliver and the oft remembered "The Drunkard," he played a bar tender. But we also remember him as the butler in Noel Coward's one act play "Ways and Means" from "Tonight at 8:30" In this sessions opening comedy, "Room Service" Henry plays Faker Englund.

MONROE MAN FOUND DEAD

Mrs. Virdue Giordimina, his landlady, said he had visited his doctor Friday morning and stayed in bed the rest of the day. "When he didn't get up at the usual time, I entered his bedroom and found him dead," she said.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete pending arrival of relatives from out-of-state but will be under the direction of Hall Funeral Home.

'Radio-Activated' Salt Causes Suit

CHILLICOTHE, O. (AP) — Miss Blanche Hardyman, 35, of Cincinnati has filed a $251,270 damage suit against a man she claims gave her a passion stimulant instead of a health tonic that may harden some of her body tissues into bone.

The common pleas suit alleges Walter Haberer "assaulted" her by administering a "radio-active salt" solution to her several times between July 1 and Aug. 7, 1951.

Miss Hardyman claims Haberer said the "chloradium" solution would restore her vitality.

Instead she alleges her health was injured permanently and she was in danger of ossification through radium poisoning.

Ossification results in hardening of body tissue into bone. Heavy deposits of salts in some body tissues may result in ossification.

Haberer could not be reached for comment.

About a million acres of sugar beets are cultivated each year in the United States.

Condemned Killer Ends Week Of Hunger Strike

COLUMBIA, Miss., Oct. 4 (AP) — Luther Musselwhite, condemned to die in the electric chair three weeks hence, finished the first week of a hunger strike today—and Marion County jail attendants said doctors reported the prisoner "seemed to be unconscious."

Musselwhite, 32-yearnold former GI training student, has refused water and food since a week ago today.

He wqs convicted of the 1950 slaying of a Marion County lumberman, Virgil Price. He was sent to an institution for observation, was declared sane, and the Mississippi Supreme Court recently affirmed the conviction and death penalty.

After he was found sane, Musselwhite was transferred first to the Hinds County jail at Jackson, then to the Marion County jail here.

Marion County Jailor Ephram Pittman said he did not know whether Musselwhite was "possuming" or not, but the jailor believed the prisoner had made up his mind to "cheat the chair."

Jail attendants said today that Musselwhite apparently has not moved for days from his mattress on the floor of his cell. The mattress was placed there several days ago when the prisoner kept tumbling out of the bunk.

Little Theatre Curtain Call

By SUE SHARMAN

Don't know whether I've been confusing but one more time I am going to try and unscramble the question on membership — It was brought to our attention this week that a great number of last years members who signed up at the last play of the season, are under the impression they will be billed for this season's membership.

In order to clarify this misunderstanding, let us again explain that our organization of the membership campaign does not permit the needed time in which to prepare address and mail several nundred bills. To all Little Theatreites who may have been awaiting these bills in their mail, let us suggest that you merely send your check for membership to the Little Theatre of Monroe, P. O. Box 868. Or if you prefer call on some of the Little Theatre faithfuls like "Curtain Call", Ed or Mary Ellison, Julius Cahn, Russ Kettenring, Georgia Summer, Nancy Weaks, Carol Layton, Fred Millsaps, Ted Landhy, Clark Boardman, Dr. Fred Marx, Lallage Feazel, Frances McHenry, Joyce Kellogg, Fleta Latham or Paul Hewitt.

Remember the membership list closes when the 1000 mark is reached and we are much to close to that goal right now. The first play is only ten days away — yes sire, "Room Service" pulls its first curtain to the first nighter crowd Wednesday evening October 15.

Random Notes — Speaking of First Nighters, Gertrude Sandrock is lamenting the fact that she breaks her tradition this year. She won't be able to see "Room Service" until the second night. . .Mrs. Prentiss Cox, better known as Babs visited here recently as the guest of her aunt Mrs. Tom Adams. She joined her parents in Shreveport for a short stay before returning to Denver. She and Prentiss plan to be there for another year while he works on his Ph. D. degree. Prentiss received his Master of Theology this past spring. . .Found out Thursday why we have been missing Charlie Mims' friendly face about town. He has been in Houston for the past four or five weeks where he is credit manager for International Harvester. . . Little Theatre critic Lady Stahl made a swell, elegant talk before the West Monroe Kiwanis Club last Thursday when she addressed them on the subject of freedom of the press and its place in democracy. A very fitting subject for National Newspaper week. Five bels, Lady, for a good speech that we are not likely to forget soon.

Little Theatre Sketch

Henry Haas, Jr. — Who will be troding the boards of Little Theatre soon in his first major production, needs little introduction to most of the theatre goers. He is a native Monroyan and attended the Monroe City High School before going to Tulane where he received his B. S. in chemistry and biology.

Henry returned to his home city to be associated with the Flower Shoppe on North Third Street before entering service in December 1941. The Coast Guards kept him busy for the following four years as a chief pharmacist mate and he was stationed in New York, Charleston S. C., and New Orleans. It was during his stay in New York that he met Roz who later became Mrs. Haas, and whom we all remember for her grand performance in last season's opener "Abies Irish Rose."

The Little Theatre and its members are grateful to Henry for his helping hand all these years and no production for the past four years has escaped without the floral touch of Flower Shoppe Haas. He is a member of the Exchange Club and Temple N'nai Israel. He loves hunting and fishing but his work seldom permits him these pleasures.

Henry, a former board member of Little Theatre, thinks that he is being typed. In "Uncle Harry" for Kay Crandell Causey, "Outward Bound" for Blanche Oliver and the oft remembered "The Drunkard," he played a bar tender. But we also remember him as the butler in Noel Coward's one act play "Ways and Means" from "Tonight at 8:30" In this seasions opening comedy, "Room Service" Henry plays Faker Englund.

MONROE MAN FOUND DEAD

Mrs. Virdue Giordimina, his landlady, said he had visited his doctor Friday morning and stayed in bed the rest of the day. "When he didn't get up at the usual time, I entered his bedroom and found him dead," she said.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete pending arrival of relatives from out-of-state but will be under the direction of Hall Funeral Home.

'Radio-Activated' Salt Causes Suit

CHILLICOTHE, O. (AP) — Miss Blanche Hardyman, 35, of Cincinnati has filed a $251,270 damage suit against a man she claims gave her a passion stimulant instead of a health tonic that may harden some of her body tissues into bone.

The common pleas suit alleges Walter Haberer "assaulted" her by administering a "radio-active salt" solution to her several times between July 1 and Aug. 7, 1951.

Miss Hardyman claims Haberer said the "chloradium" solution would restore her vitality.

Instead she alleges her health was injured permanently and she was in danger of ossification through radium poisoning.

Ossification results in hardening of body tissue into bone. Heavy deposits of salts in some body tissues may result in ossification.

Haberer could not be reached for comment.

About a million acres of sugar beets are cultivated each year in the United States.

Draw Poker Is Fascinating

By OSWALD JACOBY and ALFRED SHEINWOLD
Written for NEA Service

One of the best poker players we know used to make it a practice occasionally to draw just one card in draw poker no matter what kind of hand he held. He would do this for about an hour or so, sometimes for nearly the entire evening.

It makes better sense than you might think at first. The one-card draw was natural, of course, when he held two pairs, a four-flush, or a four-straight. Likewise, there's nothing very strange or unusual about holding a kicker to three of a kind.

The strangest part of his draw came when he held only on pair and kept two kickers in order to draw just one card. Of course this reduced his chance to make three of a kind; and it gave him no chance at all to get four of a kind or a full house. But it gave him a fair chance to get two pairs.

Sometimes an opponent would be reluctant to bet into a one-card draw, so our friend would get a free ride with his pair of aces instead of being tempted into a losing call. More often, however, he would break down this reluctance so that his opponents would bet into his one-card draw.

This gave him a chance to drop a busted straight or a busted flush but to raise if he had filled. Most important of all, he had his opponents nervous and guessing.

Mind you, we don't recommend the one-card draw as a steady diet—particularly in a limit game. But used in moderation it can be a very effective needler of stodgy opponents.

Q—What is the best way to play an opening move of 6-4 at backgammon?

A—The general expert practice is to move one of the runners that start in your opponent's home board. The man lands one short of the point on which you have five men. There isn't much danger of being hit, and very little is lost if this man does get hit.

Q—In three-handed auction pinochle with a widow, are you required to win a trick in order to make your meld good? For example, suppose you meld roundhouse, pinochle, and two nines of trump, for a total of 300—is this enough to guarantee a bid of 300 or must you also be able to win a trick?

A—Your meld is enough. You do not have to win a trick. The requirement of winning a trick applies only in certain forms of four-handed partnership pinochle—not to three-handed auction pinochle.

Vocational School Will Soon Be Open

JONESVILLE, Oct. 4. (Special)—A new vocational trade school, located in Ferriday to serve Catahoula, Concordia and Tensas Parishes is getting ready to open its doors.

John W. Beasley of Ferriday was appointed acting director of the school by the state board of education at its August meeting.

Instruction will be offered in carpentry, farm mechanics and business administration, Beasley said, and classes will begin as soon as all necessary instructors are employed and equipment received.

Classes will be open without charge to any white person over 14 years of age.

Harrisonburg Memorial Fund Causes Discussion

JONESVILLE, Oct. 4 (Special)—Representatives from each American Legion post in Catahoula are expected to go before the police jury on Monday to discuss the disposition of a memorial fund which was collected in taxes for the purpose of establishing a World War II memorial on Fort Hill in Harrisonburg.

The fund has been the subject of much discussion and confusion almost ever since the tax was passed in 1948 to provide money for the project. Some folks wanted the money divided between the four Legion posts, some wanted a health center and still others held out for the original plan, a sort of amphitheater on Fort Hill.

For two years, since the tax was collected in full, nothing had been decided about the money, which is around $16,500. Last week, Legion executive council members agreed, finally, that the money should be used for the Fort Hill memorial, since that is what the proposition stated at the time the tax was voted.

Dorothy Dix

DEAR MISS DIX: My problem concerns the atmosphere of our home. I am unmarried, living with my parents and brothers. I am a very nervous person, and a great worrier. My folks are good, and well-meaning, but they are antisocial and easily given to arguments among themselves. I don't feel free to invite friends home, since I never know how my folks are going to behave. Worry over my home situation is making me so nervous that I find it difficult to do my work.

When I try to talk to my mother, she misunderstands me and acts as if I were trying to make trouble. S. H.

ANSWER: Your trouble seems to be entirely of nervous origin, but whether it has all originated with your family, or whether some of it bas been induced by outside worries, is impossible for me to decide. A frank discussion of the problem with your doctor or minister would yield more tangible assistance.

Learning to live with one's family can often be a difficult task. It is, nevertheless, one of life's first requirements. No matter how different your outlook may be from theirs, no one in the whole world will ever be as close to you as your own relatives. Blood is thicker than water. As a member of a large family you must learn to accept their failings, make the most of their virtues and adjust your own temperament to communal living. Any attempt to evade it will lead to ultimate unhappiness for you.

DON'T MAKE IT PERMANENT

However, I do feel that a temporary separation from your family would be good at the present time. Don't try to make a permanent break. Why not get a job in another city for awhile? This would strengthen your own independence, which seems to be weak, would give you a better perspective on the family and living your own life for a while will certainly awaken you to an appreciation of your own folks. There's no need for you to quarrel with your parents over the separation. With the help of your doctor and minister, they can easily be convinced that your health requires a change of environment. New work in a new locality should produce results, if your trouble stems chiefly from home atmosphere. Should this drastic change fail to bring about an improvement in your nerves, psychiatric treatment is indicated.

DEAR MISS DIX: How can I deal with a girl who is lacking in consideration? I am a young man of 23, going with a girl two years younger. We are very fond of each other, but she leads me into the most embarrassing situations. For instance, when we are out, if she meets a friend, she'll stand and talk for half an hour or more leaving me stranded. She doesn't even introduce us. Often when I call on her she'll extend the same treatment, engaging in some activity or talking to someone and leaving me on the side lines. D. S.

ANSWER: While it's possible that your girl friend is simply ignorant of the fundamentals of good manners, her actions are more indicative of a terrific ego that impels her to put everyone around her in an inferior light. Most erroneously, she believes that her own position is thereby exalted. It is— but only in her own eyes. Marry such a girl only if you want to spend the rest of your life basking in the reflected light of her radiant personality. Such an existence, I warn you, can become very boring.

DEAR MISS DIX: After 27 years of marriage, my husband, who was never good to me or our four children, left me and went away—no one knows where. For the first time in the 27 years, I have peace, though it's hard for me to get along.

I have met a man of 51 who is married with grown children. He claims he wants to divorce his wife and marry me when my divorce is granted. Do you think I would be doing right to marry him and have what happiness I can for the remainder of my life? I am 41. B. M. W.

ANSWER: Your life certainly hasn't held much happiness so far. Married at 14 to a man considerably older who mistreated you for 27 years, your situation calls forth nothing but pity. You can be thankful your husband left on his own accord; the hardships you will have until you are on your feet are nothing compared to those you have endured so long.

Don't add to your misery, however, by becoming involved with a married man. When you both are divorced, think of remarriage if you wish, but not before. Concentrate now on making a place for yourself in the working world.

It's Your Deal

Draw Poker Is Fascinating

By OSWALD JACOBY and ALFRED SHEINWOLD
Written for NEA Service

One of the best poker players we know used to make it a practice occasionally to draw just one card in draw poker no matter what kind of hand he held. He would do this for about an hour or so, sometimes for nearly the entire evening.

It makes better sense than you might think at first. The one-card draw was natural, of course, when he held two pairs, a four-flush, or a four-straight. Likewise, there's nothing very strange or unusual about holding a kicker to three of a kind.

The strangest part of his draw came when he held only on pair and kept two kickers in order to draw just one card. Of course this reduced his chance to make three of a kind; and it gave him no chance at all to get four of a kind or a full house. But it gave him a fair chance to get two pairs.

His biggest advantage came in the betting after the draw. Nobody could figure out what sort of hand he had!

Sometimes an opponent would be reluctant to bet into a one-card draw, so our friend would get a free ride with his pair of aces instead of being tempted into a losing call. More often, however, he would break down this reluctance so that his opponents would bet into his one-card draw.

This gave him a chance to drop a busted straight or a busted flush but to raise if he had filled. Most important of all, he had his opponents nervous and guessing.

Mind you, we don't recommend the one-card draw as a steady diet—particularly in a limit game. But used in moderation it can be a very effective needler of stodgy opponents.

Q—What is the best way to play an opening move of 6-4 at backgammon?

A—The general expert practice is to move one of the runners that start in your opponent's home board. The man lands one short of the point on which you have five men. There isn't much danger of being hit, and very little is lost if this man does get hit.

Q—In three-handed auction pinochle with a widow, are you required to win a trick in order to make your meld good? For example, suppose you meld roundhouse, pinochle, and two nines of trump, for a total of 300—is this enough to guarantee a bid of 300 or must you also be able to win a trick?

A—Your meld is enough. You do not have to win a trick. The requirement of winning a trick applies only in certain forms of four-handed partnership pinochle—not to three-handed auction pinochle.

Vocational School Will Soon Be Open

JONESVILLE, Oct. 4. (Special)—A new vocational trade school, located in Ferriday to serve Catahoula, Concordia and Tensas Parishes is getting ready to open its doors.

John W. Beasley of Ferriday was appointed acting director of the school by the state board of education at its August meeting.

Instruction will be offered in carpentry, farm mechanics and business administration, Beasley said, and classes will begin as soon as all necessary instructors are employed and equipment received.

Classes will be open without charge to any white person over 14 years of age.

Harrisonburg Memorial Fund Causes Discussion

JONESVILLE, Oct. 4 (Special)—Representatives from each American Legion post in Catahoula are expected to go before the police jury on Monday to discuss the disposition of a memorial fund which was collected in taxes for the purpose of establishing a World War II memorial on Fort Hill in Harrisonburg.

The fund has been the subject of much discussion and confusion almost ever since the tax was passed in 1948 to provide money for the project. Some folks wanted the money divided between the four Legion posts, some wanted a health center and still others held out for the original plan, a sort of amphitheater on Fort Hill.

For two years, since the tax was collected in full, nothing had been decided about the money, which is around $16,500. Last week, Legion executive council members agreed, finally, that the money should be used for the Fort Hill memorial, since that is what the proposition stated at the time the tax was voted.

Girl Scout News

It must be a great satisfaction to leaders of Girl Scout Troops to see results of the efforts they have put forth in working with girls. Some of the tangible ones we see when the girls learn to cook an outdoor meal, make a paper chart, or to sew, but it is that occasional glimpse of the intangibles that give the leaders a lift that makes everything worthwhile.

It would be nice if new leaders could talk with Eula Davenport or Wanda Hinkle to catch some of the enthusiasm they still have after working for six years with Troop 20. Watching the girls grow in Scouting until now they make long-term plans for their troop and carry them out with a minimum of help from their leaders, is indeed a source of satisfaction to all grownups concerned with the troop.

Starting their seventh year in Scouting by registering promptly, the girls elected Martha Riser president for the year and outlined plans for devoting meetings to personality improvement. At their first meeting Mrs. Eunice Lee talked with the girls about caring for their hair, after which she advised each girl individually about hair styles. We can imagine that meeting being very worthwhile and lots of fun.

Wednesday afternoon there was quite a stir at Girl Scout Camp when 16 new intermediate Scouts, 24 would-be Brownies and innumerable mothers, leaders, and small-fry gathered for a fly-up ceremony for eight girls of Troop 30. Mrs. Leon Carpenter in clever verse presented each girl to our executive director, who heard her say the Girl Scout Promise, pinned on her the trefoil pin, and welcomed her into the wider field of the intermediate program. The girls were: Loyce Ambrose, Patricia Hollaway, Peggy Jo McDougle, Joyce McMillan, Judy Puckett, Carolyn Rhodes, Rebecca Scott, Martha Gay Sinclair.

Neatly paraphrasing Sir Walter Scott and expressing what most Girl Scouts think, were the lines written by Mrs. Carpenter and quoted by Martha Gay:

"Breathes there a Scout with Soul so dead
Who never to her chum hath said,
'Of all the things I'd like to do,
I'd rather camp; Now wouldn't you?' "

That's right, judging from what we observe. The calendar at the office is full of dates for troop camping that troops have chosen. Troop 11 this week end, Troop 10 the next, and so on. Last Sunday 20 members of the Business and Professional Women's club visited camp, some for the first time, and all were enthusiastic about the possibilities for fun in the out-of-doors.

The same thing is happening in a number of fly-up, or first-year intermediate troops, but two we've heard about especially are Troops 7 and 34. The girls are busy with the important matters of choosing patrol leaders, planning their year's program to include Second Class activities, fun in all they do, community service, camping, all the things that make a well-rounded Scout program. Mrs. Bill Ervin and Mrs. Haskell Fairchild are the leader of Troop 7, while Mrs. S. C. Strausser and Mrs. Tom Keller are meeting with Troop 34.

It seems pretty certain that the Scouts are going to have a booth at the fair this week. Be sure to look for it.

From 1932 to 1936 the number of male immigrants to the United States was only two - thirds the number of female immigrants.

OFFICERS AND COUNCIL MEMBERS OF CLASSROOM TEACHERS MEET

Officers and executive council members of the Monroe department of Classroom Teachers met for luncheon at the Frances Hotel, September 27 and transacted necessary business.

Guests for the occasion were officers of Ouachita Classroom Teachers, Mrs. Carter Cozine and Mrs. F. J. Ortis.

Mrs. James N. Riddle, president, presided and introduced matters for consideration in making plans for the year's activities. She appointed Miss Cliffie Olmstead to collaborate with Mrs. Ortis in drafting a request to the fifth district organization for funds to cover expenses of representation at the southern regional conference to be held in Lincoln, Nebraska this fall. Mrs. Riddle was elected delegate with Mrs. Blair as alternate.

Mrs. Bob Burns urged all teachers to actively publicize and support passage of Amendment 25 to the state constitution and senate bill 468. This amendment would allow the proper authorities to increase the limitation of bonded indebtedness for public school construction from 15 per cent of the assessed valuation in a school district to a maximum of 20 per cent of the assessment. Mrs. Burns quoted from a letter written her by Mr. Wright, executive secretary of L. E. A., "Twenty-nine Louisiana parishes have approached or nearly approached the maximum limitation. Further improvements are legally impossible. Already conditions in some parishes amount to an emergency."

Mrs. Riddle's announcement that the local unit will publish periodically a news bulletin met with enthusiastic response.

A joint meeting of the city and parish units was planned to take place in the near future.

The month of October was designated for a membership drive. Those present were unanimous in their expressions relative to the great advantages of membership in all the professional organizations available to teachers.

Miss Joan Madison Parker Weds Donald Blanks Caldwell

Bridal Couple Exchange Vows Of Impressive Service At Lakewood Presbyterian Church In Dallas

The Lakewood Presbyterian Church of Dallas was the setting for the marriage of Miss Joan Madison Parker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Madison Parker of Dallas, Tex., former residents of Monroe, and Donald Blanks Caldwell, of New Orleans, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Caldwell of West Monroe, which was solemnized Friday, September 26 at seven o'clock in the evening.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in her off-the - shoulder wedding gown of white nylon tulle satin, with nylon satin basque fitted waist decorated in tiny seed pearls. The bouffant skirt of her gown had layers of nylon tulle over satin. Her shoulder veil of bridal illusion fell from a Juliet cap of white satin, decorated around the face with tiny seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white feathered carnations with stephanotis fashioned on net and tied with satin ribbons.

Preceding the bride to the altar was her sister, the maid - of - honor and only attendant, Miss Patricia Parker. She was gowned in a ballerina length strapless decollete gown fashioned of pink nylon satin trimmed in seed pearls. Her skirt had layers of pink nylon tulle with a pink nylon tulle stole with matching shoes. She carried an old-fashioned hand bouquet of pink feathered carnations on nylon tulle.

Reception

Immediately following the wedding, a reception was held at the home of the bride. Throughout the receiving rooms there were lovely decorations of shaded asters. The brides' table was covered with a handsome cloth, centered with a tiered wedding confection. At one end of the table, lime ice was served from a crystal punch bowl, presided over by Miss Nancy Parker.

Included in the out-of-town guests were Capt. and Mrs. Harry Wagner and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Caldwell, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Caldwell, Jr. of Shreveport and Monroe.

After a brief honeymoon including Gulfport, Biloxi and other points, the bride and groom will make their home in New Orleans.

The bride received her degree from Louisiana State University this year. She was a magna cum laude graduate. She is a member of Delta Delta Delta social sorority and Phi Kappa Phi honor society.

The bridegroom also finished at Louisiana State University, and took a science course at the University of Wyoming this summer. He is a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity and Geological Mining honor society. He is associated with Humble Oil Company as a geologist.

Bastrop, La.

Dear Editor:

In view of the fact that newspapers usually publish matters of special importance, I think there should not be any discrimination between the social importance of matters. Now then, in today's edition of the Morning World, there appears an article stating that Governor Shivers is going to join "forces" with Governors Byrnes andKennon, and vote for Eisenhower. Please not the phrase, "join forces". I wonder how much force, or how many points does his excellency think his vote will make?

Here is a coincidence. There are three old Negroes here in Bastrop, who haven't ever voted in an election. They have registered, and are going to vote. All three of them declare that they are going to make their votes kill the governor's votes. So there you have the "importance". Those three old Negroes' votes are just as important as the governors' votes. Please give them publicity in the forum.

Yours truly,

ASCAP LISTS WORKS

NEW YORK (AP)—The ASCAP Index of 1952—two large volumes containing copyright information on some 100,000 of the more familiar musical works whose performing rights are in the ASCAP repertory—has been compiled by the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers. This is said to be the largest work of its kind ever prepared by a performing right society.

An ASCAP spokesman said that this is not to be regarded as a complete catalog of ASCAP works for such a work would embrace several times the listings in these two large volumes. The contents of the printed volumes have been compiled from the performance records of the Society.

ASCAP, organized in 1914, now has a membership of more than 3,000 composers, authors and publishers. Several of the composer and author members have individual repertories of more than 1,000 works. Members are to be found in practically every state and territory of the United States, and a few members now are living abroad.

MISS JEAN MILNER FETED AT LINEN SHOWER FRIDAY

Miss Jean Milner, bride-elect of Lewis G. Weil, was honored with a linen shower at the Recreation Center Friday afternoon from 4:00 to 5:00 o'clock. The hostess, Mrs. J. D. Feazel, presented the honoree with a corsage of feathered chrysanthemums and tuberoses. The honoree was wearing a black faille dress.

The refreshment table was covered with a green and white linen cloth with a centerpiece of daisies and white tapering candles in crystal holders. Punch was served with individual cakes with the bride elect and groom - elect's initial in green and white.

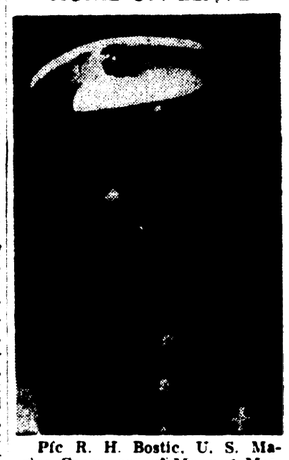
The gifts were placed in an open umbrella with a miniature bride groom dangling from the handle. Games were played during the afternoon.

Sherrouse Grammar School Plans Carnival

Mrs Buddy Harrison, president of the Sherrouse Grammar School, recently addressed a meeting of the budget and finance committee and room mothers "The problem for our organization this year," she stated, "is to raise money for library books, curtains, furniture, maps, globes, plants for the schoolyard, additional play equipment, and a few other small items." It was pointed out that additional school rooms, additional teachers, and a great increase in enrollment called for more books and equipment.

The group made plans for a Halloween carnival to be held Thursday, 6:30 p. m., October 30. As a climax to the carnival a womanless wedding will be held in the new auditorium. P.-T. A. Dads will be cast in this production and it will be directed by Mr. Pete Levert. In discussing further the many needs of the school and how best the P.-T. A. can help, those present agreed that the wise thing to do would be to consult with the school board and the horticulturist, Mr. Wimberly, before digging up any plants at home. Mrs. Harrison stated that the enthusiasm and interest of the group was gratifying and will help to make a better Sherrouse P.-T. A., a better school and a better community. She extends an invitation to the public to attend the Sherrouse carnival on October 30 at the school.

HOME ON LEAVE



Pfc R. H. Bostic, U. S. Marine Corps, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Bostic, 515 Oak St. recently spent a two weeks leave with his parents and has reported to the Marine base at Camp Pendleton for his assignment for overseas duty in Japan and Korea. He enlisted in May, 1950, receiving his boot camp training at Paris Island, South Carolina where he majored in a special school for demolition work. Before enlisting, Bostic was an Eagle Scout and had completed 3 years in the National Guard. He held the rank of Cpl. He also was a student of Ouachita Parish High School and the Ouachita Valley Vocational School.

SEEDLINGS OF CYPRESS READY

Will Be Available To Farmers From La. Forestry Commission

Cypress seedlings — about a half million of them — are available to farmers this year, according to H. D. Story, chief of forest management for the Louisiana Forestry Commission. The seedlings are sold to farmers at the same price they pay for pine seedlings: 50 cents a thousand for the first five thousand.

The price of quantities over 5,000 will be no more than the cost of producing the seedlings at the commission nurseries, Story said, but production costs have not been determined yet.

Any farmer who owns land with creeks and bayous will find the planting of cypress profitable, he said, because the creek bottoms are good for little else. The seedlings should be planted in low areas where the choice of species is rather limited because of a periodic overflow.

One thing to keep in mind, though, when planting cypress seedlings, he suggested, is to plant in places where the young trees can get sunlight and compete with surrounding species. The best time to plant these seedlings is immediately after logging operations.

This year's crop of cypress trees is the second produced by the forestry agency. More than two million seedlings have been produced so far. Seedlings were planted last year as far south as New Orleans and as far north as Bastrop.

Story reminded that there will be a lower express rate on seedlings shipped from the commission nurseries this year than in the past. All shipments via Railway Express Agency will carry a special rate, instead of the second-class rate used in past years.

PTA Open House Set At Winnsboro High

WINNSBORO, Oct. 4.—(Special)—The Winnsboro Parent - Teacher association will hold open house Monday night, October 6, at 8 o'clock in the high school. Parents will be given the opportunity to meet the teachers and visit the various classrooms. Mrs. B. S. Landis, Jr. 1951-52 president of the P.-T. A. reported this week.

Officers for the year will be installed at this important gathering. W. B. Glover, superintendent of the parish schools, will address the group. His topic will be "Parents and Teachers Working Together for the Education of the Child."

Mrs W. H. Bengtson will be installed as the new president of the association.

Immediately following the meeting in the auditorium, the parents will visit the different classrooms. Room mothers will act as assistant hostesses.

Every parent of children attending the Winnsboro High School is especially invited to attend and examine the curriculum being offered this year.

The Home Shift

BY MILDRED SWIFT

Well—Hello-no rain yet. And—nothing we can do about it but talk. My poor plants seem to look up at me and say "Please just let me die. I'm so tired of that artificial water."

Dates' N Doin's

And—there's—plenty doin' in the coming weeks and months. First, in case you missed the column about the tailoring class. Enroll now for the class to be given the week of January 26, 1953.

At last I have the dates for the Landscaping School. They are Wednesday, November 12 and Thursday, November 13. Call and enroll at once. We can only take twenty in each class if we do justice to all who attend. The class will last all day, from 9 till 4 with one hour for lunch. Make arrangements for your family ahead of time so you can be on time and stay the full time. You may come either day—not both days. The fundamentals of landscaping will be given and demonstrated with slides. You should be able to plan and plant your own yard after taking the class.

A special treat for all women of all denominations in North Louisiana is the benefit Fine Arts Exhibit on October 17. Place — home of Mrs. E. N. Jackson, 209 Roselawn, Monroe. Time—from 3 until 6 o'clock, which makes it possible for us working folks to go. Mildred Jackson tells me there will be an unusual art exhibit and a local decorating company will have a display of materials. That very gifted Dot Breard (one of Alda Graves four girls, all so talented) is chairman of the fall arrangements of flowers, fruits and vegetables. The Methodist women will make these arrangements and use the proceeds of the exhibit for further beautification of their Methodist Parsonage.

Garden Ramblings

Really enjoyed visiting in Mrs. Primos' yard, 1505 Milton. I surely want her and Mrs. A. R. Butler to get acquainted. They both have so many unusual plants and grow them so well. The Otto Passman yard, 1510 South Grand is another beautifully kept place. It would be worth your time to visit both of these lovely garden.

Sis Williams (Mrs. C. W. Williams 706 South Second St.) and I had fun planning her front planting to make the house and lot look wider. As in many of our yards, Sis had overgrown plants that extended 19 or twelve feet out to the front of the house. We planned to move these plants to the back for screen planting, narrow the beds to four feet and plant very low growing shrubs. I can just see the house and lot taking on width. You may have a similar problem. Two of the best small shrubs for foundation planting are the Inkberry Holly and the upright dwarf gardenia. The holly is not effected by the coldest of weather. The gardenia doesn't stand the freeze but it is much cheaper. The fifty cent bucket plant is a nice size to put out, while the Inkberry runs from $2.50 to $4.00 per plant.

I've found from experience that azaleas grow extremely well under oak and pines because of the root growth of the trees. Few if any other trees will allow the azalea to thrive under their branches. I have some pink Formosas that have more than doubled their growth. The bed is under a pine and three other pines are close by.

Food News

Honey is on the plentiful food list. Lunch Room Managers may want our bulletin "Recipes Using Louisiana Syrup and Honey." Mrs. Dixie Cann called for one this week. Call 3-2251 and make your request.

Other foods on the plentiful food list for the month are turkeys stewing chickens, frozen fish, cottage cheese, buttermilk, lard, salad oils, vegetable shortening, table fats, small eggs, pears, apples, grapes and squash.

When Electric Power Fails

When the electric power fails for some cause outside the home system—for example, during a thunder storm—you can save fuses, motors, wires and trouble by disconnecting some of the appliances while the current is off. Since household motors such as those in refrigerators, home freezers, pumps, and water heaters need three or four times as much current in starting as in running, the automatic starting of all at once when power is restored after a failure may put an overload on the wires. This overload may result in fuses blowing out and motors becoming overheated. Disconnecting some of the appliances while the current is off and turning them on gradually when the current comes back on, can save you both trouble and money.

That's all—see you next month in this same column.

CUTS AIRPLANE COSTS

NEW YORK (AP)—Standardization of service specifications for the aircraft industry has resulted in savings of millions of dollars for the taxpayer, says the Aircraft Industries Association.

During the past four years, 251 designs have standardized 19,410 hardware parts for aircraft engines and propellers alone. A typical saving the association says, is that of an engine bolt and nut which cost $2.63 before standardization. Now it costs $1.

The association says power-plant makers with service contracts will use 78 million fewer kinds of parts this year than formerly.

DISILLUSION BOY

BUTTE, Mont. (AP)—Montana may be in the heart of the TV cowboy's bad lands, but a 4-year-old New Yorker is sorrowfully learning that civilization has encroached upon an area where even brave men once walked with caution.

The youngster critically examined an undersheriff as his parents filed an automobile accident report. "How come you only got one gun?" the boy finally said. "Western sheriffs is supposed to have two."

When two deputies with only one gun each and dressed in business suits and ordinary hats left the office and jumped into an automobile to answer a call, the boy became disgusted. "Let's go find some Indians," he said to his father, Robertson Short of Norwood, N. Y.

Select Colors To Suit Personality

A few people seem to have an instinct for choosing the right colors, but most have to learn the art, suggests Euna D. Spielman, home demonstration agent, L. S. U. Agricultural Extension Service. A few pointers will help most women to select their most becoming colors.

"All colors are the primary colors of red, blue, and yellow, or are varying mixtures of two or more of these colors to form all the in-between hues," she points out. "The different mixtures vary in their becomingness to different people, so that the answer to "Can I Wear Red?" would depend upon whether the person chooses a true red, a yellow-red or a blue-red. In addition to these colors and mixtures, there are the neutrals of black, white and gray.

"The lightness or darkness, or value, of a color is also important in choosing becoming hues. Dark values are more becoming to some people than are medium or light tones — or just the opposite. The darker values also seem to reduce size, while white and light values make people look larger.

"Brightness or intensity of color is another factor to consider. Very intense or bright colors are hard for most people to wear, while soft, greyed ones are more generally becoming. Colors containing red and yellow give a warm impression, while those containing blue seem cooler. Light colors are cooler in effect than dark shades of the same color, and warm colors give an impression of larger size than do the cool colors."

The well - dressed woman knows how to select colors that harmonize with her personal coloring, colors she likes and enjoys, colors suited to her size and figure, and colors right for the occasion and use, believes the agent.

Select Colors To Suit Personality

A few people seem to have an instinct for choosing the right colors, but most have to learn the art, suggests Euna D. Spielman, home demonstration agent, L. S. U. Agricultural Extension Service. A few pointers will help most women to select their most becoming colors.

"All colors are the primary colors of red, blue, and yellow, or are varying mixtures of two or more of these colors to form all the in-between hues," she points out. "The different mixtures vary in their becomingness to different people, so that the answer to "Can I Wear Red?" would depend upon whether the person chooses a true red, a yellow-red or a blue-red. In addition to these colors and mixtures, there are the neutrals of black, white and gray.

"The lightness or darkness, or value, of a color is also important in choosing becoming hues. Dark values are more becoming to some people than are medium or light tones — or just the opposite. The darker values also seem to reduce size, while white and light values make people look larger.

"Brightness or intensity of color is another factor to consider. Very intense or bright colors are hard for most people to wear, while soft, greyed ones are more generally becoming. Colors containing red and yellow give a warm impression, while those containing blue seem cooler. Light colors are cooler in effect than dark shades of the same color, and warm colors give an impression of larger size than do the cool colors."

Canada gets about half the coal she uses from the United States.

Keep This Section On Hand As A Guide To Good Eating When Your Family Dines Out

"RELAX—enjoy dinner out tonight with your family" is the invitation issued by Monroe-West Monroe restaurants in October as they join with the National Restaurant Association in celebrating Restaurant Hospitality Month.

Every eating place in town will be putting its best foot forward to give better food, better value and more sincere hospitality.

Restaurants, coffee shops, fountain lunches, hotel dining rooms, night clubs, drive-ins, cafeterias, variety and drug stores will participate.

Patrons will find, in addition to the new emphasis on good food and hospitality, that today's restaurant has spacious and spotless kitchens with labor saving devices for food preparation, upkeep and cleaning that make it possible for diners in all income groups to enjoy the highest standards of efficiency and cleanliness the world has ever known.

During this "eating out" month housewives will meet for shopping-trip lunches, office workers will stop in at coffee shops and lunch counters, businessmen will "clinch deals" over the lunch table and professional men will join their daily roundtables at favorite dining rooms.

The slogan you will hear constantly during this month is "A Restaurant Meal--AWonderful Change." Many of the foods which take laborious hours in the kitchen will make their appearance on restaurant tables--to bring patrons that "wonderful change" which makes for more relaxed, more pleasant living.

When the family eats out, a definite contribution to family welfare is made. It is convenient, for it frees mother from the chore of preparing a meal; it is fun, for it encourages a more congenial feeling with the "small fry" and in many, many instances is of great interest to dad from the standpoint of the family budget.

Eating out can be a gala event, whether it be in the simplest type of eating establishment or the most elaborate. The essence of enjoyment is the degree of hospitality which each eating establishment offers.

Today, America has become known throughout the world for its varied eating places, offering the foods of every land and people, just as it has always offered a haven for the peoples of these lands. The choice European and Oriental dishes are yours for the asking—and, even more, the dishes which have established America as the best-fed nation in the world.

And remember this: Family type eating houses predominate the Monroe-West Monroe restaurant picture, with enough specialty houses to satisfy those who desire that particular Italian dish or that delightful seafood specialty.

It may be safely stated that the full meaning of the word "hospitality" will be the watchword, as it has been in the past, but especially so during this Hospitality Month of October.

Dining out tonight?

Patrons usually have a pretty good idea of what a restaurant is like before they go in, according to a survey by the Opinion Research Corporation.

Previous experience and recommendation of friends takes diners-out to restaurants that have proved their popularity that comes only from good service, cleanliness and good food.

That "a satisfied customer is the best advertisement" has long been recognized by successful restaurateurs.

Pleasant atmosphere is ranked high, restaurant owners have learned. Eating places that are relaxing, quiet, attractive and comfortable stand a good chance of attracting diners.

Good service, another important item, includes friendly, efficient and prompt treatment. Cleanliness of place, appointments and personnel also rank at the top.

Location has become an important factor, particularly for busy city dwellers with brief noon hours.

Canned cling peach slices may be used on so many occasions they have practically become a staple household item, and one that fits into modest budgets too. This time of year we like to combine the peach slices with unpeeled cubed apple, crisp halved Tokay grapes. Arrange the fruit on lettuce-garnished salad plates. Thin mayonnaise with some of the peach syrup and a bit of sour cream, and you have one of the very best fruit salads.

Fine Atmosphere Enhances Dining Out

With both dining room and drive in service, The Hollywood boasts many special types of food. In the heart of the residential district at 903 North Fourth.

The Virginia Hotel Coffee Shop, recently remodeled has both counter and dining room service, in old Southern style. In Virginia Hotel, 112 St. John.

As Monroe's oldest cafeteria, Hemp's, in the heart of downtown Monroe, is still serving the finest foods at the most modest prices. At 121 DeSiard.

Known far and wide, the Hotel Frances Coffee Shop is in the heart of downtown Monroe, serves lunches and dinners of all kinds. In Hotel Frances, 300 Harrison.

History Of Restaurants

Restaurants were first introduced, as such, in 1765 in Paris, when a man named Boulanger opened an establishment exclusively for the serving of refreshments and meals.

He was followed by imitators, mostly chefs and stewards who had left their employers, who opened similar places.

Some authorities claim the "medieval" history of the restaurant industry began during the revolution (French) when aristocrats in hiding were fed secretly by their servants. These rendezvous became known to other aristocrats who were willing to pay a small charge for well-cooked meals. After government was established their reputation continued as they became known as public restaurants.

Predecessors to Boulanger's Parisian place were Englands coffee houses and taverns with their serving of daily "ordinaries," midday dinners family style. Reference to the ordinary goes back as far as 1577.

Earliest eating place on record in the United States is the Blue Anchor tavern in Philadelphia, which served food in 1683.

Throughout this country's early colonial days, wayside taverns and inns—much like those in England—were the only eating places. Many, such as Raleigh Tavern in Williamsburg, Wayside Inn in South Sudbury and others in New England, still exist.

The first real restaurant in this country appears to have been Delmonico's which opened in New York in 1827. Many others quickly followed as the population centers along the eastern seaboard spread, creating a demand for food service beyond the scope of homes and taverns.

Movies, Dining Out Still America's Most Popular Entertainment Delights

No matter how you look at it, Movies and Dining Out are still America's greatest entertainment values. Many forms of "home entertainment" are being offered the public, but there is something about "going out for the evening" which has always captured the fancy of Americans. And "going out" nine times out of ten means dining at a favorite restaurant and taking in a movie at a favorite theater.

SIDELIGHT

Did you know that the first "businessmen's lunch" was created by Segius Locates, a Roman innkeeper in 40 B. C. who devised the feature for ship brokers too busy to go home?

Movie-makers, recognizing this family desire, last year adopted the campaign, "Movies Are Better Than Ever," and have since placed into production movies to bear out that slogan. With more maturity and insight, today's Hollywood products are the most solid entertainment values in America. And theater-owners are conscious of the increasing demand for first-rate theaters. In Monroe, for example, the Tem was recently remodeled, and the Paramount is now undergoing extensive up-to-date remodeling in an effort to bring every comfort and luxury to theater-goers.

As for restaurants, public feeding is big—and still growing. More than 13 billion dollars was spent in the country's food service operation in 1950.—more than was spent on all automobiles, and more than the petroleum, gas, electricity, water, fuel and ice industries combined. Twenty-five per cent of all food consumed in this country is eaten in public feeding establishments. Just twenty years ago only 10 per cent was consumed away from home.

An estimated 500,000 public feeding establishments grace this nation, 200,000 of which serve more than 6000 meals a month. In aggregate, this industry serves nearly 100 million meals every day. The third largest retail industry in the United States, public feeding employs one of every six workers in retail trade, a total of more than two million.

At the present time, 70 million meals are served every day in the public eating places of this country. In metropolitan areas, millions of persons depend every day upon restaurant service for their meals.

The restaurant industry has been responsible for the establishment of many educational courses at high school, grade school and university levels for people who want to enter the restaurant industry. Schools of cookery for waiter and waitress training are becoming increasingly popular as more and more young people find the restaurant field a good paying and interesting vocation to follow. These people, well trained to begin with and with actual experience, are the restaurant operators of tomorrow.

Modern restaurant kitchens are spacious and spotless, with time and labor saving devices for food preparation and cleaning that Mother never dreamed of.

Science and mechanization have made it possible for today's restaurants to meet the highest standards of efficiency and cleanliness the world has ever known. The average investment in a modern restaurant is approximately $500 per seat.

"Why don't you call up sometime and say you're not coming home for dinner, the way other men do?"

Or, better still, dinner in town with the wife could be the key to the doghouse. It used to be a rare treat when father said to the family., "Let's eat out tonight." Today, it's still a treat, but no longer rare, for "eating out has become part of our pattern of living. Housewives meet for "shopping lunches;" businessmen find prospects easier to handle over a good meal; and many families enjoy eating out just for the fun of it.

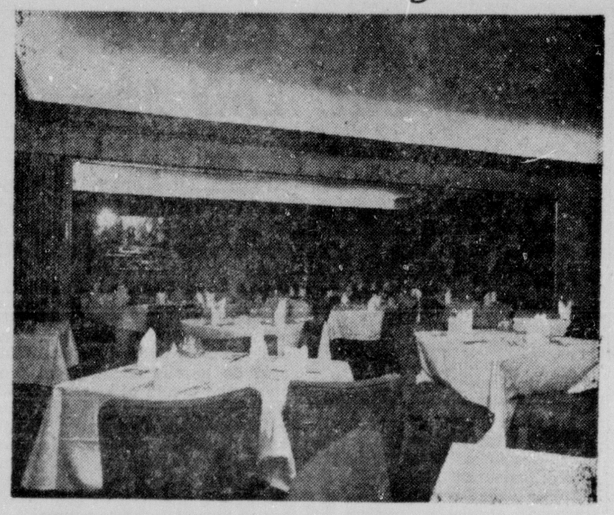
Location has become an important factor, particularly for busy city dwellers with brief noon hours.

Canned cling peach slices may be used on so many occasions they have practically become a staple household item, and one that fits into modest budgets too. This time of year we like to combine the peach slices with unpeeled cubed apple, crisp halved Tokay grapes. Arrange the fruit on lettuce-garnished salad plates. Thin mayonnaise with some of the peach syrup and a bit of sour cream, and you have one of the very best fruit salads.

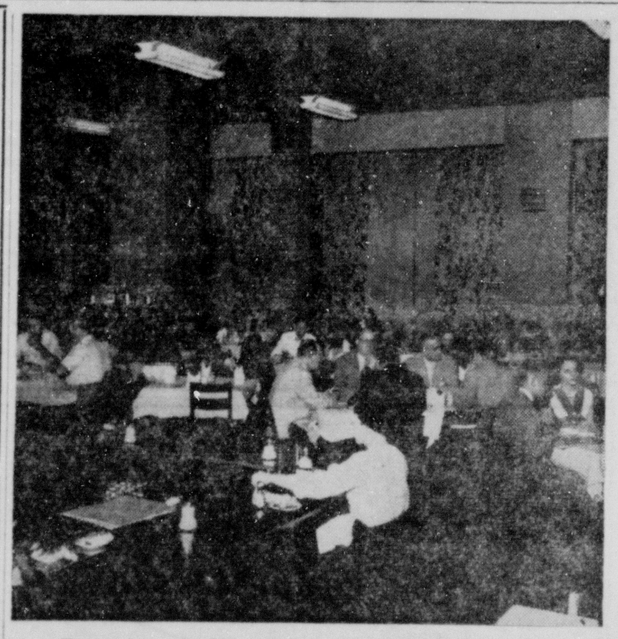
With its many fine dining rooms, The Rendezvous ranks 15th in the nation with America's traveling men. Above, the popular Gable Room. At 1400 Louisville Avenue.



With both dining room and drive in service, The Hollywood boasts many special types of food. In the heart of the residential district at 903 North Fourth.

The Virginia Hotel Coffee Shop, recently remodeled has both counter and dining room service, in old Southern style. In Virginia Hotel, 112 St. John.

As Monroe's oldest cafeteria, Hemp's, in the heart of downtown Monroe, is still serving the finest foods at the most modest prices. At 121 DeSiard.



Known far and wide, the Hotel Frances Coffee Shop is in the heart of downtown Monroe, serves lunches and dinners of all kinds. In Hotel Frances, 300 Harrison.

History Of Restaurants

Restaurants were first introduced, as such, in 1765 in Paris, when a man named Boulanger opened an establishment exclusively for the serving of refreshments and meals.

He was followed by imitators, mostly chefs and stewards who had left their employers, who opened similar places.

Following the revolution, restaurants grew rapidly when the aristocracy could no longer afford massive dining habits.

Some authorities claim the "medieval" history of the restaurant industry began during the revolution (French) when aristocrats in hiding were fed secretly by their servants. These rendezvous became known to other aristocrats who were willing to pay a small charge for well-cooked meals. After government was established their reputation continued as they became known as public restaurants.

Predecessors to Boulanger's Parisian place were Englands coffee houses and taverns with their serving of daily "ordinaries," midday dinners family style. Reference to the ordinary goes back as far as 1577.

Earliest eating place on record in the United States is the Blue Anchor tavern in Philadelphia, which served food in 1683.

Throughout this country's early colonial days, wayside taverns and inns—much like those in England—were the only eating places. Many, such as Raleigh Tavern in Williamsburg, Wayside Inn in South Sudbury and others in New England, still exist.

The first real restaurant in this country appears to have been Delmonico's which opened in New York in 1827. Many others quickly followed as the population centers along the eastern seaboard spread, creating a demand for food service beyond the scope of homes and taverns.

The word "restaurant" has its own origin in the Latin root word, "restaurare," meaning "to restore."

Movies, Dining Out Still America's Most Popular Entertainment Delights

No matter how you look at it, Movies and Dining Out are still America's greatest entertainment values. Many forms of "home entertainment" are being offered the public, but there is something about "going out for the evening" which has always captured the fancy of Americans. And "going out" nine times out of ten means dining at a favorite restaurant and taking in a movie at a favorite theater.

SIDELIGHT

Did you know that the first "businessmen's lunch" was created by Segius Locates, a Roman innkeeper in 40 B. C. who devised the feature for ship brokers too busy to go home?

Movie-makers, recognizing this family desire, last year adopted the campaign, "Movies Are Better Than Ever," and have since placed into production movies to bear out that slogan. With more maturity and insight, today's Hollywood products are the most solid entertainment values in America. And theater-owners are conscious of the increasing demand for first-rate theaters. In Monroe, for example, the Tem was recently remodeled, and the Paramount is now undergoing extensive up-to-date remodeling in an effort to bring every comfort and luxury to theater-goers.

As for restaurants, public feeding is big—and still growing. More than 13 billion dollars was spent in the country's food service operation in 1950.—more than was spent on all automobiles, and more than the petroleum, gas, electricity, water, fuel and ice industries combined. Twenty-five per cent of all food consumed in this country is eaten in public feeding establishments. Just twenty years ago only 10 per cent was consumed away from home.

An estimated 500,000 public feeding establishments grace this nation, 200,000 of which serve more than 6000 meals a month. In aggregate, this industry serves nearly 100 million meals every day. The third largest retail industry in the United States, public feeding employs one of every six workers in retail trade, a total of more than two million.

At the present time, 70 million meals are served every day in the public eating places of this country. In metropolitan areas, millions of persons depend every day upon restaurant service for their meals.

The restaurant industry has been responsible for the establishment of many educational courses at high school, grade school and university levels for people who want to enter the restaurant industry. Schools of cookery for waiter and waitress training are becoming increasingly popular as more and more young people find the restaurant field a good paying and interesting vocation to follow. These people, well trained to begin with and with actual experience, are the restaurant operators of tomorrow.

Modern restaurant kitchens are spacious and spotless, with time and labor saving devices for food preparation and cleaning that Mother never dreamed of.

Science and mechanization have made it possible for today's restaurants to meet the highest standards of efficiency and cleanliness the world has ever known. The average investment in a modern restaurant is approximately $500 per seat.

"Why don't you call up sometime and say you're not coming home for dinner, the way other men do?"

Or, better still, dinner in town with the wife could be the key to the doghouse. It used to be a rare treat when father said to the family., "Let's eat out tonight." Today, it's still a treat, but no longer rare, for "eating out has become part of our pattern of living. Housewives meet for "shopping lunches;" businessmen find prospects easier to handle over a good meal; and many families enjoy eating out just for the fun of it.

GOVERNOR, MAYOR DECLARE RESTAURANT HOSPITALITY MONTH FOR OCTOBER

Governor Robert F. Kennon hands James M. Covert, Executive Director of the Louisiana Restaurant Association, a Proclamation declaring October to be Restaurant Hospitality Month as Lloyd Beardon of the A & G Restaurants, New Orleans, President of the Association, looks on.

Kennon And Coon Urge 'Eating Out' This Month

The spirit of Restaurant Hospitality Month has been formally pronounced through the efforts of Governor Robert F. Kennon, who has proclaimed the Month for the State of Louisiana, and Mayor John Coon, who has declared its celebration for the City of Monroe.

Following is Governor Kennon's proclamation:

Whereas, the state of Louisiana has over 5,000 restaurants engaged in the demanding task of serving the public good food at a fair price, prepared under sanitary conditions; and

Whereas the spokesman for the state's restaurant industry, the Louisiana Restaurant Association, has labored diligently in raising the standards of quality, service and sanitation within the industry; and

Whereas, the restaurants of Louisiana enjoy national and international fame and are an asset to the business economy of the state; and

Whereas, the state's many fine restaurants attract a great number of tourists to Louisiana; and

Whereas, the public feeding industry is vital to those people who must depend on restaurants for their meals; and

Now Therefore, I, Robert F. Kennon, governor of the state of Louisiana, do hereby declare and proclaim the month of October, 1952, shall be known throughout the state as Restaurant Hospitality Month and I do hereby urge all citizens of Louisiana to celebrate Restaurant Hospitality Month by eating out during the month of October as often as possible at their favorite restaurants.

In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the Great Seal of the State of Louisiana at the capitol, in the city of Baton Rouge, on this the 30th day of September, 1952.

Signed: Robert F. Kennon,
Governor of Louisiana

With a similar proclamation, Mayor Coon has urged eating out in Monroe during Restaurant Hospitality Month.

Mayor John E. Coon signs a proclamation declaring Restaurant Hospitality Month in Monroe while Sam C. Brown, new partner of the Rendezvous, Ed Hemphill, vice-president of the Louisiana Restaurant Association, Tom Johnson, and Bobby Pappas, past president of Louisiana Restaurant Association, look on. Mayor Coon has urged Monroe families to make the most of eating out during this month. The restaurants throughout the Twin Cities are celebrating Restaurant Hospitality Month by promising the finest of food and hospitality. (Staff Photos in this section by Leon Noland, Jr.)

A HAPPY NOTE OR TWO

By J. Paul Hewitt

With the football season in full swing again, we would sort of like to make a lateral into the stands and talk about the school bands. No matter what happens to the football team, the band is sure to come out on the right end of the score.

Today's school and college bands are big enterprises, often surpassing in manpower and equipment the football teams they consort with. In fact, there are an estimated 39,000 high school bands. Thirty years ago a high school band was a rarity. And now there are even hundreds of elementary schools that can boast fine bands and orchestras, too, as part of a phenomenal expansion of musical training that begins in the kindergartens of modern schools.

This early development of musical skills makes competition for places in the college bands as keen as the fight for the quarterback position on the varsity grid squad. Besides having to be top-notch musically, the member of the football band must perform intricate marching maneuvers more complex than those of a crack drill squad while performing perfectly on his instrument and in exact time with the rest of the group—often after only one or two rehearsals. To accomplish this feat, the bandsman has to be a paragon of coordination combining hands, lips, eyes, legs and mind into one smooth movement.

More power to you and your instruments, fellows . . . we'll see you in the grandstand. Sometime, though, we'd like to [illegible] you in the right kind of [illegible] for the home, and that [illegible] a prize. Come in [illegible] our selection of top [illegible] including the [illegible] We also carry [illegible]

By J. Paul Hewitt

With the football season in full swing again, we would sort of like to make a lateral into the stands and talk about the school bands. No matter what happens to the football team, the band is sure to come out on the right end of the score.

Today's school and college bands are big enterprises, often surpassing in manpower and equipment the football teams they consort with. In fact, there are an estimated 39,000 high school bands. Thirty years ago a high school band was a rarity. And now there are even hundreds of elementary schools that can boast fine bands and orchestras, too, as part of a phenomenal expansion of musical training that begins in the kindergartens of modern schools.

This early development of musical skills makes competition for places in the college bands as keen as the fight for the quarterback position on the varsity grid squad. Besides having to be top-notch musically, the member of the football band must perform intricate marching maneuvers more complex than those of a crack drill squad while performing perfectly on his instrument and in exact time with the rest of the gorup—often after only one or two rehearsals. To accomplish this feat, the bandsman has to be a paragon of coordination combining hands, lips, eyes, legs and mind into one smooth movement.

More power to you and your instruments, fellows . . . we'll see you in the grandstand. Meantime, though, we'd like to interest you in the right kind of music for the home, and that is, of course, a piano. Come in and see our selection of top brand names including the STEINWAY noted for its beautiful tonal quality. We also carry the KIMBALL piano. HEWITT, INC., 216 Grammont. Phone: 2-1491.

A woman who was showing a beautiful, massive piece of the family silver, apologized as she took it from the cupboard where it was kept. "Dreadfully tarnished." she said. "I can't keep it bright unless I use it." That is just as true of faith as it is of silver. Tucked away in the Sunday closet of the soul, and brought out only for show, it needs apology. It is bound to be tarnished. You can't keep faith bright unless you use it.

'WILDERNESS' TO SHOW HERE

Based on a story by the late Vereen Bell, a native Georgian who gave his life as a Naval officer in the Philippines in 1944, "Lure of the Wilderness" narrates the tale of a young girl forced to live with her fugitive father in the treacherous swamp for eight years and is suddenly faced with the bewilderment of returning to civilization. Almost completely primitive, she is more at ease roaming the alligator-infested swamp with a bow and arrow than facing the outside world. How her father and a young Georgian who falls in love with her bring her back to civilization provides the drama and suspense fo the story.

For the second time in less than "I'd Climb the Highest Mountain," Twentieth Century-Fox dispatched camera crews and actors to Georgia for actual on-the-spot location filming. Setting up their headquarters at Waycross, the unit entered the Okefenokee Swamp Park, one of the South's most beautiful scenic wonders.

Given its name by the Seminole Indians centuries ago, the term "Okefenokee" can be translated as "The Land of the Trembling Earth," deriving from the fact that this vast area of apparent solid depth is actually a semi-floating island.

The Swamp, with its spectacular grandeur and abundant supply of wildlife, gave the film an authenticity which movie technicians said could never be duplicated on a Hollywood sound stage.

"Lure of the Wilderness" marks Producer Robert L. Jacks' initial achievement. Directed by Jean Negulesco with Robert D. Webb serving as associate producer, the production was written for the screen by Louis Lantz and features Tom Tully, Harry Shannon, Will Wright, Jack Elam and Harry Carter.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Disc Jockey Marc Williams of Radio Station WTTS has upped Bloomington blood donations by his own contribution. He took along a microphone and broadcast the whole process step - by-step, including doctors' and nurses' comments.

LURE OF THE WILDERNESS

'WILDERNESS' TO SHOW HERE

Based on a story by the late Vereen Bell, a native Georgian who gave his life as a Naval officer in the Philippines in 1944, "Lure of the Wilderness" narrates the tale of a young girl forced to live with her fugitive father in the treacherous swamp for eight years and is suddenly faced with the bewilderment of returning to civilization. Almost completely primitive, she is more at ease roaming the alligator-infested swamp with a bow and arrow than facing the outside world. How her father and a young Georgian who falls in love with her bring her back to civilization provides the drama and suspense fo the story.

For the second time in less than "I'd Climb the Highest Mountain," Twentieth Century-Fox dispatched camera crews and actors to Georgia for actual on-the-spot location filming. Setting up their headquarters at Waycross, the unit entered the Okefenokee Swamp Park, one of the South's most beautiful scenic wonders.

Given its name by the Seminole Indians centuries ago, the term "Okefenokee" can be translated as "The Land of the Trembling Earth," deriving from the fact that this vast area of apparent solid depth is actually a semi-floating island.

The Swamp, with its spectacular grandeur and abundant supply of wildlife, gave the film an authenticity which movie technicians said could never be duplicated on a Hollywood sound stage.

"Lure of the Wilderness" marks Producer Robert L. Jacks' initial achievement. Directed by Jean Negulesco with Robert D. Webb serving as associate producer, the production was written for the screen by Louis Lantz and features Tom Tully, Harry Shannon, Will Wright, Jack Elam and Harry Carter.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Disc Jockey Marc Williams of Radio Station WTTS has upped Bloomington blood donations by his own contribution. He took along a microphone and broadcast the whole process step - by-step, including doctors' and nurses' comments.

LURE OF THE WILDERNESS

Jeffrey Hunter and Jean Peters are co-starred in "Lure of the Wilderness" the story of a land in modern America defying penetration of time and man—Georgia's danger - infested Okefenokee swamplands: "Lure of the Wilderness" opens a week's run at the Paramount today.

SEOU, Korea (AP)—Allied soldiers fighting in Korea contributed almost $8,000 in a single 24-hour period recently to help Korean children who have lost arms or legs during the war. More than $40,000 was raised this month.

The fund-raising drive, called "Operation Share," is conducted by the U. S. Armed Forces radio. It plays record requests in exchange for pledges of money for "Share." Some individual contributions range as high as $100.

JUDGE TAKES ADVICE

RANGOON, Burma (AP)—An old man with no previous convictions appeared in court on a charge of riding a bicycle against traffic regulations.

Asked if he had anything to say, he said, "I do not quite know what to say, Sir, what would you say if you were in my place?" he asked a lawyer nearby.

The magistrate smiled. "Tell me," he addressed the old man, "what would you say if you were in my place?"

The physically handicapped are citizens of your community. They must find jobs with your employers.

Bear in mind the employment of the physically handicapped is your program. NEPH Week is your week . . . in which you will have the help of your State organizations and of the United States Employment Service in getting your job done.

Mr. Employer: HAVE YOU STOPPED TO CONSIDER

Very few jobs in any office, workshop, or factory requires physical perfection.

Millions of disabled workers now employed in industry, business, and government have proved their competence in every field of endeavor.

Do you know what jobs actually require in physical abilities?

Have you abandoned the unrealistic out-of-date single-minimum physical standards for all jobs?

Does your policy provide for hiring handicapped workers for jobs that they can do efficiently and safely?

Have you made this policy known to those doing the hiring?

REMEMBER, ABILITY—NOT DISABILITY—COUNTS!

The Louisiana State Employment Service, phone 2-4481, can assist you in developing your personnel plans to provide for a realistic up-to-date policy relating to physical standards for jobs.

Crying Won't Help Improve Your Game

Written for NEA Service

If you sometimes lose a game contract that you should have made, don't weep too many bitter tears about it. The greatest experts in the world sometimes do the same thing, if that's any consolation. Today's hand, for example, was misplayed at both tables in the finals of the national team championships a few weeks ago.

In both rooms South played the hand at four hearts against the opening lead of a low spade. Both declarers won the first trick with the ace of spades and promptly drew three rounds of trumps. The third round of trumps was a mistake, but not necessarily fatal.

In both rooms South then continued by finessing a diamond to East's queen. In one room East boldly returned a low spade, and South made the fatal error of ruffing. When he led another diamond, West put up the ace and led another spade to force out declarer's last trump.

Unfortunately, the diamonds were now blocked. South could lead to dummy's king of diamonds, and could get back to his hand with the ace of clubs to lead another diamond to West's jack, but then South could never get in again to cash the last diamond. Down one.

This declarer should have discarded (instead of ruffing) when East led a low spade. Since East had led away from the king of spades, the rest would have been easy. But even if West had turned up with the king of spades, the contract would have depended only on a successful guess in diamonds later on. In short, South would have had two chances for his contract.

In the other room, East was not bold enough to return a spade when he got in with the queen of diamonds. he returned a club, which declarer should have won in the dummy. Instead, South made the mistake of winning in his own hand with the ace. He led a diamond, and West put up the ace.

Opportunity was knocking once more at the door, for South could still make his contract by dropping dummy's king of diamonds on this trick. But declarer had a blind spot and played dummy's low diamond. Now a spade return obliged declarer to ruff, and South found that the blocked diamonds were a fatal handicap. Down one also.

The curious thing is that the contract cannot be missed if South only draws two rounds of trumps at the beginning of the hand. He then leads a diamond to dummy's king, not caring who has the ace. The defenders can take two or three diamond tricks, depending on their luck, but no more.

Card Sense

Q—With neither side vulnerable, the bidding has been:

North	East	South	West
1 Diamond	1 Heart	?

You, South, hold: Spades A-J-6, Hearts K-Q-5, Diamonds Q-J-9-3, Clubs K-J-4. What do you do?

A—Bid three no-trump. This is exactly what you would have bid if East had passed, and your two stoppers in hearts enable you to go right ahead with the bid.

TODAY'S QUESTION

The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spades A-Q-J-8-5, Heart 4, Diamonds K-Q-9-3, Clubs A-J-6. What do you do?

PORCUPINES EAT CEMENT

WEST GLACIER, Mont. (AP) — Workmen here hope that porcupines, who have been eating cement here, run into some concrete stomach trouble.

A forman of a crew erectitng a shelter cabin in Glacier National Park said the animals have a taste for cement bags as well as almost anything else in sight. One of the workers left a suitcase outside his lodging for a night. The next morning he found that porcupines had eaten all the leather and the bottom out of the bag.

Crying Won't Help Improve Your Game

Written for NEA Service

If you sometimes lose a game contract that you should have made, don't weep too many bitter tears about it. The greatest experts in the world sometimes do the same thing, if that's any consolation. Today's hand, for example, was misplayed at both tables in the finals of the national team championships a few weeks ago.

In both rooms South played the hand at four hearts against the opening lead of a low spade. Both declarers won the first trick with the ace of spades and promptly drew three rounds of trumps. The third round of trumps was a mistake, but not necessarily fatal.

	NORTH
	♠ A Q 8 ♥ 10 7 2 ♦ K 8 3 ♣ K 7 6 3
WEST		EAST
♠ 10 9 7 6 4 ♥ J 6 ♦ A J 6 5 ♣ J 8		♠ K 5 3 2 ♥ 9 8 3 ♦ Q ♣ Q 10 5 4 2
	SOUTH (D) ♠ J ♥ A K Q 5 4 ♦ 10 9 7 4 2 ♣ A 9

South	West	North	East
1 ♥	Pass	2 ♣	Pass
2 ♦	Pass	2 ♥	Pass
3 ♥	Pass	3 N.T.	Pass
4 ♥	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead—♠ 6

In both rooms South then continued by finessing a diamond to East's queen. In one room East boldly returned a low spade, and South made the fatal error of ruffing. When he led another diamond, West put up the ace and led another spade to force out declarer's last trump.

Unfortunately, the diamonds were now blocked. South could lead to dummy's king of diamonds, and could get back to his hand with the ace of clubs to lead another diamond to West's jack, but then South could never get in again to cash the last diamond. Down one.

This declarer should have discarded (instead of ruffing) when East led a low spade. Since East had led away from the king of spades, the rest would have been easy. But even if West had turned up with the king of spades, the contract would have depended only on a successful guess in diamonds later on. In short, South would have had two chances for his contract.

In the other room, East was not bold enough to return a spade when he got in with the queen of diamonds. he returned a club, which declarer should have won in the dummy. Instead, South made the mistake of winning in his own hand with the ace. He led a diamond, and West put up the ace.

Opportunity was knocking once more at the door, for South could still make his contract by dropping dummy's king of diamonds on this trick. But declarer had a blind spot and played dummy's low diamond. Now a spade return obliged declarer to ruff, and South found that the blocked diamonds were a fatal handicap. Down one also.

The curious thing is that the contract cannot be missed if South only draws two rounds of trumps at the beginning of the hand. He then leads a diamond to dummy's king, not caring who has the ace. The defenders can take two or three diamond tricks, depending on their luck, but no more.

Card Sense

North	East	South	West
1 Diamond	1 Heart	?

You, South, hold: Spades A-J-6, Hearts K-Q-5, Diamonds Q-J-9-3, Clubs K-J-4. What do you do?

A—Bid three no-trump. This is exactly what you would have bid if East had passed, and your two stoppers in hearts enable you to go right ahead with the bid.

TODAY'S QUESTION

The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spades A-Q-J-8-5, Heart 4, Diamonds K-Q-9-3, Clubs A-J-6. What do you do?

THE ARABS RODE TO A DISTANT NATIVE VILLAGE WHERE ABU MADE A DEAL--"YOU HAVE BEEN WELL PAID, OGAR. SEE THAT THE WHITE MEN ARE KEPT OCCUPIED!"

"AND NOW, MY PRETTY, WE GO TO THE NORTH--WHERE THE SLAVE MARKET CLAMORS FOR MILK-WHITE SKIN AND BLONDE HAIR!"

...LATER, IN EARLY MORNING, THE MEN WERE AWAKENED BY SEVERAL BLABBERING PORTERS. "BWANA, BWANA! THE GIRL IS GONE!"

BUT SUDDENLY SAVAGE CRIES DIVERTED THEIR ATTENTION-- ALL FACES TURNED, OPEN-MOUTHED, AS OGAR AND HIS MEN CHARGED INTO THE CLEARING AND ENGAGED THE STARTLED CAMP IN A VICIOUS STRUGGLE! THUS DID OGAR KEEP THE WHITE MEN "OCCUPIED"!

I'LL TELL YOU ON OUR WAY TO NADUWA ...WHERE ARE YOUR HORSES? — THEY'RE IN THE CORRAL! GEE-ARE WE GOING TO LEAVE RIGHT AWAY—TONIGHT?

YES, TIM, AS SOON AS YOU TWO CAN SADDLE UP! NOW GET ALONG WITH YOU... — WAIT, TIM, SPUD...I-I WANT TO SAY GOOD-BYE, AND THANK YOU FOR THE HELP YOU GAVE ME IN FINDING THE LOST CITY....

WE ENJOYED IT, MR. LUNDY, ALTHOUGH WE'RE SORRY IT DIDN'T TURN OUT MORE SUCCESSFULLY! — I KIND OF GUESS IT'S MY FAULT THE WHOLE PLACE BLEW UP! — NONSENSE, SPUD...IT'S JUST AS WELL IT DID... GOODBYE...

GEE—CAPT. BAKER, NOW CAN YOU TELL US WHAT IT'S ALL ABOUT? — I HAVE A PATROL CAMPED A SHORT DISTANCE FROM HERE...IT WOULD BE SAFER TO TELL YOU THERE!

BEGINNING: NEXT WEEK, OF TOMBO THE MIGHTY

AS THE SUN'S TERRIFIC GRAVITY PULL DRAWS THE SPACE-SPHERE IRRESISTIBLY TOWARD THE MANY-MILLION-DEGREE SOLAR FURNACE, FLASH EMPLOYS FULL ROCKET POWER IN A FRANTIC EFFORT TO ESCAPE. HE REALIZES THAT THE OVERWORKED COOLING SYSTEM WILL SOON BE UNABLE TO PREVENT THE SHIP FROM MELTING IN THE SEARING HEAT.

"BRING ALL THE GUNS AND TOOLS AND INSTRUMENTS--TEAR DOWN THE INNER WALLS!" FLASH ORDERS TERSELY. "WE'VE GOT TO ATOMIZE MORE FUEL IN THE ROCKETS AND BLAST LOOSE FROM THE SUN BEFORE IT'S TOO LATE!"

IN THE DESPERATE EMERGENCY FLASH KNOWS HE HAS NO CHANCE OF STEERING FOR EARTH. HE'S HAPPY ENOUGH WHEN HE CAN REPORT: "WE'VE BLASTED FREE! OUR ROCKETS ARE DYING, BUT WE'RE ON A COURSE THAT WILL TAKE US INTO THE ORBIT OF VENUS. WE'LL HAVE A CHANCE THERE--I HOPE!"

HELPLESS CASTAWAYS DRIFTING IN A POWERLESS SPACE-HULK, THEY SPIN IN EVER-NARROWING CIRCLES AROUND THE CLOUD-WRAPPED VENUS, FALLING THROUGH FOG SO THICK IT'S ALMOST LIQUID. "WE'RE SLOWING DOWN A LITTLE," FLASH SAYS HOPEFULLY, "BUT STRAP DOWN FOR THE WORST CRASH OF OUR LIVES." ZARKOV ADDS WRYLY: "OR THE LAST!"

AT THEIR SPEED, WATER WOULD BE AS HARD AS A ROCK. BUT LUCK IS WITH THEM-- THE SHIP CRASHES INTO A RESILIENT SEA OF LIQUID SILICON, BOUNCING LIKE A GIANT'S RUBBER BALL WITH A SPLASH THAT SPREADS FOR MILES IN THIS STRANGE, HOSTILE WORLD OF FOG. NEXT WEEK - MYSTERY SEA
